SEC IN REVIEW: TRADE FINDS IT GOOD; ALSO BAD

Worst Fault Is Too Much Policing.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 12.—[Special.]—The Securities and Exchange commission—the big policeman created five years ago to watch over the market place—has grown into the kind of tough cop who isn't satisfied with just bringing his prisoner into the station house, but delights in clubbing him on the head with his nightstick.

Yet with all the clubbing and punishment, leaders in the financial community are hopeful that some day the SEC will be administered fairly—that it will be a help to business rather than a hindrance.

"Cop" Is Blocking Trafic.

They feel at present, however, that the SEC cop, in his pursuit of the crooks, is hurting honest men along the way—and thus stymies recovery.

What are the good and bad aspects of the SEC?

This question has been asked of stock brokers, investment bankers, SEC officials, and others wrapped up in the problem both in Washington and New York. Among those who have been interviewed are the commission's chairman, William O. Douglas, who soon may be elevated to the Supreme court, and William McChesney Martin Jr., the bright young president of the New York Stock exchange.

Weighed—Pro and Con.

In the grist of answers, several important points stand out. They are:

1. The Securities and Exchange commission is here to stay. The financial world has accepted the system as permanent and is in sympathy with its avowed purposes. The SEC is regarded as a logical development in the business history of this country. There is little sentiment for its repeal, regardless of whether the Republican party recaptures the White House in 1940.

2. In general the SEC has accomplished a great deal of good in putting stock swindlers and bucket shop promoters behind bars. The floating of fraudulent securities has been curtailed. Market riggers, manipulators and pool operators have been driven to cover. Through the "full disclosure" provision of the law the public has been given information upon which to base investment judgment.

3. On the other hand the SEC, through its multitudinous rules and regulations, is retarding the flow of new capital into industry. From an average of 5 billion dollars of new capital raised annually from 1924 to 1929, the amount dwindled to only 500 million during the period from 1932 to 1937. There were other factors besides the SEC, of course, such as the loss of confidence in the Roosevelt panaceas, and the President's intermittent war with business.

4. Because of the expense of registering statements and prospectuses, the little business man finds it too costly to borrow money from the public through the medium of a stock or bond issue. Lawyers' fees, printing costs, accountants' schedules, and other items required in sending an issue through the SEC mill loom up big to the small corporation.

5. The market is shifting from one of auction to one of negotiation. Transactions are being carried out in such a way as to escape the bottlenecks in the SEC. Issues are being placed privately with insurance companies, for example. Some capital has flown to easier markets in London and Paris. Organized exchanges, under the scrutiny of the SEC, are losing business to the unregulated "over the counter" market.

Organize Fight for Changes.

Alarmed at these conditions, forty representatives from organized stock exchanges of the country will meet here tomorrow to draw up a list of grievances and map a program for modification of the SEC statutes.

This program will be submitted to Chairman Douglas. Whether President Roosevelt can be persuaded to accept a part or all of the suggestions remains to be seen. Douglas is waiting to see what emerges from the

G. O. P. TO FORCE SHOWDOWN ON ECONOMY QUIZ

Caucus Will Gauge House Strength.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

The battle over the Republican legislative investigation of Democratic state spending was intensified yesterday as G. O. P. leaders prepared for a showdown tomorrow in Springfield. The life of the house investigating committee, which already has a mass of evidence awaiting its inquiry, is at stake.

Robert J. Branson.

Robert J. Branson, Republican floor leader in the house, said he will call a party caucus immediately after the house convenes tomorrow. He will find out then how many Republican members will vote with Democrats on a motion to kill the G. O. P. house economy committee.

Branson, a Centralia lawyer, said he is in complete agreement with Edward F. Moore, chairman of the Cook county central committee, regarding Moore's charges of party disloyalty against eight Chicago Republicans who voted with the Democrats last week. This vote was on a roll call to create a Democratic sponsored investigating committee with joint membership from the house and the senate.

Branson Cites G. O. P. Pledge.

"No party in power was ever known to conduct an honest investigation of its handling of public funds," Branson said. "The Republican party is fighting to carry out its pledge to the people by cutting out waste and reducing the state budget by at least 10 per cent.

"If the slight G. O. P. majority in the house is a majority in name only because of bipartisan alliances of a few members the public should know where the blame belongs."

At Chairman Moore's call the G. O. P. city committee met Saturday and approved a statement condemning alignment of any Republican legislators with Democratic members on nonconstructive legislation.

An effort was made yesterday to learn how the eight suspected Republicans will vote on the motion to stop the G. O. P. investigation.

Two Will Support Party.

Two of them said they will stand with their party. They are Representatives Michael A. Ruddy of the 4th district, who is ward committeeman in the 15th ward, and William S. Finucane of the 9th district, who is 11th ward committeeman.

"I got out of a sickbed to go to Springfield and vote for the G. O. P. investigating committee when it was originally created," said Ruddy. "I certainly will not vote to wreck something I voted to create."

"I never had any intention of helping to scuttle the G. O. P. investigation," Finucane said. "I'm loyal to the Republican party."

Broche to Oppose Quiz.

One representative, Arthur T. Broche of the 1st district, said he would vote against his party's investigation.

"I didn't vote for it in the first place and I'll be consistent," Broche said.

Four said they hadn't decided how to vote on what their leaders assert is the most important matter before the legislature.

"I'm keeping an open mind," said William J. Warfield of the 5th district, who is colonel of the 8th [colored] regiment of the National Guard. "I've made no deals whatever, regardless of what Moore says."

Adduci Is Undecided.

"If my party leaders can snow me, I might go along with them," said James Adduci of the 2d district. "I never was for any investigation."

John A. Pelka of the 15th district and Peter C. Granata of the 17th also said they were uncertain. The remaining member of the bloc of eight could not be reached. He is Stanley E. Martynowski of the 27th district.

Republicans have 79 members in the house to the Democrats' 74. Switching of the eight Chicago votes last week and the silence of some other Republican members gave the Democrats a 79 to 60 victory.

THE DYNAMITE FISHERMAN

A Suitor Finds His Psychology Book Is Wrong

Charles Brodman was so busy hitting home runs and making tackles while at Austin High school that he didn't have time to study girls. He was happy when he got a scholarship at the University of Chicago. He began to study psychology. He read particularly all the books he could find on feminine psychology.

In two years Charley, according to his reckoning, had mastered most of the details. It was time to lay aside the books. By happy chance, seven months ago, he met Miss Sylvia Izaks, 17 years old, who lives at 5012 North Sawyer avenue.

Takes Cue from Textbooks.

Before their first date, he hastily reviewed his textbook. Flattery. That was it. And so he boldly said:

"I always have liked sparkling eyes. And your hair, it's swell." Not exactly the words he was looking for, perhaps, but she smiled and they had more dates.

Charley also recalled that the books said that kindness, consideration, and little attentions were relished by girls. Practice proved that the books were right.

A week ago Sylvia learned Charles quit school last fall. He wasn't going to win his "C" in athletics after all.

"You lied to me!" she snapped. "You've been pretending that you were still in the university. We're through." He pleaded. He paraded up and down the sidewalk near her home. He telephoned her. Finally she told him he could come to see her yesterday. He was jubilant. He read chapter XIV of his favorite book before going over.

Overwhelmer Overwhelmed.

Bursting into the front room, Charles seized Sylvia in his arms. She broke away. He looked at his notes.

"It says overwhelm her," he muttered doggedly, and tried again. Sylvia slapped him. Her father, Louis, took one look at the muscular Brodman and called Albany Park police.

They jailed Charles for disorderly conduct. He said he lived at 4739 Bernard street.

Charles will be arraigned in Boys' court this morning.

"I can't understand it," he told Sergts. John J. Walsh and William Cox. "The books never failed me before. They say man is the dominant sex. Man must be confident and aggressive. Well, I was confident and aggressive. And what did I get? Slapped! Two years of study wasted and my girl gone, too."

Sergt. Cox was sympathetic. Maybe, he mused, Sylvia hadn't read the same books.

INCOME TAX 2 CENTS; IOWAN MAKES FULL PAYMENT IN CASH

Des Moines, Ia., March 12.—(AP)—Two pennies, in full payment of one 1938 federal income tax, arrived yesterday with a tax return at the bureau of internal revenue here.

The taxpayer was a salaried single man. After deducting the $1,000 for his single state, and other credits, he reported a taxable income of 53 cents. Four per cent of that was 2 cents.

Collectors said that one reason for making such small returns, when further exemptions might be found, is to be listed as one who had to pay an income tax.

REPORT OF OHIO U. OFFER PARTLY TRUE: COMPTON

Columbus, O., March 12.—(AP)—The Ohio State Journal said tonight that members of the Ohio State university board of trustees today asked Dr. Arthur H. Compton, University of Chicago physicist and Nobel prize winner, to accept the presidency of Ohio State. The trustees and Dr. Compton were said to have discussed the matter at an unannounced meeting at Marion, O. Dr. Compton was born in Ohio 46 years ago.

Reached in Wooster and asked about the reported offer Dr. Compton said:

"I'm afraid I can't say much about it. It is in part true, in part false. Anything which is said must come, I believe, from the board of trustees of the university." Trustees referred all questions to Harry Caton of Coshocton, O., board chairman, who was not available for comment.

Members of the board are scheduled to meet in regular session in Columbus tomorrow to consider the appointment of a successor to Dr. George W. Rightmire, who retired as president of Ohio State last July.

$250,000 WPA Show to Grace New York Fair

New York, March 12.—[Special.]—The Works Progress administration is spending $250,000 from relief funds to build a national WPA exhibit at the World's Fair, it became known tonight.

Lieut. Col. Brehon B. Somervell, WPA administrator here, announced that the exhibit will be housed in a U-shaped building, now nearing completion on the Fair grounds, named Avenue of Patriots.

The display will be in the nature of a "living panorama," with project workers shown at their various types of work, Col. Somervell said.

Shovel Sitting Is "Out."

It is presumed there will be no demonstration of shovel sitting—a WPA characteristic familiar to the public mind. The theme of the WPA exhibit will be "work—the American way out of unemployment."

In the main building will be a 299 seat theater where the federal theater project will present plays free to fair patrons. There will be a band shell for dancing and concerts. The exhibit will be built by WPA labor.

Office Staf of 200.

In addition to the workers who will participate in the actual exhibits, an administrative staf of between 100 and 200 persons will be required, according to WPA spokesmen. The project was initiated on orders from Washington.

Federal relief officials were unable to estimate the total cost of administering the fair project, or to explain why the WPA could not obtain sufficient exhibit space in the buildings housing the exhibits of the federal and city governments. A balcony of the official New York City building already has been set aside for a depiction of the work of New York City projects.

Dog's Romp in Subway Over; Service Is Normal

Boston, Mass., March 12.—[Special.]—A mongrel collie which had interfered with train service for the last two days by frisking about was captured this morning after galloping four miles ahead of a train. While using the subway as a playground the dog had dodged death from speeding trains and escaped electrocution from the third rail. The animal was turned over to the animal rescue league.

Hitler Moves His Troops to Slovak Border

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 12.—German troops today were moving from Mecklenburg to garrisons on the outskirts of Berlin. They were on a trek to the south. Other troops were massed near the border of Slovakia.

Nazi officials explained the troop movement as follows: "When Reichsfuehrer Hitler visits Vienna Wednesday in honor of the anniversary of Austria's incorporation into Germany a big parade will be held."

Germany is dissatisfied with the new "compromise government" of Slovakia. The old government was deposed by the central Czecho-Slovak government at Prague in a move to quell the "Slovak rebellion."

Charge Disturbances Continue.

"Germany will not recognize the new Slovak government until it is approved by the Slovak parliament," Nazi official circles said.

They declared disturbances continued today in Bratislava, capital of Slovakia.

"The Czech military is persecuting the German minority in Slovakia," the Nazis complained.

Dr. Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Nazi governor of Austria who a year ago asked Reichsfuehrer Hitler to march into Austria, visited the Enterau bridgehead just opposite Bratislava and conferred with unidentified persons. It was on the bridge to Enterau that radical Hlinka guards [political troops] assembled yesterday and shouted across the border: "Give us arms!"

Takes Over Phone Lines.

The German government has taken over the telephone lines between Vienna and Bratislava.

Tonight a spokesman of the "Slovak rebels" in a speech broadcast over the Vienna radio station, said: "All Germans rejoice today [presumably because of the anniversary of the Austro-German union]. Here on Slovak soil we know only one desire, to be Slovak or German."

Clashes between Czechs and German inhabitants of Czecho-Slovakia were reported by the German press.

Many Germans Reported Hurt.

"Many Germans were injured in clashes in Bratislava," said the Voelkischer Beobachter. "Armbands of German vigilantes who are helping to maintain order, were torn off and windows in German shops were smashed."

German radio stations quoted a newspaper from Reichenberg, capital of Sudetenland. The paper said: "Radicals are planning an uprising in Prague within this week." These reports strengthened views held in some of Berlin's diplomatic circles that the Germans plan to occupy part of Czecho-Slovakia this month—a view that has been pronounced by Nazi circles.

BRUNN POLICE SEPARATE FOES; ARREST RIOTERS

Fight as Germans Honor War Dead.

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, March 12.—(AP)—Czechs and Germans clashed in Brunn this afternoon when Germans marched through the streets carrying swastika flags. Three persons were injured. Brunn is a munitions manufacturing center in the Czech part of Czecho-Slovakia. It is located near the border of former Austria.

The clash came in the midst of a tense situation over Slovak independence in which German support of the Slovak separatists is suspected.

One Czech was reported seriously injured and two slightly wounded.

Police Arrest 12.

Mounted police separated the antagonists, arresting seven Czechs and five Germans. Afterward the Germans marched to the police station demanding release of the Germans. The chief of police asked the local Nazi leader to calm his followers. All but three of those arrested were then released.

Later, Czech inhabitants withdrew to their homes. They left the streets to the Germans, who again paraded, singing the Nazi Horst Wessel song and waving swastika flags unmolested.

The German residents of Brunn were celebrating Germany's memorial day. Those participating in the clash were described in reports from Brunn as "youths" who wore the black uniforms of the German National Socialists [Nazis] of Czecho-Slovakia.

Before the clash occurred President Emil Hacha swore in three members of the new Slovak "conciliation cabinet" here as Czechs waited anxiously for Germany's reaction to his bold move in crushing a separatist plot.

Fugitive Defies Czechs.

Uncertainty over the Nazi government's stand was increased when the Vienna radio station allowed Ferdinand Durcansky, fugitive communications minister in the deposed cabinet of Dr. Joseph Tiso, to broadcast a defiant anti-Czech speech.

Durcansky was one of the leaders of the separatist party. He went to Berlin recently and returned to spread reports of German promises of financial aid if Slovakia became independent.

[In Bratislava, Slovak capital, a high authoritative source said a German promise of support for Slovakia, virtually contemplating Slovakian independence, preceded the Bratislava government crisis.]

Urges Slovaks to Fight.

Durcansky in his speech called on the Slovaks to reject the new cabinet formed last night in succession to Dr. Tiso's ousted ministry and "to prepare for the decisive hour which may come at any moment."

"Don't be afraid to fight and make sacrifices," he said.

Referring to the new ministry, which is headed by Karl Sidor, vice premier of the central government, he asserted: "Slovakia cannot be satisfied with halfway solutions."

Slovaks, he added, "must hold the power in their hands and not permit the Czechs to interfere in Slovakia's affairs."

Favors "Free Slovakia."

Three hours after Durcansky's speech, Premier Sidor spoke from Bratislava, asking the Slovaks not to believe "all the promises they hear."

He said his government favored a free Slovakia within the Czecho-Slovak republic.

The authority now was in the civil government's hands, he said, and the last military measures were due to be withdrawn and from 150 to 200 prisoners released within forty-eight hours.

Sidor announced that the Slovak parliament, which had been called to meet next Tuesday, would not be convened until March 28 in order to give the new government time to prepare a series of measures.

Stefan Klocurak, minister of communications and public works in Carpatho-Ukraine [Ruthenia], added his testimony to the united republic in a broadcast from Chust, Carpatho-Ukraine capital.

"While we feel ourselves to be part of the great Ukrainian nation," he said, "our political activity is confined to Carpatho-Ukraine as a part of Czecho-Slovakia. The Carpatho-Ukraine must not become a center of irredentism."

Sidor, the new premier of Slovakia, never has been very friendly to Germany. Like his tutor, the late Father Andreas Hlinka, he wanted close contact with Poland and went to Warsaw during the crisis last fall to see Col. Josef Beck, Polish foreign minister, on Slovakia's future.

The seven-man cabinet for autonomous Slovakia was formed last night after two days of tension precipitated when the central government in Prague turned out Dr. Tiso as premier and two of his ministers on suspicion of a separatist plot.

Sidor accepted the Slovak premiership in a broadcast this morning from Bratislava.

"I did not seek the high office to which I have been called," he said. "I have accepted it, however, because it is necessary in the interests of the Slovak people."

A separate army for Slovakia meanwhile was freely reported to have been conceded by the Czechs in return for the dropping of independence agitation by the Slovaks.

Wins Separate Army.

Unofficial reports said the force, which the new cabinet supposedly would create with Czech assistance, would be based on the old Austro-Hungarian monarchy's plan of an army for each country and an imperial guard composed of both nationalities.

Bohemia and Moravia, the Czech part of the Czecho-Slovak republic, thus would have one army and Slovakia another and a separate federal corps, or presidential guard, would be formed of troops of all groups within the republic.

[There are three units forming the Czecho-Slovak state, Bohemia and Moravia, Slovakia and Carpatho-Ukraine.]

Three Ministers Sworn In.

The three ministers sworn in today were Dr. Martin Sokol, minister of interior; Julius Stano, minister of communications, and Dr. Alexander Hrnciar, minister of finance.

The rest of the ministry was scheduled to come here from Bratislava tomorrow to take the oath of office.

Besides Premier Sidor, the other ministers are Josef Sivak, minister of education and public enlightenment; Peter Zacho, minister of industry and agriculture, and Senator Gesa Fritz, minister of justice.

The solution within forty-eight hours of the first big internal political crisis since last fall when Czecho-Slovakia lost territory to Germany, Hungary, and Poland was hailed in Prague with great satisfaction.

The end to the family squabble was hastened by the plainly visible threat of possible foreign intervention.

Two problems, however, remained. They were the reactions of Slovak extremists and of Germany.

ITALY DEVELOPING A COLONIAL ARMY IN NORTH AFRICA

ROME, March 12. — (AP) — Virginio Gayda, authoritative Fascist editor, declared today that Italy was raising a native army in North Africa to fight "a foreign enemy, no matter who it is who dares to advance."

The editor, usually regarded as Premier Mussolini's mouthpiece, made the first Fascist disclosure that Italy was arming natives in Italy's new African empire.

Writing in La Voce D'Italia, Gayda told of Italian accomplishments in North Africa which he listed as road construction, the building of new cities, agricultural development, mineral exploration, and the settling of Italian colonies.

"And finally," he added, "there is the formation of imposing and faithful native armed forces which will make their fearful weight felt against any foreign enemy, no matter who it is who dares to advance."

Flames Cause $2,000 Damage to Dress Shop

Fire did about $2,000 damage last night to the Stayson Shop, Inc., a woman's apparel store at 4736 Sheridan road. The shop is in the Kemper Insurance building. Smoke spread throughout the seven floors, but damage was confined to the store. Trafic was detoured from that area of Sheridan road for more than an hour.

Paderewski Will Resume Concert Tour Tonight

Cleveland, O., March 12.—(AP)—L. J. Fitzgerald, business manager for Ignace Paderewski, said the noted Polish pianist would leave Cleveland Monday night for Detroit to resume his concert tour, having recovered from an infection in his wrist which forced postponement of a recital here March 5.

Clash in Czech City

Nazis and Czechs clashed yesterday in Brunn as indicated by arrow, while German inhabitants of the Czech munitions city were celebrating Germany's Memorial day. The clash heightened the tense situation over Slovak independence in which German support of Slovak separatists was indicated. German troops began massing near the border of Slovakia.

HUNGARY HEARS NAZI CHIEF VISITS SLOVAK LEADERS

BUDAPEST, Hungary, March 12.—(AP)—Reports from Bratislava, capital of Slovakia, to the Hungarian Informacio agency today said that Wilhelm Keppler, German state secretary, conferred there during the night with several Slovak politicians and then returned to Germany.

Keppler, state secretary for special assignment in the German foreign office, was Adolf Hitler's emissary who conferred with President Wilhelm Miklas of Austria during the crisis which led to Germany's absorption of Austria a year ago tomorrow.

Informacio's reports also said that the Hlinka Guard in Bratislava had demanded immediate withdrawal of Czech troops from barracks they had occupied. The official Hungarian news agency from Bratislava said the administrative machinery in Slovakia was entirely in the hands of Slovaks.

LOVE NOVEL SO REAL MAID USES IT IN BLACKMAIL

New York, March 12.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Will, widely known in New York social circles, write detective thrillers under pseudonyms. They also write romantic fiction. Their romantic stuff is so clever it fooled their housemaid and their detective deductions are so clever they trapped her and two male companions in an extortion plot.

Benn Barber, attorney for the Wills, received a telephone call stating the maid had several "valuable letters" and asked $10,000 for their return.

The writing couple decided the only letters the maid might have must be parts of their fiction stories, filched from their Park avenue apartment—and they arranged with a detective to set a trap which bagged the trio. Bail was fixed at $1,500 each.

BEAUTY CLAIMS OF EDNA HOPPER DOUBTED BY U. S

Washington, D. C., March 12.—(AP)—With complete disregard for chivalry the Federal Trade commission questioned today the appeal of Edna Wallace Hopper's famed beauty.

It filed a complaint against Affiliated Products, Inc., of Jersey City, N. J., alleging that its advertising of two products sold under the Hopper name was "exaggerated and untrue." It quoted one ad:

"I am past 60, says Edna Wallace Hopper, yet boys scarcely above college age often try to flirt with me."

ROOSEVELT TRADE POLICY ASSAILED BY FRANCO PRESS

Charges He Aims to Force His Views on World.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BURGOS, Spain, March 12.—A bitter attack on President Roosevelt, which was printed here today, declared that his pretended defense of democratic liberties and refusal to cooperate with the totalitarian states really is inspired by the "vulgar spirit of the unscrupulous trader."

Reflecting Spanish bitterness at what is considered the unfriendly attitude of Americans and at American reluctance to recognize Generalissimo Franco's government, an editorial on the front page of Diario de Burgos, the leading newspaper, charged that Americans aim at world trade domination to give them political domination.

It said Americans now have "stumbled" over the European nations which are protecting themselves by a self-sufficiency policy coupled with barter instead of making gold payments in world trade.

A Refusal of Trade.

Since America is not willing to observe the barter system, European nations "refuse to trade with her," and "as gold in her vaults increases so does the number of hungry people in the country," the editorial said and added:

"What they want to do is sink those progressive countries which have made themselves independent of America's tutelage. For that reason Roosevelt appears as the paladin of democracy whom nobody attacks and creates for his ingenuous subjects the fantastic threats of an impossible air invasion to get the necessary credits to arm to the teeth with arms he calls defensive for a nation which . . . cannot fear the least aggression from Europe."

The purpose of the American policies at the Lima, Peru, Pan-American conference, the editorial said, was to persuade the South American neighbors to join in a mad arms race "so the United States could aid with convenient loans that would chain them to America forever."

"End by Giving Orders."

"The Yankees begin by selling and end by giving orders," the editorial said, and continued:

"They, who call themselves defenders of the liberties of peoples, take it upon themselves to make those peoples change the internal régime which they voluntarily adopted because that régime is prejudicial to the industrialists and business men established on the other side of the Atlantic.

"In the shadows operate a few bankers, arms makers and Jews . . . who, believing that if the new economic ideas spread, they will lose all their power and wealth, try by all means to plunge the world into a conflagration from which, they believe, they alone will escape."

The blast concluded with a plea for world peace. The significance of the editorial lies in the indication of rapidly growing bitterness over American opposition to the dictator states and their policies. It shows also consciousness of the intensified rivalry between the totalitarian states and America for South American trade.

POPE TO RECEIVE ENVOY KENNEDY AND 9 OF FAMILY

VATICAN CITY, March 12.—(AP)—The American ambassador to London, Joseph P. Kennedy, Mrs. Kennedy, and eight of their children will be received together by Pope Pius XII. tomorrow.

The pontiff also was expected to receive Ambassador Kennedy in a separate audience. Kennedy was the first official American representative to attend a papal coronation since 1846.

The ambassador and his wife today attended a reception given by Prince Piero Colonna, governor of Rome, to all foreign missions to the coronation. Tomorrow they will attend a Lenten tea tendered at Castel Gandolfo by Cardinal Maglione, new papal secretary of state.

OLD STYLE TIARA CHOSEN BY POPE FOR CORONATION

VATICAN CITY, March 12.—(AP)—The tiara with which Pope Pius XII. was crowned today was less streamlined in appearance than that of his predecessor, Pius XI. The new pope chose to be crowned with the tiara of Pope Pius IX. which was presented to that pontiff. The tiara of Pius XI., much more modern in design, was the gift of the people of Milan.

LANDSLIDE NOW HALF A MILE FROM ROAD; SPEED MUCH SLOWER

Gilroy, Cal., March 12.—(AP)—Thousands of sightseers jammed trafic on the Canada-to-Mexico highway near here today to watch the continuing advance of a huge landslide which had reached to within half a mile of the thoroughfare.

The big slide appeared to move more slowly than yesterday, when it was advancing at the rate of more than a foot an hour. It did not appear to be an immediate threat to the highway. Engineers previously had prepared to relocate the thoroughfare if the slide came too close.

The earth mass broke away from the Dead hills last Monday after the area had been soaked by heavy rain. Rolling down a slope on a base of wet clay, it advanced 1¾ miles in five days. The slide was about a quarter of a mile wide and about 100 feet high. It covered trees and bowlders in its path.

TWO RED LEADERS SEIZED BY TROOPS LOYAL TO MADRID

Revolt Crushed, Defense Council Announces.

MADRID, March 12.—(AP)—Gen. José Miaja's national defense council announced tonight that all communist strongholds had surrendered unconditionally and their uprising had been crushed after six days of fighting.

The two chief leaders of the revolt were captured. Lieut. Col. Francisco Bueno, former commander of the second army corps, was said by the national defense council to have been captured with his general staf at Ciudad Lineal, five miles east of Madrid, and brought here.

Another leader of the uprising against the coup that displaced former Premier Juan Negrin a week ago today, Lieut. Col. José Barcelo, former commander of the 1st army corps, was said to have been captured at La Pedriza in his stronghold in the Guadarrama mountains north of Madrid.

Shell Reds' Stronghold.

Wearied communist militiamen, beleaguered in the unfinished government offices at one end of Castellana avenue, laid down their arms after Miaja's heavy guns had shelled them for 15 minutes at point blank range.

The shelling was so severe that walls of the building collapsed, killing numerous defenders. Machine guns spurted thousands of bullets through the holes torn by the shells.

With the fall of the communists who had opposed Miaja's program of peace with Gen. Franco, 3,000 Republican prisoners who had been in the hands of the insurrectionists, were freed. The freed prisoners included the Socialist civil governor of Madrid, José Gomez Osorio, and 500 who had been locked up by the communists in the basement of the former royal country palace at El Pardo, northwest of Madrid, where the revolt began under Col. José Ascano.

Madrid Short of Bread.

All was reported quiet in Valencia and other provinces. It was announced that Gen. Leopold Menendez, commander of the Levant [eastern] army, personally forestalled communist plans for a revolt at Requena, near Valencia. He addressed the leaders and persuaded the would-be rebels to lay down their arms and pledge allegiance to the national defense council.

There was a shortage of bread in the capital as the uprising stopped the transportation of flour but the bread supply committee assured the population that rations would be resumed on Tuesday.

Col. Adolfo Pradas was appointed commander of the Madrid post which was vacated by Col. Segismundo Casado when he was named a defense councilor.

Way Cleared for Peace?

PARIS, March 12.—(AP)—The way was believed cleared today for Spanish peace by Gen. José Miaja's firm tactics in crushing Madrid's communist revolt. The Madrid radio announced after a five-hour meeting of the national defense council that the "plan drawn up before the rebellion" would be carried out now.

The "plan," it was believed, means peace with Nationalist Generalissimo Franco, whose terms are unconditional surrender. Reports here said Gen. Franco had given Miaja only a week to surrender before the Nationalists unleash a powerful drive against the one-fourth of Spain still under Republican control.

PREDICTS FRANCE CAN COUNT ON AMERICAN AID IN CASE OF WAR

CANNES, France, March 12.—(AP)—Leon Roche, editor in chief of La Republique, radical socialist newspaper, predicted today that in case of war France would "without doubt one day be able to count on American aid."

"Today the United States is selling us planes," he said at a political banquet. "Declarations of President Roosevelt, denied in their original form but confirmed in spirit, show that feeling in the great American republic is more and more favorable to us.

"In case of conflict we shall be able to count on American sympathies, supplies and without doubt one day American aid."

1,000 Senegalese Troops Sent to Djibouti by Paris

MARSEILLES, France, March 12.—(AP)—A battalion of Senegalese sharpshooters sailed today for Djibouti, French East African port on the Gulf of Aden. One thousand colonial troops left this Mediterranean port just eight days after Colonial Minister Georges Mandel requested reinforcements for French Somaliland garrisons to meet alleged entrances of Italians.

PRECEDENTS SET AS 500,000 SEE PIUS XII. CROWNED

Ceremony in Open First Time in 93 Years.

(Radiographs on back page.)

VATICAN CITY, March 12.—(AP)—Many precedents were set today when Pius XII. was crowned the 262d pope of the Roman Catholic church.

A festive crowd estimated at 500,000 persons thronged the fifteen acres of St. Peter's square and watched the coronation on the balcony of St. Peter's basilica, the first out of doors coronation since that of Pope Pius IX. in 1846.

Not since 1846, either, had a representative of the American government attended a papal coronation. The 93 year lapse ended with the participation of Joseph P. Kennedy, American ambassador to London.

For the first time radio carried the sound and description of a coronation around the world in half a dozen languages.

Symbolizes End of Feud.

Pope Pius XII. chose the same tiara that was used at the coronation of Pius IX., thus symbolizing the end of the fifty-nine year controversy between the holy see and the Italian state which had kept the popes voluntary prisoners within the Vatican and prevented coronations in public view.

The reconciliation came with the signing of the Lateran accords in 1929, one of the chief accomplishments of the seventeen year reign of Pope Pius XI., who died on Feb. 10.

Many churchmen doubted if such a huge throng ever had witnessed the coronation of any pope or king in history. No such crowd ever had assembled before St. Peter's, because recent demolitions about the square had provided greater space than ever before.

Rites Last Five Hours.

The placing of the great triple tiara on the pope's head was the climax of rites which lasted almost five hours.

To receive the crown Pope Pius XII. sat on a gilded temporary throne on the balcony halfway up the massive façade of St. Peter's. A rich crimson tapestry with the crown and keys of St. Peter's embroidered in gold hung from the railings. Above the throne was suspended a crimson canopy fringed with gold. A warm midday sun shone from a blue cloud-flecked sky.

Almost on the stroke of 1 p. m. [6 a. m. Chicago time] two cardinal deans, Cardinal Caccia-Dominioni and Cardinal Canali, appeared beside the throne, followed by attendants bearing white candles and a golden cross.

Clad in White Robes.

The pope, clad in white robes heavily embroidered in gold and wearing a cloth-of-gold miter on his head, was borne to the balcony at 1:05 p. m. A deafening roar of "Viva il Papa!" [Long live the pope!] ascended from hundreds of thousands of throats in the square.

Cardinal Canali lifted the miter from Pius' head, leaving the white skullcap. Then Cardinal Caccia-Dominioni took the gem studded tiara from a red velvet cushion and placed it gently on the pope's head and spoke the coronation words.

A cardinal held up the goldbound manuscript, from which the pope read in Latin the blessing "Urbi et orbi" [To city and world.] A hush fell over the multitude as the pontiff's voice, clear and composed, recited the papal absolution.

Repeatedly the pope raised his hand in the sign of the blessing, turning first to one side and then to the other. More cheers echoed across the plaza.

Blesses All at Ceremony.

A cardinal deacon then read in Latin and another in Italian a brief in which the pontiff rendered plenary indulgence to all attending the coronation ceremony. A military band played the papal march, the royal march of the house of Savoy, and the Fascist anthem "Giovanezza."

The pope, his thin features dwarfed by the ponderous tiara, stood a moment by the balcony railing with his white gloved hands held upward as if to embrace the entire throng.

He then mounted a portable throne which attendants lifted to their shoulders and a procession, colorful as were those preceding it, was formed for the last time as he was borne from the great basilica to the Vatican palace.

Gather Before Dawn.

Long before dawn the crowds began flocking toward St. Peter's. An hour before the ceremony began, the vast reaches of the mother church of Catholicism were filled by a huge congregation of princes, prelates, diplomats, pilgrims, priests, and laymen. Vatican authorities said 71,000 tickets had been issued.

When the pope entered at 9 a. m., seated on his sedia gestatoria, or portable throne, and borne on the shoulders of chairbearers, the crowd broke into cheers.

Envoys of foreign countries in the procession included the duke of Norfolk, Britain's premier earl, and Prime Minister Eamon de Valera of Ireland.

The first stop of the procession was at the chapel of the Holy Trinity, where the pope left the throne chair for a brief moment to kneel before the Blessed Sacrament.

Then he returned to the throne and was borne to the chapel of St. Gregory, where the ceremonies lasted more than half an hour.

French Children in Transept.

When he reached the central altar the pope received a tremendous ovation from 1,300 French children massed in the transept.

American priests and visitors applauded especially when the three American cardinals — Cardinal William O'Connell, archbishop of Boston; Cardinal Dennis Dougherty, archbishop of Philadelphia, and Cardinal George Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago—passed.

The first words uttered by the pope from the throne were his chanting of the "Gloria in Excelsis." After chanting of the mass "In Die Coronationis" a procession formed to escort the cardinal deacon to the tomb of St. Peter beneath the basilica floor. He knelt before the tomb, touching it with the mace to symbolize the passage of authority from the first of the popes to the 262d.

Celebrates Pontifical Mass.

The pope advanced to the central altar to celebrate mass. At the altar the pope's miter was removed from his head. He adjusted his white skullcap, then bowed to the altar, blessed himself in a deep voice and began the pontifical mass.

At the end of the mass Cardinal Gerlier approached the pope as he was about to reënter the portable throne and presented him a white silken purse containing twenty-five coins. He said in Latin:

"Most Holy Father, the chapter and canons of his holy basilica offer your holiness the customary offering for a mass well sung."

The solemn procession then formed to escort the pontiff up a flight of stairs to the outside balcony for the climax of his coronation.

The pope, slightly fatigued after the balcony ceremony, rested in his private apartments during the remainder of the day. Intimates said he was affected mostly by the emotional strain.

AIR RED CONTROL OF RELIEF OFFICE JOBS TOMORROW

Accuse CIO of Coercion in California.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bakersfield, Cal., March 12.—[Special.]—Communist domination of the Bakersfield office of the state relief administration and efforts to force office employés to join the C. I. O. will be told Tuesday at a public hearing before H. Dewey Anderson, state relief administrator.

Relief administration employés last week protested against conditions in the office here. They demanded the discharge of four recently installed officials, the return of a transferred director and reinstatement of two others who were discharged.

Charge They Inspire Fear.

Dismissal of Genere Chanct and Elizabeth Walker is demanded by the office employés who charge they are organizers for the State, County, and Municipal Workers of America, a C. I. O. union. The employés say these organizers have inspired fear and a feeling of insecurity through use of pressure to force them into the C. I. O.

Anderson also was told that Louretta Adams, only registered communist voter in Bern county, boasted before the Workers' alliance in Bakersfield that the communists had gotten rid of James Reese, the transferred director, and that they would get rid of others not in sympathy with communism and the C. I. O.

The employés also charged that persons who support the communist dominated C. I. O. executives were allowed to violate relief statutes and said Catherine Lanigan, a case worker, and Michael Daly, a supervisor, were discharged because they protested against these abuses.

Flee Midwest Dust Bowl.

Bakersfield is located at the southern end of the state's vast agricultural valley and is the first stopping place for those who fled the midwest dust bowl in search of employment. The Bakersfield relief office handles all these transient relief cases.

Administrator Anderson recently was appointed by Gov. Culbert L. Olson. He has promised relief employés a complete hearing and to clean up the situation if the charges they make are found to be true.

CITY CATHOLICS HEAR CROWNING OF POPE PIUS XII.

Thousands of radios in Catholic homes were tuned in on the majestic ceremonies at 1 a. m. yesterday which attended the coronation of Pope Pius XII. in St. Peter's cathedral, Vatican City. Midway in the rites, old St. Mary's church, 911 South Wabash avenue, dedicated its regular 3 a. m. mass to the newly crowned pontiff.

While Holy Name cathedral staf members stated that there are no authorized special features added to regular masses in local churches at the time of a pope's coronation, most pastors dedicated certain masses in honor of the new pontiff. The noon mass yesterday at Our Lady of Grace church, 2446 North Hamlin avenue, was one of them.

AMERICAN CATHOLICS SPEND DAY IN PAYING TRIBUTE TO NEW POPE

New York, March 12.—(AP)—The Catholic faithful of the United States today saluted the new vicar of Christ on earth with pontifical masses and Te Deums.

Early risers and stay-up-lates in America joined many of the 320 million Catholics in the world listening to the radio broadcasts of the ceremonies for Pope Pius XII. in Rome.

In the ceremony at St. Patrick cathedral here more than 3,500 persons filled pews and overflowed into the ailes.

In Washington a special solemn Te Deum service was held at the Catholic university's shrine of the Immaculate Conception, with the apostolic delegate to the United States, the Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cogognani, presiding.

As a preliminary over one American network sixty monks of the Benedictine abbey of St. Meinrad's monastery in Indiana sang what is believed to be the first Georgian chant ever broadcast, "the liturgy on the day of the coronation of the pope."

URGE YOUNGER ARMY AND NAVY OFFICERS IN U. S.

Point to Age Averages of Business Heads.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 12.—[Special.] — Proponents of the growing move to place younger men in high army and navy commands pointed today to important leaders in the business world for support of their argument. They found that the ages of many business heads ranged from 35 years to the middle 50s, with a generous proportion in the middle 40s. Most high army and navy heads are in their early 60s or late 50s.

The youth of corporation heads compared to major generals and rear admirals is shown by the fact that of 52 corporation heads only 34½ per cent are over 60 years old, while 64 per cent of the army's 39 major generals and 53 per cent of the navy's 76 admirals are over 60.

The group of young business executives included industrial chiefs, bank presidents, manufacturers, and heads of commercial houses, many of them individually responsible for thousands of employés and vast financial interests.

U. S. Steel Head 49.

Among them is Benjamin F. Fairless, head of the United States Steel corporation, who is only 49 years old. Among others are Wendell L. Willkie, president of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, 47; Raymond H. Fogler, president of Montgomery Ward & Co., also 47; Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor company, 45; Kenneth S. Adams, president of the Phillips Petroleum company, 40; L. M. Giannini, president of the Bank of America [Cal.], 45, and John Holmes, president of Swift & Co., 47. The heads of most big air companies are young; one is only 35.

Students of military affairs declare that general officers and admirals over 60 are too old to stand the physical demands of actual warfare. They assert that history's most brilliant commanders were comparatively young at the height of their careers, and cite Napoleon, at 26, and Alexander, at 25, as examples.

The system of promotion, they say, makes it difficult to become a general officer before 60. Thus, according to a recent survey, major generals were found to average above 61, brigadiers above 60, and colonels about 57. The compulsory retirement age for officers both in the army and navy is 64.

Generals Listed by Ages.

The contrast between the comparitive youth of high industrial executives and the major generals of the army is shown by the following list which classifies the generals by ages:

Spooners Blamed as Fire Destroys Pavilion on Lake

NAZIS TOLD RACE TO REARM DRIVES WORLD INTO WAR

Germans Ready to Fight, Admiral Warns.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 12.—"Where we have attained an advantage in our armaments we shall maintain it, and where further armament is necessary it will be carried out."

Admiral General Erich H. A. Raeder, commander in chief of the German fleet, made this declaration in the state opera house in Berlin today. The occasion was the nation's memorial day celebration for 2,000,000 war dead. The ceremony is linked with the anniversary of the reintroduction of conscription in Germany.

The celebration was attended by Reichsfuehrer Hitler, cabinet members, officers of the old and new army, high officials of the state and Nazi party, and members of the diplomatic corps.

Says Germany Needs Peace.

Asserting that Germany desired and needed peace for constructive development, Admiral Raeder said Hitler frequently had proffered peace proposals, but these were always rejected.

"When the hope of a genuine pacification made its appearance last year, armaments of other nations were only speeded up," the admiral said. "Thus Germany had to think of her own security. In accord with the will of the Fuehrer, the German army was further strengthened and made capable of fulfilling its task, no matter what the armaments of others might be.

"Let nobody believe that our weapons are blunt if German soil is violated or German blood is shed. Germany is the protector of all Germans on this and on the other side of her frontiers—the shots at Almeria proved that."

[German warships bombarded Almeria, Spain, in retaliation for loyalist air attacks on the warship Deutschland in May, 1937].

Declares Peace Is Menaced.

Raeder warned there were signs that "criminal hands were at work seeking to undermine the new peace.

"Throughout the world a gigantic rearming has set in which, together with irresponsible cries of war, are well adapted to endanger seriously what has been won with so much effort," he said.

"We do not dispute anybody's right to do what he thinks necessary for his own security. We do it ourselves. But we can neither keep silent nor inactive when Germany is held up to the world as the sole reason for great armament measures and that she alone has the intention to attack her neighbor.

"We know that those responsible for this will not be found in the battlefields to which they are driving the people. Thus may a soldier's word be transmitted to the soldiers on the other side whom we respect as chivalrous representatives of their country: What Germany needs and wishes is peace."

Honors War Dead.

After paying tribute to the war dead of Germany and her allies, Raeder said: "We do not wish to forget the courage and bravery of those men who were our knightly opponents and who sealed with their death their military duty to their country."

After the ceremony Hitler laid a wreath on the memorial to Germany's war dead in Unter den Linden. The German war graves commission deposited wreaths in the cemeteries of foreign soldiers. At the ceremony in the English cemetery at Stahnsdorf, a suburb of Berlin, Italian Black Shirts paid homage to the dead of their wartime allies.

DEMANDS QUICK SETTLEMENT OF NAZI LAND CLAIMS

MUNICH, March 12.—(AP)—Robert Ley, chief of the Nazi labor front, told a mass meeting here today that Germany's demands for "living space" must be heeded "without delay."

"If we are cheated out of our rights, developments will follow compared to which Versailles will be but child's play," he said. "If Jews cheat us, we shall exterminate every Jew in the world."

He brought boos from the crowd when he said 40,000,000 Britons rule 470,000,000 people and 40,000,000 Frenchmen rule 200,000,000. "We are at least as good as the English and all the rest of them," he said. "The time is ripe. We should claim what is due us."

Son of Ex-Kaiser Honors German War Dead in France

PARIS, March 12. — (AP) — Prince August Wilhelm, first son of the former kaiser of Germany to visit France since the world war, presided today over a ceremony at Suburban Ivry cemetery in memory of German war dead. The prince placed a wreath bearing a Nazi swastika on a monument to German soldiers.

Hughes Better, but Will Pass Up Court Today

Washington, D. C., March 12.—(AP)—Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, absent from the supreme court for a week because of illness, is up and around, but will not attend tomorrow's session, court attachés said today. The court will meet briefly tomorrow to deliver any decisions it may have ready, and then will recess for two weeks.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

ACT TO CURTAIL POWERS OF U. S. MONEY TINKERS

Lines for Major Battle in Congress Drawn.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 12.—[Special.]—One of the major battles of this session of congress is impending on the question of continuing or repealing the New Deal money tinkering devices.

Under the leadership of Senator Carter Glass [D., Va.], the conservative Democrats, with Republican support, are mobilizing to terminate the presidential authority for further devaluation of the dollar, for subsidizing domestic silver producers, for purchase of foreign silver, and for issuance of 3 billion dollars in greenbacks.

Oppose Continuing Powers.

Nearly all orthodox economists have gone on record against the continuation of these powers in the current hearings before the house coinage committee on the continuation of money manipulation authority conferred on the President, some of which powers will expire June 30 next. The termination of these powers involving potential inflation, the conservatives contend, would do more than could any other single measure to dispel the uncertainty and lack of confidence that is checking the expansion of private enterprise.

On the extension of the life of the 2 billion dollar gold stabilization fund, due to expire June 30, the economists are divided. Some contend that it serves no beneficial purpose except to other governments. Others hold it necessary so long as the world is on a managed currency basis.

Urge Stabilization Reports.

Virtually all are agreed, however, that in the light of peculiar bookkeeping methods used in the balance sheets of the fund any extension of its life should require publication of essential information at regular intervals.

With Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau claiming a profit on the fund's operation, which, it appears, resulted largely from transactions between two units of the treasury, reminiscent of the unsavory bookkeeping of affiliated public utility corporations, it is contended that the required reports should be sufficiently detailed to be intelligible.

Also, it is argued, that in view of the critical international situation and of the credits given to China, as shown by the fund's balance sheets, and now to be given in quintupled amount to Brazil, there should be restrictions on the use of the stabilization fund to promote foreign policies other than those relating to the stabilization of the exchange.

Morgenthau Claims Profit.

Appearing before congress committees Secretary Morgenthau claimed that the stabilization fund had earned profits aggregating $13,229,951. An examination of the items shows only three aggregating $1,719,515 which purport to represent profits on transactions in exchange and gold. These include $335,072 in profits on French franc transactions, $90,141 in profits on the sale of sterling, and $1,294,301 in profits on gold bullion.

Study of the other alleged profit items shows some strange bookkeeping methods involving transactions between the treasury and the stabilization fund, an agency of the treasury. Just why there should be a profit on such transactions is a mystery, unless the reason is a desire to show such favorable conditions as to make any investigation appear futile.

Report Profit on Gold.

The largest single item of profit is $3,497,935 which is described only as "profits on handling charges on gold." The government has made a practice of buying imported gold at $35 an ounce less ¼ of 1 per cent for handling and has sold gold for export at $35 an ounce plus ¼ of 1 per cent. This charge amounts to about 9 cents an ounce.

It appears that the stabilization fund has been allowed to take this profit instead of crediting it directly to the treasury. Inasmuch as the treasury could levy this charge itself if no fund were in existence, there seems no special reason to put it forward as supporting the administration's request for continuance of the fund.

The second largest item of profit is $3,473,362 which is listed as "profits on sale of silver bullion to treasury [nationalized]." Here again is a strange profit. Apparently the fund prior to Aug. 9, 1934, the date of the issuance of the executive order for delivery of all silver stocks in continental United States to the treasury at 50 cents an ounce, had acquired considerable silver. The fund thereupon turned it over to the treasury, crediting itself with a profit of $3,473,362.

Other "Profits" Listed.

The third largest item of profit is $2,957,955 representing "interest on investments." This item is for interest paid by the treasury on government securities bought by the fund. While the fund held only about 5 million dollars in government securities on Dec. 31, 1938, Secretary Morgenthau testified that at one time it held as much as 30 millions, which was bought to give the fund an income.

Here was an instance in which the taxpayers were charged in order that one treasury fund might show a profit at the expense of the general fund of the treasury. While Secretary Morgenthau denied it, those familiar with treasury finance believe that the securities were purchased at times when the action would support the market for government bonds.

Other items of profit include $773,522 in "interest earned on Chinese yuan," presumably growing out of a silver transaction; $619,826 in "profits on investments," probably from the sale of government securities; $105,371 in "profits on silver transactions," presumably involving the purchase of silver abroad and its resale to the treasury; $82,032 in "interest earned on foreign balances," and $430 in "miscellaneous profits."

The Chinese yuan item is linked with items appearing in the balance sheet. The balance sheet for Dec. 31, 1938, showed among assets a secured deposit of Chinese yuan at the Central Bank of China to the amount of $48,657,070. The security consisting of $48,838,340 in gold is listed in the assets as held by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York for the fund, and in the liabilities as actually owned by the Central Bank of China.

The presumption is that these items represent one of a number of transactions whereby the United States has furnished gold to China in support of the monetary system erected on the ruins of its old silver standard, which was destroyed by American silver policies.

Blamed for Instability.

The stabilization fund is supposed to have obtained the yuan deposits in exchange for dollars advanced to buy American gold. Gradually the yuan deposits will be liquidated by Chinese silver, which the fund will pass on to the treasury. No loss on the transaction will ever appear on the treasury books even if the silver was figured, as may have been the case, at a fictitious price.

From the experience of the last five years it would seem feasible, say the economists, to reduce the fund from 2 billions to 500 millions or less. However, if the gold were used to retire debt it might cause inflationary complications through an increase in excess reserves of the banking system.

In opposing any extension of the President's authority to change further the gold content of the dollar monetary experts believe that the existence of this power has been one of the major reasons for international instability, which in turn has created the need of exchange stabilization funds.

Slayer-Rapist Held in Robbery

Viewed by Victims

Vernon Royals, rapist and ex-convict, who was arrested Saturday for robbing a woman in her home in Rogers Park on Thursday, was viewed by crime victims at the regular showup in the detective bureau yesterday. Royals, who was released from Joliet prison last July, was not identified by other robbery victims.

He told Sergt. Thomas Kelly of the Rogers Park station later that the robbery of the woman was his first crime since his release from prison. He said he had been unemployed and believed that he could get a large sum of money in the holdup. His victim was Mrs. Gladys Marinier, 2942 Chase avenue. He obtained $25, a watch, and a revolver.

Royals was convicted of murdering a woman in 1931. He had served two years of a twenty-five year sentence when the Supreme court reversed the case. He then served a five year sentence for rape. Royals, who is 24 years old, lives at 4410 North Mozart street.

CHARGES BRITISH PLOT TO WEAKEN FASCIST NATIONS

Reds Told London Seeks to Rule World.

MOSCOW, March 12.—(AP)—A scheme attributed to Great Britain to use Germany, Italy and Japan as pawns in a grandiose realignment of world forces for the benefit of the British empire was reported today to the 18th all-union congress of the communist party.

Dimitri Manuilsky, delegate on the executive committee of the communist internationale, told the congress that British imperialists were plotting to satisfy Premier Mussolini of Italy in the Mediterranean at the expense of France.

He pictured the alleged British scheme as a move to detach Mussolini from the Rome-Berlin axis—while "breaking the teeth" of Adolf Hitler in a British-encourage German plot on soviet Russia.

Sees Oriental "Munich."

"In the far east British reaction dreams of dividing China," he asserted. "They permit Japan to weaken China, but at the same time encourage military and economic weakening of Japan in order to be able to act as arbiter in a 'Munich peace of the far east.'"

While he described the purported scheme as aimed especially at vitally weakening Germany, Italy and Japan, Manuilsky said "British reaction does not desire the collapse of Fascism either in Germany, Italy, or Japan."

"It wants to help the governments of these countries—save them from bankruptcy by granting them loans—thus making the Fascist states depend on the British empire," he charged.

Manuilsky explained that the theory of this scheme from the point of view of the British bourgeoisie was that it would save capitalism through victory over Russia, at the same time weakening Britain's rivals and leaving her supreme among world powers.

But it would not work, he predicted. In fact "with these reactionary plans of robbery, the British bourgeoisie are digging their own graves," the comintern executive declared.

"With their secret help to Japanese aggression in China they are paving the way for the expulsion of the British from the far east. With concessions to Italian Fascism they are leading toward the loss of British positions in the Mediterranean.

"By strengthening German Fascism they pave the way for dismemberment of their own empire. With their plan of attack against soviet Russia they are leading to the collapse not only of Fascism, but of the whole capitalistic system."

The United States was described as at least one capitalistic state openly resisting the "imperialistic aims of the Fascist robbers."

Declares Party Grows in U. S.

The result of this, Manuilsky explained, "is the activization of resistance to Fascist plans in other parts of the world, including Europe."

Internally in the United States, he told the congress, an anti-Fascist movement was growing and promoting "a swing of the majority of American workers over to the position of the class struggle."

Likewise, he said the communist party in America was growing in strength and influence and "helping by all means to promote the class movement among the proletariat and breaking away of the proletariat from bourgeois parties."

"One vital mistake of the party lies in the fact that it is only weakly connected with the agricultural masses and the farmers' movement," he asserted.

Manuilsky reported that the communist party membership outside of Russia now aggregates 1,200,000 and young communist leagues 746,000.

SLOT MACHINES RUN IN NORTHERN PART OF COUNTY DESPITE WAR

Slot machines were running in many places in Cook county last night. In others they were stilled. In the north part of the county practically all were in operation. The three county highway police headquarters — Morton Grove, Willow Springs, and Homewood, made routine inspections with orders to confiscate all machines found. They reported no seizures up to midnight. A number of machines were seized Saturday night.

BOY SCOUT ROLLS SHOW 11% GAIN IN CITY FOR 1938

Progress made by the Boy Scouts of Chicago last year was disclosed yesterday in the annual report of the Chicago council, issued by W. Arthur McKinney, scout executive. The scout program here is sponsored by 621 different organizations.

During 1938 the scout enrollment rose from 20,324 to 22,667, a gain of 11.5 per cent. The number of units increased from 858 to 934. There were 4,805 cubs last year, an increase of 20 per cent.

Formal scout executive training courses graduated 1,317 adult leaders, while 454 boy leaders were graduated from 46 unit training courses.

16 POUND 3 OUNCE GIRL IS BORN TO CICERO MOTHER

Mrs. Anna Ter Maat and her baby daughter were getting along well in the West Suburban hospital last night. This is news, because the baby is one of the largest born in the Chicago area. She weighed 16 pounds 3⅞ ounces at birth Friday. The baby was the largest ever born at the West Suburban hospital. She's far from winning a world record, however. The largest baby known to medical authorities weighed 25 pounds at birth and was born in Georgia in 1916. Mrs. Ter Maat is the wife of Sam Ter Maat, and lives at 1344 South 60th court, Cicero. They have three other children.

IN LILLIPUT LAND

By CALEB

BOUNDED by escalator and elevator on its left, and the barber shops for children at its rear, lies a pleasant province of our fourth Wabash floor that the good Dean Swift would have broken his goosequill in writing about. For here is a Lilliput whose charm, excitement and colorful fascination not even the creator of Gulliver could have resisted—a pleasure-spot in this painful world where illusion is in the air one breathes, and delight the only logical reaction to its influence.

This, in short, is the kingdom of creative toycraft; the domain of doll-house furnishings and playtime accessories in all their profusion and allure. A realm, incidentally, that seems to be ruled—or so the ohs and ahs of tiny visitors would indicate—by Toyland's newest enticement: Ferdinand the Bull, and his gaily assorted progeny. Indeed, you can scarcely appreciate this mutineer of the meadows by relying alone on stories, pictures or songs of him. You must see and handle physical reincarnations like these on display—plush, velvet, composition and rubber—to catch fully the humorousness of his personality.

The Lilliput lady-in-waiting hands us one specimen of Senor Ferdinand that we particularly enjoy; for not only does he roll expressive china eyes above his ludicrous, daisy-clutching jaws, but at the twist of a key in his midriff, he emits the "Song of Ferdinand" in tinkling strains—and a dozen years fall from our adult shoulders as we listen.

One will hardly overlook, as he lingers, that across the aisle from Ferdinand and his family may be found every manner of cottage or mansion, with furnishings therefor, that the doll-world knows! Suites in dark woods; suites in pastel blues and pinks; complete rooms outfitted in upholstered and period styles; grandfather clocks, lamps, telephones, candelabras, mirrors, cabinets . . . truly infinite variety is here ultra-realistically expressed in miniature . . .

We speak, sometimes—in our wearier moments—of wishing to be children again. I dare the hardiest of my readers to wander into and through this land of Lilliput without reiterating the wish . . . and really meaning it!

MILLION PLEDGES FOR GREEN, GOAL OF G. O. P. DRIVE

Every Supporter Urged to Sign Two Others.

Headquarters of Dwight H. Green, Republican nominee for mayor, announced yesterday the beginning of a drive to obtain signatures to a million pledge cards for the candidate before the election April 4.

About one-fourth already have been signed. Two hundred thousand signatures were obtained before the Feb. 28 primary. Another 50,000 were added last Saturday at a meeting of the city central committee.

William H. Reid, committeeman for the 16th ward, has been placed in charge of the drive for new signers. He said he hopes the million mark will be passed before April 1.

Plan Systematic Filing.

At the La Salle hotel headquarters one room has been set aside exclusively for the systematic handling of signed cards. They will be sorted by wards and precincts.

"That will permit us to keep an accurate check on every worker, whether he is a precinct captain or a ward committeeman," said Reid. "It's the most thoroughly organized drive of its kind I have ever seen and I've watched every one made in Chicago for several years.

"Any person, of any party, who has had enough of machine rule and sincerely wants new leadership will sign one of these cards. The worker to whom he gives the card will know who signed it. Otherwise the cards will be as secret as the ballot itself. Two men guard the file room night and day and the cards will not fall into the hands of the enemy.

Ask Voters to Sign Two More.

"The silent vote in Chicago now is the largest in the history of the city. A majority of Chicagoans have suffered all they are willing to suffer from machine rule. They have been waiting silently for a new leader worthy of their support. Dwight Green is the man. A popular uprising is under way. Nothing can stop it."

Candidate Green's comment on the pledge card plan was that victory will be assured if every person who voted for him on Feb. 28 will persuade two others to join in the second stage of the fight.

Green spoke last night at a celebration of the anniversary of the independence of Hungary in Liberty hall, Cottage Grove avenue and 92d street. In his talk he gave a new significance to the day of the election this year.

"We hope that the fourth of April," he said, "will be like the Fourth of July—a day for a declaration of independence."

Green headquarters made public the names and addresses of thirty-eight Courtney precinct captains in the 12th ward who signed resolutions pledging to support the Republican nominee.

DISCUSS SCHOOL OPENING TONIGHT IN BLUE ISLAND

A meeting to discuss plans for reopening the Community High school in Blue Island will be held in the school auditorium tonight. The school was closed Friday because of insufficient operating funds.

Mrs. Arthur Minard, president of the Parent-Faculty association, said opponents and proponents of the school board's plan to save the school by raising tax rates will have a chance to present their views. The board is seeking an increase in the assessment in the building fund from 37½ cents to 50 cents per $100 of assessed valuation and an increase in the educational fund from $1 to $1.50. Thrice rejected by the voters, the proposition will come up again in an election April 8.

One of the board's opponents expected to attend tonight's meeting is Frank Van Overstraeten, former president of the elementary school board. He alleges the tax increase is unnecessary, as the board can rely on future tax collections and revenues from the sale of warants to operate the school on a full term basis.

Tank of Stolen Gas Takes Two Right Up to Jail Door

Morrison, Ill., March 12.—[Special.]—Last night, less than twelve hours after Cyril Nelson, 25 years old, and Glenn Pittman, 19, both of Dixon, drove out of an oil station at Sterling without paying for a tank of gasoline, they started serving sentences of thirty days in Whiteside county jail. The attendant at the oil station took the license number of the car and the two were arrested by Policeman Fred Bull when they arrived here. They pleaded guilty before Justice H. J. Ludens.

Injured Fighting Fire

Fire department officials last night investigated the origin of a blaze early yesterday in the basement of a five story building at 12-18 West Jackson street. The blaze, which tied up trafic more than five hours, caused damage which Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan estimated at $50,000.

Three firemen were injured slightly by falling timbers and were taken to St. Luke's hospital. They are Howard Reiter of engine company No. 1, and John Ouska and R. E. Bergstrom, both of engine company No. 13.

Elmer Konsoer, 34 years old, was burned to death and George Connors, 40, was injured yesterday when they were trapped by a fire in the Doerner Motor Service company garage, 2532 Indiana avenue. Both were sleeping on the second floor. Konsoer was the watchman. Connors told firemen he was awakened by the flames. He jumped twenty feet to the ground from a window ledge, breaking his right leg. He was taken to the Lutheran Memorial hospital.

EIGHTEEN RADIOS STOLEN.

Burglars yesterday looted stores at 842 and 2943 West 63d street, taking eighteen radios valued at $188.

KELLY TO SHAPE FINAL CAMPAIGN PROGRAM TODAY

Mayor Back from Week's Rest in Florida.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Mayor Kelly today will lay plans for his campaign during the three weeks remaining before the election on April 4. He returned yesterday from a week's rest in Florida and said he was fit and ready for hard work.

"I'll be at my office in the morning," he said. "Although I have been in constant touch while I've been away, there are some matters that need attention. I must attend to those duties first.

"I hope then to be able to confer with some of my friends and advisers in the regular organization and on the all-Chicago committee and discuss the plan of action for the campaign. They may have some plans to propose."

Dodges Question on Campaign.

Mayor Kelly dodged a question as to whether the general character of his campaign will be much like that heard in the primary battle that ended Feb. 28. He said that remained to be determined, but it is generally believed that he will continue to avoid controversy with his opposition and that he and speakers in his behalf will discuss the record of his administration.

A belief that the all-Chicago committee, which was set up on a definite plan of operation for the duration of the war and not merely for the primary battle, will take the lead in starting much of the pro-Kelly activity was strengthened when Chairman A. A. Sprague issued another statement, the second in two days, urging the reëlection of the mayor.

Sprague Cites Experience.

"Chicago has an invaluable investment in Mayor Kelly's executive experience which should not be thrown away," said Col. Sprague. "If there were no other achievement in his record except the rehabilitation of Chicago's municipal plant, its municipal services, he would indubitably deserve reëlection.

"When Mayor Kelly assumed office he faced one of the most discouraging pictures of municipal deterioration that ever confronted a city executive. The salvaging and rebuilding job he has done has been little short of phenomenal. And an amazing fact is that even with the expenditures necessary to this rehabilitation, taxes for the years from 1933 to 1937 were $51,386,095 less than they were for the years from 1927 to 1931—a saving of 23.4 per cent."

Col. Sprague reviewed the city services that were run down when Kelly took office—police, fire, street and alley paving repairs and cleaning, bridge maintenance, and water, sewer, and light systems. All, he said, now are in first class condition.

A city-wide exhibit of the products of public school art classes will open this morning in the north corridor of the Public library. It will be the first exhibit of size since methods of teaching art in the schools were revised two years ago. PRIEST CAPTURES RECTORY BANDIT ON RETURN CALL

The Rev. Leander Conley was startled yesterday afternoon to hear the clatter of footsteps in his rectory adjoining St. Peter's church at 816 South Clark street. The sound came from the third floor where no one should have been.

Father Conley stepped out of his study. He came face to face with a young man. Said the priest:

"What are you doing here?"

"I'm lost," replied the young man. "I'm on my way to South Chicago."

Father Conley grabbed the intruder, and his two confrères, Brothers Julius Tracey and Timothy Hoefle, called police.

They identified the thief as Ray Slattery, 23, who said he lived at 1426 Newberry avenue. In his pockets were a camera, $10, some jewelry, and $2 in stamps, the property of the three clergymen. Brother Timothy also recognized as his own a watch Slattery was wearing. It had been stolen in a burglary a week ago.

Two weeks ago Slattery was released from the Bridewell, where he served a year for looting the rectory of St. Mary's church at 9th street and Wabash avenue.

DON'T GIVE BALDNESS A HEAD START

A YOUNG man with a good head of healthy hair sheds and re-grows an average of 81 hairs each day. Baldness needn't worry him as long as this normal shedding and re-growing process continues unhampered.

Baldness comes when some local infection, such as dandruff, makes it impossible for the scalp to re-grow enough hair to replace that which falls out. When this happens, your scalp logically becomes a problem for a Thomas expert. He solves the problem by (1) determining the exact cause of your hair-loss and then by (2) adapting the reliable Thomas treatment to overcome this cause and to help your scalp structure continue its normal function of growing hair.

Fourteen local scalp conditions, responsible for 90% of all baldness, come within the scope of Thomas treatment. Thomas can end your dandruff, stop abnormal hair-fall, and help you to promote natural hair growth on thin and bald spots. Call today for a free scalp examination and learn more about this sound, proved method of scalp treatment.

PAROLE REFORM BILL APPROVED BY JUDGE TRUDE

Will Write Bar Group's Indorsement.

Judge Daniel P. Trude asserted yesterday that Illinois should adopt the parole reform measure known as the Ward-Schnackenberg bill. This is a law recommended by a committee headed by Frank J. Loesch, president emeritus of the Chicago crime commission, under which judges may fix minimum and maximum sentences of criminals.

Judge Trude.

Judge Trude, who has been on the bench for twenty-one years, was selected to write the majority opinion of the Chicago Bar association's committee on criminal jurisprudence. This group voted Saturday to recommend passage of the Ward-Schnackenberg bill. Floyd Thompson, chairman of the committee, said he would make a minority report. The committee's vote for parole reform was 6 to 3.

Assails Parole Politics.

"The Ward-Schnackenberg bill now pending in the legislature is an advance," Judge Trude said yesterday. "It is not entirely the solution to our parole problem, but it will be of great help. In addition we need a parole board that is free from political control.

"The Ward-Schnackenberg law would permit distinctions between habitual criminals and casual offenders. It has been stated repeatedly that at present first offenders do not get early paroles and professional crooks do, because the professional makes the best prisoner. He knows how to appeal to the parole board."

Judge Trude was elected to the Municipal court in 1918. He is the son of A. S. Trude, a famous lawyer, and inherited a fortune from his father. He was educated at Dartmouth and Chicago universities and obtained his legal education at Northwestern.

Leads Vice Crusades.

During his service on the Municipal court Judge Trude led several vice crusades. He was associated in politics with the Deneen faction of the Republican party and was considered one of its outstanding officeholders. In 1928 he was elected to the Circuit court and since then has served two years in the Criminal courts.

"Our recommendations to the parole board were ignored," the veteran jurist declared. "The record of the parole system shows that somewhere along the line some one has fallen down. The board seems to have been under considerable political pressure.

"I don't wish to imply any misconduct to any one but it is apparent that many criminals have received paroles because they had powerful friends on the outside. One friend would put pressure on one member of the parole board, another friend would work on a different member, and the first thing we would know the fellow would be out again.

Schnackenberg Proves Case.

"We need men of more courage on the parole board. Representative Elmer Schnackenberg showed the bar committee facts that were convincing. The present system needs strengthening, and the Ward-Schnackenberg law will help.

"I have heard objections to changing the law so the trial judge may fix the minimum and maximum sentences. I think that is an excellent provision. Judges will treat first offenders differently than hardened criminals.

"Now all persons convicted of a crime such as robbery are given indeterminate sentences. Under the proposed law we would be able to say to a first offender, 'You will serve from two to four years,' and we could say to a repeater, 'You will serve from fifteen to twenty years.' I think that will be a good law."

MEN OUTNUMBER WOMEN IN STATE INSANE ASYLUMS

Lead Gains Considerably Since 1920.

BY MARCIA WINN.

If the records of the state department of public welfare are authoritative, more men in Illinois are crazy than women.

Don't feel too bad about it. New York has the same trouble. In fact, it is a national condition. No one seems to know exactly why, either. A recent announcement of New York's survey prompted an inquiry into the situation in this state.

Illinois' latest figures show 15,770 men in the state's institutions for mental care and 13,751 women. Persons in private sanitariums are not counted.

Half the Population's Neurotic.

You may be crazy, or faintly tinged with lunacy, but you're not insane—no matter what your friends think—until you're legally committed. You're merely psychotic, a state so prevalent that statistics on it cannot be compiled, or neurotic, the sad fate of 50 per cent of the people.

At one time there were only a few more men than women in insane asylums of Illinois, but that was back in 1920. They have a 2,019 edge on women now. Then it was only 914. By 1926 men led by 1,833, but on Jan. 1, 1936, the excess was down to 1,777. That year, however, men surged back to a lead of 1,895.

Liquor and Syphilis Blamed.

Dr. Charles F. Read, director of the Elgin state hospital, believes the men's lead in official insanity may be due to alcohol and syphilis. He cited the 1937 figures on persons admitted to state institutions for the first time. Only sixty-seven women were alcoholics, as against 395 men. Only 171 women were deranged by syphilis, as against 465 men.

It's almost a toss-up between the sexes in cases of dementia praecox [lack of insight, hallucinations], with 536 men and 437 women sufferers, but women lead in manic-depressive insanity [voluminous talk, brooding], with 215 women and 154 men. Women have involutional melancholia in a bad way, too.

About 25 per cent of those admitted to state institutions go there of their own volition. And it's a strange thing, but about a fourth of them turn out to be perfectly all right. In this, again, men, lead: 850 of those admitted were quite sane—but only 284 women were.

Environment Big Factor.

Where you live may be a large factor, not in when you go insane, but in how you go. If you live in the country, you're more liable to become schizophrenic [anti-social, a shut-in], because you have too much time for contemplation of your dream world. If you live in the city, you are more apt to become a dementia precox victim or a manic-depressive, because of the stress and strain of metropolitan life.

The records show that an only child or a first child is more likely to become deranged than a child from a large family. The same is true of a child of divorced parents. In general, the more highly educated a person is, the less likely he is to become insane.

Few mathematicians, physicists, engineers, or architects go insane.

JAPS, HELD UP NEAR CANTON, BOMB RAIL POINTS IN VICINITY

SHANGHAI, March 12.—(AP)—The restricted scope of the Japanese South China invasion since Canton's fall last Oct. 22 was disclosed today when the invaders' warplanes bombed railway points relatively short distances from the metropolis.

The attacks were made on Samshui, branch line terminus thirty miles west of Canton, and Pakonghow, first important Canton railway point fifty miles to the north.

Samshui is considered the gateway to Kwangsi province.

REDS REPULSED AFTER MARCHING INTO MANCHUKUO

TOKIO, March 12.—(AP)—Domei, the Japanese news agency, in a dispatch from Hsinking reported today that seventy soviet Russian soldiers had crossed the Siberian-Manchukuan border and penetrated a considerable distance before they were driven back by Japanese guards.

The reported action was described as the first important incident on the eastern border of Manchukuo since the vest-pocket war at Changkufeng last July. No casualties were mentioned in the dispatch and the point at which the border was reported to have been crossed was identified only as "H Post."

[There have been more than 1,000 border incidents between Russia and Japan since the Japanese occupied Manchuria and Manchukuo was proclaimed an independent state on Feb. 18, 1932. There have been sporadic clashes in recent months along the western and northern borders of Manchukuo.]

COSTA RICA SLAPS 100% LEVY ON JAP GOODS; AIDS U. S.

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, March 12.—President Leon Cortes Castro has warned merchants against raising prices of Japanese goods now in stock as a result of passage of a law increasing customs duties 100 per cent on such imports. The law also applies to other countries with a more than 50 per cent unfavorable trade balance, except Panama and Central America. Passage of the law was prevented by the Japanese for several years while they flooded the country with cheap goods, always promising to buy Costa Rican products. Merchants selling Japanese goods objected to the customs increase but the public generally agrees that American and British markets for coffee and bananas, vital to the country's economic existence, must be protected.

RESTAURANT MEN ASK POLICE CURB ON UNION TERROR

Vandalism Laid to Drive to Organize Workers.

The Chicago Restaurant association appealed yesterday to the police and the state's attorney's office to combat a wave of terrorism and vandalism which, it is charged, is part of a union campaign to organize restaurant employés. A conference with law enforcing officials of the city and county was sought.

Donald F. Kiesau, executive secretary of the association, said that windows have been broken, stench bombs exploded in restaurants, employés have been intimidated and one owner has been assaulted.

He said that the violence is in reprisal against restaurant owners who refuse demands that they force their employés to join a union.

Union Agent Denies Charges.

Michael Lee, business agent for the Hotel and Restaurant Employés union, local No. 563, denied that the union was responsible for the vandalism. He said the union was carrying on a campaign to organize restaurant employés but that no violence was being used. The union is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Kiesau cited specific instances in support of his charges of terrorism and vandalism.

Nicholas Pangakos, one of the owners of a restaurant at 1901 Harrison street, reported that he was beaten by an official of the Hotel and Restaurant Employés' union and that the windows in his place were broken when he refused to accede to union demands . He later identified Andrew Varvares, an organizer for that union, as the person who assaulted him.

Pangakos also told of a visit paid him by James Crowley, secretary of the union. He said Varvares and Crowley informed him he would have trouble unless the place was unionized. Varvares and Crowley were arrested later near the restaurant after a window had been broken with a bottle. Their cases will be heard tomorrow in the Felony court.

Another Tells of Demand.

On Feb. 23 windows were broken in restaurants at 181 and 355 West Madison street. Gus Georgules, one of the owners of the two restaurants, said Varvares and Crowley had visited him earlier that day and made demands that he force his employés into the union.

The latest incident occurred last Friday, when a stench bomb was hurled through a window of the Forum restaurant at 64 West Madison street.

Kiesau said employés in general have been threatened and that restaurants are picketed where no employés are on strike. Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed force in the absence of Commissioner Allman, who is out of town, promised the full aid and coöperation of the police department. An answer had not been received last night from the state's attorney's office.

HAYMARKET RIOT POLICEMAN FETED ON 92D BIRTHDAY

The children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren of George W. Roycraft gathered yesterday in his home at 2642 North Spaulding avenue to hear him relate his experiences during forty-five years of service on Chicago's police force. The occasion was Mr. Roycraft's ninety-second birthday. He and Capt. Frank Tyrell of Oak Park are the only survivors of the Haymarket riot in 1886. Mr. Roycraft was born in Ireland and became a member of the police force in 1873, retiring in 1918.

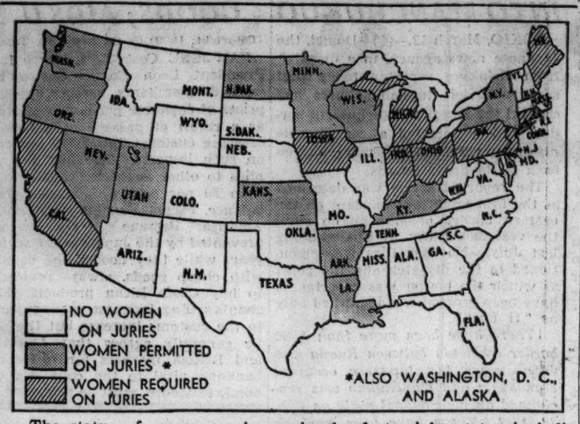
Where Women Serve as Jurors



The status of women as jurors in the forty-eight states is indicated by the map. In the District of Columbia and in Alaska women are permitted to serve, but may decline for certain reasons.

Action in Illinois

Illinois will become the tenth state to require women to serve on juries if the measure which passed the state senate last Tuesday is approved by the house of representatives and signed by acting Gov. Stelle.

Nine states require women to be called for jury service in the same manner as men. They are California, Connecticut, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Michigan, New Jersey, Ohio, and Pennsylvania.

In the following fourteen states women are permitted to serve but may decline under certain exemptions: Arkansas, Delaware, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Minnesota, Nevada, New York, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, Utah, and Washington. Similar exemptions are also permitted in Alaska and the District of Columbia.

3½ MILLION SUIT AGAINST SITTERS' UNION UP TODAY

Philadelphia, Pa., March 12.—(AP)—The sitdown strike, ruled illegal two weeks ago by the Supreme court, is the basis of a $3,515,872 damage suit a hosiery company will press against a union tomorrow in United States District court.

The Apex Hosiery company contends that members of Branch L, American Federation of Hosiery Workers, caused a loss in its business by occupying its Philadelphia plant during a 48 day strike in 1937.

The firm is suing for triple damages, basing its action on an amendment to the Sherman act that provides for such claims on the basis of restraint of interstate commerce.

DEDICATE $150,000 CRADLE NURSERY; CROWD ATTENDS

A crowd of several hundred persons blocked trafic on Ridge avenue in Evanston yesterday as the new $150,000 home of the Cradle, famed nursery, was dedicated. The three story structure is at Ridge avenue and Simpson street.

It was the sixteenth anniversary of the dedication of the Cradle's first home—a little red brick building a few yards south of the present location. Since Mrs. William B. Walrath founded it, the Cradle has housed and found homes for more than 3,600 infants. There are Cradle babies—some now are adults—in every state and even in China and South Africa.

Dr. Horace J. Bridges, head of the Chicago Ethical society and a director of the Cradle, traced its history and achievements in the chief address at the dedication ceremonies. Among others who spoke were Mrs. Walrath, Frank S. Cunningham, president of the Cradle society, and Dr. Gladys Dick, inventor of the Dick aseptic nursery technique. The Rev. Harold L. Bowen of St. Mark's Episcopal church, Evanston, gave the dedicatory sermon.

Picket Church Wedding in Union Row Over Canopy

St. Louis, March 12—(AP)—A fashionable church wedding was picketed here last night. The pickets were "not interested" in the marriage of Marcia Grocock and J. T. Vaughan, but paraded in front of St. John's Methodist church in protest against erection by nonunion workers of a sidewalk canopy that shielded several hundred guests from the rain.

C. I. O. AUTO UNION EXPELS MARTIN AS 'CONSPIRATOR'

Unanimous Vote Follows 'Trial' Lasting 15 Hours.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., March 12.—[Special.]—The faction of the United Automobile Workers of America, who prefer to remain under C. I. O. rule met in convention here today and voted to "expel" President Homer Martin.

The expulsion vote of the twenty man executive board, which was unanimous, concluded a 15 hour "trial" at which Martin was not present. Testimony was introduced to show that Martin conspired with enemies of the union, and deliberately sought to "double cross" it in dealings with the Ford Motor company.

Fight on Red Rule.

Martin, a former Baptist minister, was impeached Jan. 20 after he had suspended fifteen members of the United Automobile Workers of America executive board for opposing his fight to free the union from C. I. O. communist control. The suspended members of the board, with C. I. O. support, chose Roland J. Thomas of Detroit as acting president and began a reorganization of their faction of the union. However, a convention called by Martin in Detroit last week, attended by delegates representing more than 100,000 members of the union, reëlected Martin president and withdrew the union from the C. I. O.

The union's internal strife developed from a struggle between Martin and communistic elements, backed by John L. Lewis and his C. I. O. for control of the union. The question of records and cash resources is now before the courts.

Plan National Convention.

The Anti-Martin executive board today elected Thomas president and named committees to arrange for a national convention, to be held here starting March 27.

In the summary of evidence against Martin the twenty committeemen said they learned their former leader had revealed the union's confidential affairs to its enemies; had organized and encouraged secret caucuses with a view to defeating the membership's desire to stay with the C. I. O., and had incited violence against members of local unions.

FRENCH BREAK UP DRUG SMUGGLING RING ON U. S. TIP

Nab Ex-Bootlegger and Fourteen in Raids.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 12.—An ex-bootlegger whom the police said was a former lieutenant of Al Capone was arrested here today as an overlord of the international drug trafic. He was nabbed during a series of raids in which French police, following up a tip from New York, broke up a huge ring of narcotics peddlers operating in France, the United States, and Mexico.

Fifteen members of the ring, including six women, were arrested and large quantities or heroin and cocaine were seized. The raids were carried out in this city's notorious "bad lands"—Montparnasse and Montmartre—as well as in Marseilles and swank Riviera resorts. Incriminating documents and a secret code also were found. Fifty other persons, linked to the illicit trafic which spread like a spider web throughout France, were being hunted.

Leader an Italian-American.

The alleged leader of the gang was identified as an Italian-American named Giuseppe Failla. He was also known as "Big Joe" and "Pepino." According to information here he cleaned up a fortune bootlegging in the United States and came to Paris after the repeal of prohibition.

In his apartment here Failla organized the racket on a trans-Atlantic scale and made trips to New York every three months, smuggling in drugs which were peddled in the United States and Mexico. He was described as successor in the rôle of drug king to René Stefani, notorious Montmartre gangster who was slain in a Paris gang war last winter.

The French Surete Nationale, which has been waging a war against the alarming growth of the drug trafic in France, got on the trail of the gang as a result of a cablegram from New York a few months ago. New York police informed the Surete that they had found about four pounds of heroin in the baggage of John Devine, a Canadian, who tried to smuggle the drug into the United States. They said Devine confessed he had purchased the heroin in a Montmartre dive which he was unable to identify.

Track Down Seller.

Half a dozen crack French operatives began an investigation and eventually tracked down the seller, a burly Frenchman named René Mathiu. They found a list of peddlers in his possession which enabled them to blow the lid off the racket.

Striking in a series of raids the police picked up Failla and a number of his lieutenants, including an American chauffeur named Robert Lord; a Russian named Toulchin; a Belgian, and an Indo-Chinese.

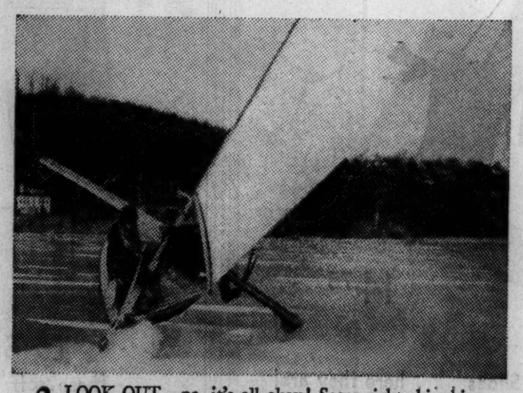
ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

1 JUST BEFORE THE "SHOVE OFF." "Hiking" an ice-boat at 2 miles a minute is a thrilling and chancy sport. Dangerous spins, known as "flickers," can come suddenly, ending in a c-r-a-s-h. First in line is George J. Seger's Alva II. He is Commodore of the Lake Hopatcong (N. J.) Ice Yacht Club . . . has won many titles because of his skill and daring.

2 HERE'S THE ALVA II IN A "HIKE," windward runner high in the air, as Seger races faster than the wind on the starboard tack. "After a strenuous race it is sure swell to let up, light up a Camel," says Commodore Seger.



3 LOOK OUT—no, it's all okay! Seger rights his ship. Ice-boat pilots need the skill and nerves of racing-car drivers. Like those in many other thrilling activities, ice-boat sailors find that Camels never jangle the nerves, Commodore Seger reports. And they're so mild, taste so good!

ICE-BOAT RACER SAYS:

"For smoking pleasure at its best... Let up—Light up a Camel"

4 NOW'S THE TIME for a Camel. The race over, Seger pushes back his goggles, lets up and lights up. "Camels never tire my taste or jangle my nerves," he says. That goes for Frank Rodecker, champion aquaplaner—Marie McMillin, parachute jumper—Ralph Guldahl, U. S. Open golf champion, and millions of other smokers who also appreciate Camel's extra-mild, costlier tobaccos. See if you, too, don't find more true smoking enjoyment, cigarette for cigarette, in mild, fragrant Camels.

SECONDARY ROAD OUTLAY HOLDS UP DEATHPROOF PLAN

Local Highways Get Funds Needed on Trunk Routes.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 12.—[Special.]—The need for more secondary roads in Illinois can not be overlooked in considering a future highway construction policy for the state. Of the 103,300 miles of Illinois roadway, 42,980 miles are of dirt or mud. The primary highway system has 10,350 miles of pavement. The county and township systems have 1,940 miles which have had a high type of surface treatment, and 48,030 miles which were given low type treatment.

That there must be a new road policy for the state was shown in previous articles in this series. A Chicago Motor club analysis found that the past and present trend is vicious, increasing the demands on motorists' taxes and not delivering a maximum in safety and convenience for automobile travel.

[Bills were introduced in the state senate last week providing for a 140 million dollar state road program. Under these proposals 100 million dollars is to be spent on six superhighways in Chicago and Cook county, and 40 millions will be spent on from 10,000 to 20,000 miles of all-weather secondary roads downstate.]

Shows Need of Improvement.

A survey of trafic volumes, made public here today, indicated that two things are of first concern for greater convenience and safety of motor transportation. One is the improvement of city streets, and the other is improvement of a limited mileage of the primary rural system. The study, started in 1936, showed that 60.9 per cent of the automobile travel in Illinois is within city limits. Of the travel outside incorporated areas, 72 per cent is on roads of the primary system, of which 9,650 miles are outside towns and cities.

Of all the travel in Illinois, only 10.9 per cent is on the 93,650 miles of secondary rural roads. Yet, political pressure born of purely local demands has been—and is—a dominating influence in determining the administrative policy which calls for building more highways of secondary trafic importance. This exhausts gasoline tax and license fee revenues sorely needed for making deathproof the highways of first trafic importance.

Pressure Will Continue.

This pressure for secondary roads will continue. No plan for an extensive program for the construction of deathproof highways, as advocated by THE TRIBUNE'S editorial platform for Illinois, can be adopted by the general assembly without giving consideration to a further development of secondary roads. This is the opinion of those acquainted with Illinois politics.

By "farm to market" roads was meant local roads. In reality, of course, the greatest farm to market roads are the main highways to Chicago.

These local roads are of vital interest to the few they serve. To a farm or settlement now lacking an all weather road, they mean an end of isolation during wet weather.

Protests Plan Is Unfair.

The construction of these local roads can be justified by their local social benefits and by their enhancement of local real estate values. To finance such construction from a taxation on automobile travel remote from these roads, however, is of questionable equity.

The Chicago Motor club protests that it is unfair for the Illinois highway department to build local roads from funds intended for and needed by the heavy trafic carriers. The counties receive 1 cent of the motor fuel excise for their road requirements and cities get another penny. The third cent goes to the state department, as does revenue from automobile licenses. Under this arrangement, the secondary roads are getting a third of the gasoline tax revenue although they are accommodating only 10.9 per cent of the motor travel.

In 1932 a legislative commission offered a scheme for secondary road construction based on a finding of facts that have not changed materially since. A political bloc prevented the scheme from being carried out.

Urges Consolidations.

This commission, headed by Representative David Hunter Jr. [R., Rockford], recommended that through referendum elections the administration of secondary roads should be consolidated by counties.

The commission estimated that the merger of the township road districts in each county would end a waste of $6,000,000 a year.

The counties would have $11,000,000 a year for secondary roads from their 1 cent portion of the gasoline tax plus their county road tax and the township road tax. The commission found that township road taxes aggregated $11,200,000, and that county property taxes for roads aggregated $4,200,000 a year. This is a total of $26,400,000 for local roads.

"This," said George W. Barton, engineer for the motor club, "seems to be the best way to take care of the secondary roads."

Where Gas Tax Dollar Is Collected

(Story in adjoining column.)

The Illinois gasoline tax dollar is collected as illustrated by this diagram. It is distributed equally between state, counties, and cities (1 cent to each). Secondary highway building exhausts the revenues needed for deathproof highways.

TWO BOYS BADLY INJURED BY HIT AND RUN AUTO

Two small boys were struck and seriously injured by a hit and run automobile in 18th street, about 200 feet east of the Chicago river, last night. They were found unconscious on the street by a passing motorist, John Lukina, 934 West 19th street, who took them to the County hospital.

The boys were Adolph Vazgird, 13 years old, 723 West 21st street, and John Meyers, 10, of 1829 South Peoria street. Adolph suffered internal injuries and John a possible skull fracture. During a moment of consciousness, John told police a speeding motorist had run them down.

Anton Eschert, 65 years old, was seriously injured last night when he was struck by a hit and run automobile and hurled under the wheels of another car at Hermitage avenue and Irving Park road. Lionel Collester, 3329 Collom avenue, was the second motorist. He took Eschert to the Martha Washington hospital. Collester told North Damen avenue police that he was going west in Irving Park road when he saw Eschert hit by an east bound machine, which failed to stop. Collester was unable to stop his car before its wheels passed over the victim.

An unidentified man about 45 years old was critically injured yesterday when he was struck by the automobile of a hit-and-run driver at Illinois and Clark streets. The victim was taken to the Henrotin hospital.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 172 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 137 were killed in Chicago, where 3,467 were injured in the same period.

PRE-MARRIAGE EXAMINATIONS

With separate departments for men and women, the Public Health Institute is especially well fitted to make the medical tests which the law requires every couple to have before a marriage license can be obtained. A thorough physical examination, including all necessary laboratory tests, costs $3.00 per person. Those examined before 2 P.M. (at 159 or 169 N. Dearborn St.) can have certificates same day.

TRAGEDY

is almost sure to result when syphilis or gonorrhea is neglected or improperly treated, so see a skilled doctor or this clinic at once!

AN early death! Insanity, blindness, paralysis or crippling arthritis! A defective baby or a childless home! These are some of the tragedies that may easily occur when a venereal disease is neglected or improperly treated!

Therefore, never neglect a venereal infection or attempt to treat it yourself. Self treatment is especially reckless because you have absolutely no way of knowing if you are cured. Only a physician, with his scientific tests of cure, is in a position to determine if your system is free from germs!

Unless you are sure of a cure, complications of an appalling nature may strike when you least expect them. Syphilis, for example, may lead to heart disease, blindness, deafness, paralysis and even insanity, and gonorrhea to a sight-destroying eye infection, sterility, stricture, arthritis, or serious prostate, bladder, kidney and other troubles. Furthermore, syphilis is an outstanding cause of dead, deformed and feeble-minded babies, while gonorrhea often condemns women to mutilating operations that make having children impossible!

Obtain tests of cure!

Thus you can see how important it is to have reliable medical treatment followed by dependable tests of cure. Such treatment and tests can be had from any competent private doctor, or you can get them inexpensively at the Public Health Institute.

The physicians of the Institute are unusually painstaking in their tests of cure. Syphilis patients receive three different types of blood tests, as well as spinal fluid examinations when necessary, while gonorrhea patients get repeated microscopic smears. In addition, searching physical examinations are made to rule out other evidences of infection.

Having given over 5,000,000 examinations and treatments for syphilis and gonorrhea, the Public Health Institute is qualified to render a medical service of the finest possible type. Even the wealthy can't command more expert venereal disease treatment than that which the Institute provides at low cost!

No one is turned away!

Because the Public Health Institute was organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, it is able to provide specialized venereal disease treatment at charges to fit the smallest income. The cost of a physical examination for syphilis and gonorrhea, including blood tests, urinalysis and microscopic smears, is surprisingly moderate, while individual treatments are available at fees so low that any employed person can readily pay them.

Nor does the Public Health Institute stop there in its efforts to make dependable venereal disease attention available to the entire community. Even persons who are temporarily short of money can make arrangements to be treated!

LET IT LAPSE.

Among the discretionary powers conferred upon the President "for the period of the emergency" was the control over the gold content of the dollar. This was a delegation of authority which no previous President had received. It had always been assumed that when any change in our money was made congress had to authorize it specifically under the provisions of section VIII. of article I. of the constitution, which provides that "The congress shall have the power—5. To coin money, regulate the value thereof and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures."

Despite this constitutional provision and long respected precedent the President was voted power by the gold standard act of 1934 to establish until Jan. 30, 1936, the gold content of the dollar at any figure he desired so long as it was not less than 50 per cent nor more than 60 per cent of its former weight. Subsequently he obtained an extension of his discretionary power until June 30, 1939. He now asks congress to extend this delegated power for an additional period.

If there was ever a justification for the delegation by congress of its constitutional function to regulate money it no longer exists. In 1933 experiments which bordered on the reckless were being advocated. Late in that year two professors convinced the President that the rubber dollar was the thing. He was led to believe that if he could change the gold content of the dollar at will he could move the general commodity price level up or down like an elevator. Congress quickly acquiesced.

Having obtained the power, the President did not delay putting the rubber dollar idea to work. Bits of our standard money were whacked off from time to time by presidential proclamation. Eventually all but 59 per cent was taken off. But commodity prices did not rise as claimed. The President has admitted that the rubber dollar was a mistake. He has, however, clung tenaciously to the power he acquired for the experiment.

It is now claimed that the power in the President's hands to change the gold content in the dollar from day to day is a valuable weapon which might be used to check an undue rise in the foreign exchange value of the dollar. If this is a desirable objective, the administration possesses in another section of the gold standard act of 1934 ample power for the purpose. Section 8 of the 1934 gold reserve act, which has no expiration date, authorizes the secretary of the treasury with the approval of the President to "purchase gold in any amounts at home or abroad, with any direct obligations, coin or currency of the United States—upon such terms and conditions as he may deem most advantageous to the public interest."

From our elementary course in economics we recall that the price of sterling is the relationship of the gold content of the pound and the dollar. If gold is $20 an ounce, then a dollar contains 1-20 of an ounce of the metal. If it is $35 an ounce, a dollar is 1-35 of an ounce. If the British should drive the pound down, and this should actually be found to be disadvantageous to the people of the United States, this could be immediately offset by raising the price of gold. If the President needs a tool to keep the British or French from paying too high a price for our goods he has it in the permanent provisions of the gold reserve act.

No domestic purposes call for a continuation of the power to change the dollar by proclamation. For the gold content under our present arrangement is a fiction. No one is permitted to get the gold back of his buck whether it is sixty cents or a dime less. What the present arrangement amounts to is that down in Kentucky, protected by thick walls and guarded by the army, there is a certain amount of gold back of each dollar. The President can increase the theoretical backing for the dollar tomorrow and reduce it the next day. That kind of rigmarole can have no effect upon either domestic or foreign prices. This President's discretionary power to jiggle the size of the dollar should be allowed to lapse.

MONUMENTS ENOUGH FOR MR. NORRIS.

During the debate on the airplane appropriation in the armament program Senator George Norris of Nebraska proposed that the senate's munitions committee be revived to investigate profits in airplane manufacturing. Pyramids built to perpetuate the memory of Mr. Norris as America's Lenin are in the valley of the Tennessee. These monuments to his socialist theories should satisfy any man's ambition. Mr. Norris should not find it difficult to abstain from spreading himself into other industries and other regions. He has had a full career. He has played with a great region and a great industry. He has been given all the money he needed to build these works. He disorganized a business which might have played a major part in recovery, and he should be content.

His proposal to set the governmental dogs on the airplane industry at a time when even the New Deal is asking it to produce marvels was intended to sabotage this new and adventurous enterprise when it is exhibiting all of the best in American boldness of plan and ingenuity of execution.

Aviation is the livest thing in American activity today. It has taken several socks from the government, one in the cancellation of the air mail contracts, which made a scandal, and another in the order from Mr. Roosevelt which required a test of the Douglas bomber for French inspection and in the crash which followed took that type off the American military list for this year.

It has been apparently difficult for the government to keep its hands off the most flourishing of new American industries, which is meeting every challenge from abroad because so long as it is free it will attract the most adventurous genius of the country. Mr. Norris knows what the socialist premier Blum of France did to French aviation and air defense by ordering the nationalization of many of the firms and the communist sabotage of production. That is why French buyers are in the American market and why France is looking for help it cannot supply itself. Mr. Norris has done enough injury in the Tennessee valley. His monuments there should content him.

MILK PRICES BY LAW.

The annual report of the Borden company, published a few days ago, deserves study by every one who is concerned with the dairy business as producer or consumer. Legislators in Illinois and other states, who are being asked to "rescue the dairy industry" through laws regulating the price of milk, would also do well to examine the report with care.

The theory of these laws is alluring. Milk will be sold [so it is always explained] at a price which will allow a fair return to farmers, a fair wage to employés of the dairy companies, and a fair profit to everybody else concerned. This sounds simple, easy, and just; but, as Mr. Theodore Montague, president of the Borden company, shows, the laws seldom work as expected.

Practically speaking, price fixing schemes are almost invariably higher price fixing schemes. Otherwise they would not be enacted. Higher prices mean lessened consumption and increased production, and it is for that reason that prices imposed by government never achieve the expected result of stabilizing an industry. Instead they promote unsalable surplus stocks, chaotic markets, and, as Mr. Montague says, bootlegging.

So far as milk is concerned price fixing is a peculiarly vicious device because of conditions more or less peculiar to the industry. Dairy farmers get their best price for so-called fluid milk, by which is meant the fresh milk which is bottled and sold to consumers in that form. The farmers generally get a lower price for the rest, which is used in making butter or ice cream, or is processed into canned or powdered milk.

If the price of fresh milk is raised too far out of line with canned and powdered milk, the demand for fresh milk goes down, the cost of manufacturing the substitutes drops, and the demand for the cheaper substitutes rises. Most people prefer fresh milk if they can afford it, but for almost every purpose the canned and powdered varieties are just as nutritious, just as tasty, and at least as wholesome.

The farmers who are remote from the big consuming centers are obliged to sell most of the milk they produce to processors. The dairy farmers close to the cities have a natural advantage; they can get the higher price which fluid milk commands. The advantage is an important one even though it is somewhat lessened by the higher costs imposed by metropolitan sanitary requirements. The advantage disappears, however, once the price of milk to consumers is advanced to the point where the competition of processed milk begins to be stimulated.

This is very serious competition, indeed, both for the present and the future. The nation's consumption of fluid milk declined sharply from 1929 to 1934, despite the growth in population; and in 1937, though there had been some recovery from the depression lows, the sale of fresh milk was still well below the 1925 level. In contrast, the consumption of evaporated milks has been rising since 1925. With only one or two exceptions, each year has seen a larger sale of the substitutes than the year before.

Each year customers are learning to use the processed milks and many of these customers are entirely satisfied. If measures are adopted to raise the price of fluid milk the dairy farmers will drive more and more of their better customers to experiment with the cheaper substitutes and many households will never again be buyers of fresh milk.

Dairy farmers are not overpaid today. Their business is an exacting one, calling for hard work, long hours, careful management, and painstaking adherence to sanitary regulations. Everybody would like to see these men earn a fair return on their labor and investment, but no one who is really a friend of the dairy farmers will indorse laws establishing price fixing in the industry. Such laws can only make matters worse.

WISCONSIN IN THE LEAD.

The lower house of the Wisconsin legislature has voted for the abolition of the Wisconsin Development authority, popularly known as the Little TVA. A motion to reconsider has been defeated. The repeal bill is now before the senate, which is expected to approve the action of the house.

The authority was created under the La Follette administration as an agency for the promotion of state socialism and socialistic enterprises. The Socialists in their attempt to prevent the repeal trotted out all their old slogans and mustered all their appeals to prejudice. Accordingly, much was heard about the power trust and Wall street. The farmers were pictured as insistent upon the continuance of the WDA as an aid to the cooperatives.

These tricks failed. The legislature clearly reflected the determination of the people of Wisconsin to save themselves the cost and the waste involved in experiments in government ownership and management.

Wisconsin led the nation into socialism. The news from Madison suggests that Wisconsin may now be leading the country out. There are those who say that the whole world is going totalitarian and that it is futile to resist the trend. The action of the Wisconsin legislature is reassuring. It shows that the trend is actually in the other direction. The people voted for the liquidation of the WDA and the legislature is only carrying out the mandate it received.

A little girl had been to church for the first time. When she returned home her mother asked her what she thought of church.

"I like it very much," she said, "but there was one thing I didn't think was fair."

"What was that, dear?" asked her mother.

"Why, one man did all the work and then another man came around and got all the money."

WHEN MOTHER READ TO US.

How eagerly we girls would after supper do
The dishes! As we hung the towels, our father threw
Some coal into the stove. Then he would set the lamp
Just so upon the table; slowly spread his stamp
Collection at one end; while with the borrowed book
Our mother took her place. She'd cast a gentle look Around at us who gravely sat with lace or doll,
And grandma with the baby; for we were quite small.

Now she began to read; and from her lips would roll
Such noble words as sing and echo in the soul.
Her country's famous epics, lyrics, mother read,
And novels based on history.

Still through my head
There sound long passages of verse; sometimes I hear:
"Three lovely daughters dwelt we with our mother dear,"
Or: "When the king went forth to war"; "Youth, give me wings!"
"My brother, do you know our rivers and our springs?"
"Oh land of mine! You are like health: he only knows
"How precious, who has lost you." Such books mother chose.

Yes, thus it was, before the days of radio,
The movies and the flivver (not so long ago),
We spent our evenings. Once father smiling spoke:
"Perhaps this story is beyond the little folk."
And mother answered: "Maybe so, but still I hold
Some good must come of hearing great thoughts nobly told."

Concerning a Dachshund Named Herman.

Tonight no stars shine down on the small handful of snow white cinders in the midst of a lonely field—all that remains of a coat that gleamed like black satin; gentle paws the warm tan of old fashioned mink; eyes [only a dachshund has them] that were a blend of the mournful and mischievous; long, soft ears that flew back when the little figure skittered across that same field on a happier day; affectionate nose of ice cold black onyx; and eager head that instantly cocked to the side whenever any one said, "Hungry? Is it a hungry bunny?"

The house is strangely quiet. [No stars shine down here, either.] No dark flash against the carpet as he stealthily conveyed some stolen treasure from the waste basket to his own private corner.

Wherever he is tonight, is there some one who knows his name is Herman? That he likes pineapple mixed with his fish? That even if he growls and shows his teeth when it's time for his early morning walk, he's really a good little dog at heart? Is there? Then God love him. That's all I ask.

How These Novelists Eat and Drink!

Reggie Fortune, a fat and swanky detective of English murder mystery stories, gave a dinner for three, stag. Here is how it leaped from course to course:

French ham, clear turtle soup, red mullet, "a richness of sweatbreads," duck and a cheese soufflé.

They drank sherry before dinner, Montrachet with the fish, Clos de Vougeot with the duck, and Richebourg, '98, with the soufflé.

After dinner they sipped Marc, which Reggie favored instead of brandy. [It is a distillate of the skins and refuse of Burgundy grapes after the wine pressing; it tastes like old brick bats; and surpasses brandy as a high explosive.]

MY LOVE IS DEAD.

(Dedicated to Mrs. Clarence Darrow on the first anniversary of her husband's death.)

My love is dead; and I am like a tree
Stripped of its verdure; standing bleak and drear
Upon a hillside where chill winds blow free;
Looking upon a world that has no cheer.
Love, fragile as the rustle of small leaves,
And warm as summer's sun at noon-day heat,
Unknowing, heedless of a heart that grieves,
Lies shrouded in a wint'ry winding-sheet.
How, thus denuded, cold and winter-tossed,
Can I believe that spring's sweet sap shall run
Or that a flame long quenched, a passion lost,
Can spring to being 'neath a kinder sun;
That when the world is fair and warm with rain,
This which is dead may truly live again?

PROGRESS IN THE RELIEF OF DEMENTIA PRECOX.

THE cause of most forms of mental disease is still shrouded in mystery. Nevertheless—while progress is slow—many unfortunates have been saved to society through a humane type of management which includes building physical reserve to a high level, modifying the environment, and freeing the sufferer from fears and worries.

The malady known as dementia precox—which all too often clouds the intelligence of youthful minds—has received much attention in late years. It was believed at one time that if the patient could be given enough sedatives [within the limits of safety] to produce unconsciousness—which could be maintained for a few days or even weeks—on awakening, he would emerge from foggy thinking into figurative sunlight. While some improvement occurred in a few instances its continuance was not justified.

Then came the suggestion of Meduna of Budapest that if these patients could be exposed to a severe nervous shock—brought about by drugs—they would regain consciousness clear and lucid mentally. While at first blush this seemed to imply a rather cruel procedure, yet with careful nursing and constant observation there appeared to be no danger. It was argued that most of these individuals—if allowed to drift—would deteriorate steadily and that with artificially induced convulsions some restoration might follow.

The drug, camphor, was first employed. This was soon replaced, however, with a compound known as metrazol, chemically called pentamethylenetetrazol. In his first twenty-six cases, Meduna reported ten recoveries and three greatly aided. The remainder seemed to be uninfluenced—favorably or unfavorably. His present group includes 101 patients with forty-one rehabilitated.

Any one faced with this distressing affliction may well look with favor upon a plan which carries a 40 per cent chance for relief, and world medicine owes much to this investigation, as heretofore no measure has been even reasonably successful.

Another regimen—namely, plunging the victim into shock by means of insulin, has been tried rather widely. A British comment on this remedy indicates that eight out of ten cases [of less than six months' duration] got well, although slightly less than 40 per cent of twenty-three subjects of longer standing were helped. It may be said, however, that this process is not so certain as the use of metrazol and not nearly as safe. Hence the latter has come to be the one of choice and recovered cases so far known in the United States number several hundred.

Before attempting the shock treatment, a complete physical examination is given to rule out any heart or kidney complication. A program of alkalinization is then begun, which is kept up for a few days, whereupon the initial dose of the drug is administered. Two treatments are given each week. Within a few seconds after the injection has been completed the spasm develops. Soon thereafter the patient sinks into a deep sleep which lasts for from five to twenty minutes and within an hour resumes his former state.

In a series of fifty cases coming from one of our mental hospitals no complications were noted and twenty-seven of these persons showed marked gain. Sixteen have been pronounced entirely well, with no mental quirks remaining. Some of the histories are so startling that did not the article bear the stamp of a reliable institution one might question its accuracy.

Because of the relatively recent inauguration of the treatment we must withhold judgment until more time has elapsed. It should be said, however, that a few of the so-called "cures" may have relapses, but in the great majority a second or third course will again bring a return to normal. It has been learned that those who have existed in a psychotic state for over four years are less likely to be benefited.

MUCUS IN STOOLS.

Mrs. R. writes: About a month ago our 1 year old baby had nasal catarrh. She is well now, but I notice mucus in her stools.

1. What would cause this?
2. When should I start brushing her teeth?

REPLY.

1. This is probably swallowed material from her sinuses.
2. After all the milk teeth [20] have appeared, provide the tot with a very soft brush and teach her to use an up and down motion inside and out. Bits of clean cotton or gauze may be substituted.

MAY BE ANEMIA.

E. M. B. writes: My 15 year old daughter suffers from poor circulation. If her skin is pressed the blood doesn't come back for half a minute.

REPLY.

Something depends on how hard you press. Ordinarily the blood should return in from five to eight seconds. Anemia may be the cause. A careful checkup by your physician is suggested.

VEGETARIANISM AND MENTALITY.

R. writes: What is the effect of vegetarianism on mentality?

REPLY.

None, if the menu is balanced—proper proportions of proteins, carbohydrates, and fats. Some of us have wondered whether the acid pen of George Bernard Shaw is due to his reported vegetarianism or to the "nature of the beast." After a broiled, tender steak he would probably purr.

IT ISN'T NORMAL.

K. writes: Does everybody have some sugar and albumen in the urine?

REPLY.

No. When either is found it must be looked upon as abnormal.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY ARTHUR SCHOLES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONGKONG.—With warfare in China more or less at a standstill for the past two months, it is possible to review the situation in South China from a different viewpoint.

It is more than three months since the Japanese took Canton, yet the trade slump then predicted still has not been experienced in this British colony. It is apparent to the observer, however, that the boom days of Hongkong are, for the time being at least, a thing of the past.

Hotels, clubs and restaurants, the favorite meeting places of Europeans and Chinese to conduct business, no longer offer the intriguing air of mystery with which they were shrouded. One Hongkong hotel, the chief rendezvous of international arms agents, Chinese purchasing agents and a host of other characters who assemble to make profit out of war, once more is gaining a solid atmosphere. The open spaces in the suburban areas, once the parking space for hundreds of trucks and other equipment to be driven through to China, again are vacant and "to let" signs are reappearing.

On the other hand, Kowloon docks, where the ocean liners berth, are busier than ever handling the same passenger trafic, and increased transshipment cargoes for French Indo-China, Bangkok and Rangoon—any port, in fact, through which goods may be dispatched to the Chinese government.

Most hard hit by the fall of Canton have been the natives of Hongkong, the Chinese population of the colony, now being estimated at least 2,000,000. To them rents are sky high, food prices far beyond their reach, accommodations scarce, and the danger of infection from the thousand and one diseases of the east increased enormously.

Crime has—as always in times of hardship—increased to the point where European women find it dangerous to walk in the streets at night unaccompanied. Assaults on European women by organized footpads, holdups by armed thugs, the stealing of parked cars are matters of almost daily report to the police.

Added to the crime increase has been the menace afforded by 100 Chinese soldiers who escaped down a tunnel from their internment camp. Much of the crime has been attributed to their organization.

When the Japanese first threatened Canton, many Chinese residents here bought large quantities of rice, only to discover that a bag of rice lasts a long time and the climate makes it mouldy. These people now are prepared to agree that no food is imperishable unless it be salt fish.

In its review of the defense plans prepared by the Hongkong government, great attention has been paid to the food problem. It is generally agreed that the better plan is for the government to encourage the maintenance of large wholesale stocks and to discourage private hoarding.

The food problem is so formidable that it cannot be solved indefinitly by individual effort. In any long siege or war at the colony's door, it is realized that people must rely on the government.

Traders here find consolation in the fact that Hongkong cannot be involved in a war unless it be a world war, in which case, they believe their investments here will be as safe as anywhere.

Business men in Hongkong, Chinese and foreign, find their quickest way out of the present dilemma is not to worry about it, especially since scare promotes liquidation and in a wave of buying and selling, all lose.

It is contended that though the Pearl river may be closed, Kwangtung province, half occupied by the Japanese, and other ports threatened, the local situation hardly justifies any fear of war. Meanwhile local assets are good, the currency firm, and to "hold on" probably will be more profitable to foreign companies than to "get out."

MORTGAGE RENEWAL.

Chicago, March 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—On renewing a mortgage for the same people, and the same amount, same interest, my brother just got extension notes for five years.

1. Is that all that is necessary? There were no new mortgage papers made out or notary seal.

The time for expiration has not been changed on [2] the large paper only on the extension notes, which are dated, and the other party has signed them for the next five years. Is this legal?

3. Is a mortgage only on the house? Does it include the land? E. S.

1. If your brother is the debtor he should have in addition an extension agreement so as to make clear that the creditor is not entitled to foreclose during the extension period. If your brother is the creditor then the notes are sufficient for his purposes providing he satisfies the new limitation periods. Ordinarily an extension agreement is signed on a printed form which can be obtained from a stationer, and under the new statute this should be recorded.

2. There should be no alteration on the face of any of the papers. It is not clear what you mean by "the large paper." You might mean the trust deed or an extension agreement.

3. If you read it, we believe you will find that it describes the land. Its effect would depend on its wording.

▲ 1935 amendment of the limitations act says that "extension agreements shall be . . . recorded" and "any such extension agreement hereafter recorded . . . shall continue the lien . . . for a period of ten years" from the extension due date. This implies, but does not state, that if the extension is not recorded the lien will be shorter lived. Presumably the purpose of the statute is to protect purchasers of real estate in ignoring future unrecorded extensions and in relying on the general ten year limitation act, operating from 1935. As to past liens, a 20 year limitation period is to go into effect July 1, 1940.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

LEGALITY OF WILL.

Chicago, March 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If one writes down on any kind of paper a will and has two witnesses will it stand good after death?

2. Can a husband break it?

3. How long after a death can one take the things? G.

1. Yes, if the other statutory formalities are complied with.

2. Not on the bare facts stated, but if the will is of such a nature as to give him a motive for contest, that is a reason for employing an attorney in the drafting and execution of the will.

3. Ordinarily there is no distribution until the expiration of the year allowed for creditors to file their claims, which year runs from the commencement of probate proceedings.

MONDAY FOR HOLIDAYS.

Chicago, March 10.—There is a general satisfaction when national holidays fall on Monday. This was evidenced last year, when Decoration day, Fourth of July, Christmas and New Year's day all were celebrated on this day of the week. It is further demonstrated by the universal popularity of the Labor day date, which is fixed as a Monday holiday.

This suggests the desirability of changing two of our great national holidays to permanent Monday dates. Decoration day could well be observed on the last Monday in May, and Thanksgiving day on the last Monday in November, without in any way affecting the spirit of either day.

The advent of the five day week in industry permits a three day week-end on all Monday holidays, with better and more enjoyable observance and satisfaction to all concerned. Such week-ends make possible those journeys back home, so desirable on Thanksgiving and Decoration days, to visit the old folks, living or dead.

This change should be welcomed by industry and employers generally. Monday holidays are less disturbing to business routine than those in the middle of the week, which largely determined the choice of Monday when Labor day was made a national holiday.

PREPARATION FOR WAR.

Chicago, March 10.—The senate passed the administration's $358,000,000 army expansion bill March 7, 1939, by a vote of 77 to 8.

Being a member of the Past Commanders' club, a social organization of past commanders of the American Legion, I receive a monthly paper called The Gavel. In the March issue of the Gavel the following appears under the caption, "World War Facts."

"In the war of 1914-1918 throughout the world there were 74 million men mobilized, 10 million killed, 3 million missing, 19 million wounded, 10 million disabled, 7 million prisoners, 9 million orphans, 5 million widows, 10 million men, women, and children were forced to flee from their homes, 6,400 men were killed daily, and this went on for 1,558 days."

If Uncle Sam is preparing for war, let the voters take the above to the polling place with them when they vote on the referendum.

FRED L. BOISSY.

THE APRIL ELECTION.

Chicago, March 8.—We have had a New Deal congress for eight years, exactly as long as the depression has lasted. We are going to have a New Deal congress for two more years, or until 1941.

All we have to live on for the next two years is the hope that we shall have a Republican congress two years from now. So this hope should be a first class hope.

What will make this hope one that will help pull the country out of the depression is a revival of Republicanism in Chicago in the April election.

If we can defeat the Democratic machine here in April there is nothing that can stop return of sane government to power in the state and the nation in 1940.

As Chicago goes in April so will go the state in 1940, and as the state goes so will go the nation.

Consequently this battle in April is not just a fight to see whether Kelly or Green is elected mayor of Chicago. It is the crucial battle in the struggle to overthrow the forces of disintegration which have been wrecking this country for the last eight years.

TREELESS HIGHWAYS.

Chicago, March 10.—The picture in today's TRIBUNE of one of the Hitler highways shows the absence of tree planting in the space between the two lanes. This is entirely commendable and should be brought to the attention of the Illinois highway commission. The trees are dangerous to the motorist whose car swerves into the planted area.

POLES AT ARCHANGEL.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 9.—I was very much interested in the article entitled "Tragedy at Archangel!" by Guy Murchie Jr., which appeared in your Graphic section of Feb. 26. The map which accompanied the article was excellent.

Having spent a couple of years in that locality, and having been stationed in 1919 at Murmansk with my wife and children, I appreciate the hardships which the allies had to endure. However, from your article it would appear that only the Americans, English, and French were stationed in that territory. As a former president of the Polish Murmansk association [composed of Polish fighters], I feel it my duty to call to your attention that the Italians, Poles, and Jugo-Slavs also were there. Many Poles from Siberia and southern Russia, as former prisoners of the central powers, had to smuggle themselves across the continent. They traveled under cover, inasmuch as they were considered by the bolsheviks as counter-revolutionists. They took active part in the battles against the bolsheviks at Bereznik and especially at Obozerskaya.

During this time there were many amusing incidents. At one time the right to date a certain girl was determined between a Polish and an American soldier by a fist fight, in which other soldiers joined.

On this little known topic there is a splendid book entitled "Kon na Wzgórze" [Horse on a Hill], written by Eugenjusz Malaczewski, giving a complete picture of what occurred in the Archangel territory from 1918 to 1920.

HEB HAT'S IN THE RING.

Levering, Mich., March 10.—Why not make a change and vote for me for President? I was born in Forestville, Wis., on a farm. I stayed there thirteen years and then went to Milwaukee to work. I worked nine years in Milwaukee and in Chicago twenty-nine years. I have been in Levering on a farm for eight years and will soon be 60 years old. Farm life is getting too hard for me. I have no horses. I was the horse, man, and cook. The year 1938 was good. I had a place to sleep, something to eat, and 5 cents a day. I am lucky that I've still got clothes left from Chicago that I bought in 1929—before I lost all my money in Chicago. And I will promise you voters I will work for you for a place to sleep, something to eat, and 5 cents a day. Clothes you will not have to buy me. Mine will be all right for the time I am President.

PAULINA RASMUSSEN.

WHEN CASH IS SCARCE.

Chicago, March 7.—A much better way than that suggested by H. C. M. to insure prompt payment of the automobile licenses is to change the payment date from January to May. At the beginning of the year the automobilist is beset with high living expenses, which often make it quite difficult for him to find the money for new licenses.

S. Shore Club's Follies to Be a Dress Rehersal

BY JUDITH CASS.

WHEN the curtain goes up April 14 on the first of two performances of the South Shore Country club's annual "Spring Follies" the audience will be surprised. Because club members' interest in the show always has brought out a large crowd on dress rehersal nights, this spring's show is to be just that—a dress rehersal.

The players will have their backs to the audience and will go through their routines as if no audience were there. Naturally there will be plenty of amusing burlesques of accidents that happen in any show before it faces the footlights.

Even with a "dress rehersal" show, there still is bound to be a dress rehersal night, with the usual numbers of curious members hanging about. It is unlikely, however, that Fred Herendeen, author of the book, had any ulterior motive in writing it this way, for he is one of the most congenial and popular members of the Follies staf, and really wouldn't want to deprive any one of a preview of the performances.

The show is to be costumed from the wardrobe of the Chicago City Opera company. There will be no intermission in the program of skits and dances so that the dance following each night, April 14 and 15, may start earlier.

On the committee for the follies are Mrs. William B. Lowry, Mrs. Paul M. Flagg, Mrs. Dennett D. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin K. Brown, and James C. Thompson.

Wilson-Lynde Wedding Scheduled for April 11.

Miss Eleanor Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Karl Wilson of Winnetka, and Samuel Adams Lynde II., son of Cornelius Lynde, have decided upon April 11 as the date of their marriage. The ceremony will take place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends.

Mrs. Roger Sherman [Leslie Wilson] will be the matron of honor for her sister, and Miss Olivia Little, a cousin of the bride, will be maid of honor. The list of ushers has not been completed.

Among the many parties planned for Miss Wilson and Mr. Sherman is a dance that Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Little will give for their niece at home in Evanston on April 8. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will give the bridal dinner at home on April 10.

Ruth Harvey Faces Busy Prenuptial Week.

Mrs. Corwith Davis of Jacksonville, Fla., the former Cornelia Fabian of Evanston, and Mrs. James S. Clark III. of Louisville, Ky., are arriving tomorrow for the last of the prenuptial parties involving Miss Ruth Harvey and Westray Battle Hazzard, who are to be married next Saturday. Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Edward M. Tourtelot Jr. are to be bridesmaids for Miss Harvey, whose sister, Miss Helen Harvey, is to be the maid of honor.

Mrs. Tourtelot and her mother, Mrs. Chester Tripp, are entertaining at a tea and "surprise" shower —at least to the bride—tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Davis' mother, Mrs. Francis Fabian, is giving a luncheon and bridge party on Thursday for Miss Harvey.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Mills are entertaining at a buffet supper Wednesday night. Miss Harvey's parents, the Arlington Harveys, will give the bridal dinner at home on Friday night. The reception following the wedding, Saturday afternoon in the chapel of the First Methodist church of Evanston, also will be given in the Harvey home. Mrs. Harvey is planning a luncheon on Saturday for the out-of-town guests, who will include Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lea Doud and Miss Harriet Doud of Columbus, O., old family friends.

Mr. Hazzard's ushers will include Jeffrey R. Short Jr., Charles M. Fuller, who is engaged to be married to Miss Dorothy Wilder; and Douglas Leffingwell. The best man will be Mr. Hazzard's younger brother, James Hazzard of Georgetown, S. C.

Mrs. Herbert Butz to Give Party for Nancy Brown.

Mrs. Herbert Butz will entertain at a luncheon and kitchen shower on Wednesday for Miss Nancy Brown. Other parties for Miss Brown and her fiancé, Clarence B. Jones, are being postponed until nearer the date of their marriage, April 22.

The marriage of Miss Joan Adele McAdams, daughter of Mrs. Marguerite Bowman McAdams of Winnetka and William Douglas McAdams of New York, to John Kehoe Byrne Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kehoe Byrne of North Dearborn parkway, will take place at the home of the bride's mother on Saturday night. A reception will follow. The bride's two sisters, the Misses Marylynne and Marguerite, will be her only attendants. Robert M. Byrne will be best man for his brother. Mr. Byrne and his bride will make their home on the near north side.

The marriage of Miss Mary Lois McMullen, daughter of Mrs. Frederic Bogart McMullen of Scarsdale, N. Y., formerly of Evanston, to Alexander Crane Burgess, son of Mrs. Thomas F. Burgess of Scarsdale and the late

"I s'pect Ferdinand the Bull will have to fight yet, even if he doesn't want to."

A butler, a footman in livery served luncheon, which consisted of canned corned beef hash and canned peaches.

Exchange.

A Chicago mail order house received the following letter from a customer:

On Jan. 9 you sent me a wedding ring and a credit slip for $1.05. The ring came too late for the wedding, as I was married on Jan. 7. I have never used the ring and it has never been out of the box. I was wondering if I returned the ring and the credit slip for $1.05, you would send me a set of boxing gloves and a punching bag in exchange.

BY CECIL SMITH.

In his first important essay in playwriting, Sinclair Lewis presents with spasmodic literary brilliance and unfailing directness of speech some of the problems arising from the marriage of a couple separated in age by 29 years. "Angela Is Twenty-Two" is an indecisive drama, in that the author never seems quite sure whether he has a serious matter on his hands or not. Much of the time comedy runs high, and the audience has a glorious time over some of Mr. Lewis' best sallies. Yet there is an undercurrent of genuine contemplation about it all. It is as if, perhaps, the author saw the mirror of himself and his own generation in 51 year old Dr. Jerrett, and realized with a pang that middle age is not a period of life to be approached with uncontroled levity.

At any rate, the mood of "Angela Is Twenty-Two" covers a rather wide range. For this reason, the play has been subject to almost constant rewriting, pruning and reshaping in its eleven weeks of touring. The finish, in which Dr. Jerrett and his young wife are reconciled after a period of considerable strain, is the diametric opposite of the conclusion Mr. Lewis first wrote. Yet in the present—and, perhaps, final—version, the play is an extremely reasonable and continuous entity. The audience response was hearty last night, and Mr. Lewis' salty prose is bound to attract widespread interest for many weeks to come.

The crucial characterization of the drama, that of Dr. Jerrett, rests in the hands of Philip Merivale, who took the rôle over from the author himself in the course of the road tour. With immaculate taste and economical craft he excludes any possible touch of the grotesque from a character who is first required to scoff at the possibility of successful marriage between partners more than twelve years apart, and then later to turn his back upon his own dictum. Indeed, I suspect that the present happy ending was written in because no audience would care to believe that so attractive and self-contained a person as Mr. Merivale could ultimately fail to solve his domestic difficulty.

Flora Campbell, as the 22 year old girl Mr. Merivale finds so irresistible, is in very fact irresistible. Perhaps a few vocal mannerisms hint at her relative newness to the professional stage. But the exquisite loveliness of her person, the vibrant warmth with which she shows her ripening love, and the intuitive honesty with which she allows her girlhood grow into half-dissatisfied womanhood as the play progresses all reveal her as a splendidly talented young actress. She is one of the real finds of the season.

Both Mr. Merivale and Miss Campbell keep the play on an even keel, pushing their parts through in an unwavering line from start to finish. Against the lives of these solidly drawn people impinge those of three men and a woman, all drawn with the startling verisimilitude to which we are accustomed in Mr. Lewis' novels. Barry Sullivan gives a heated candor to the young zealot of a biochemist who is unable to win Angela's temporarily wavering love. Richard Kendrick, as a playboy of uncertain morals, turns on a high voltage charm that is wholly genuine, and sometimes gets an amusing Fred Allen inflection into his speech. Mary Howe, as the playboy's liquor soused wife, and Royal Beal, as a nuisance of an incorrigible bachelor, also add distinction to a satisfying cast.

Rayner Rises to His Best in Rodolfo Role

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Sidney Rayner, American tenor, quite outdid himself last night in the San Carlo Opera company's mounting of Puccini's "La Bohême" at the Auditorium. Stepping in on short notice after it became apparent that Dimitri Onofrei's illness would not permit him to sing, Mr. Rayner brought to the rôle of Rodolfo a warmth of voice and a beauty of style for which this column has never given him sufficient credit.

In this lyric rôle his sixty mile voice was driven at a conservative thirty. Hence the ease and conviction of the performance. Mr. Rayner's misfortune is that he has been assigned too many seventy mile parts here and that he has been compelled to overreach himself in trying to cope with their demands.

Bianca Saroya movingly projected the pathos of Mimi, glorifying the part with the Saroya sincerity and with the great white solemn Saroya voice. Leola Turner was vocally agile and histrionically pert as Musetta.

It is safe to put your all into a song if that all is a disciplined, discriminating all. With Maria Kurenko it is, and the famous Russian soprano proved in her Civic theater recital of yesterday afternoon that the complete identification of a singer with her song automatically creates the proper nuances of color, tempo, and accent. Her eighteenth century music was as convincing as her Faure and Debussy, her Massenet as finely styled as her folk songs.

A visit to the Goodman yesterday found Florence Kirsch, resident pianist, playing Weber and Schubert with a nice feeling for color differentiation and for the eloquent shaping of a phrase. The Schubert—especially the E flat impromptu—can be played and has been played with a more purling simplicity and a more taking naiveté —but it must be admitted that Miss Kirsch's interpretation was plausible enough.

In the Beaux Arts salon of the Medinah club a gifted violinist, Fred Berndt, made his first local recital appearance yesterday. He played salon music of the Marek Weber and Ralph Ginsburgh type with great showmanship, sometimes coaxing from his instrument a genuinely Rubinofflike tone. Again, in the "Faust" potpourri, this tone got over onto the scratchy side and stayed there an astonishing length of time. His co-recitalist was Claude Smith, a 1934 winner in the Chicagoland Music Festival contests.

VIOLINIST, 10, SCORES AGAIN

Patricia Travers, the 10 year old violinist whose appearance with the Civic orchestra two weeks ago astonished all who heard her, added further proof of her precocious genius in an Orchestra hall solo recital yesterday afternoon.

I found I could believe the evidence of my ears only when I closed my eyes and shut out the picture of a demure little girl with blonde hair down to her waist—a little girl whose total bulk seemed scarcely larger than the full sized fiddle she manipulated so easily. Although it did not seem possible, my ears told me unmistakably that this youngster produced a broad, emotional tone, always solidly maintained and always faultless in intonation.

To this basic excellence of execution she adds a fully conscious, if often immature and overaccentuated, sense of style. The Lalo "Symphonie Espagnole" and the Tartini G minor sonata were clearly differentiated in musical approach. So keen was her innate musicality that many felicities of delivery really seemed to be her own, and not merely the product of good studio training.

Ted Shawn's newest composition for himself and his group of men dancers, revealed at the Studebaker theater, is called "Dance of the Ages." It sets out to demonstrate in four stages the entire growth of man's social consciousness from the primitive tribal culture to a dream society "beyond democracy." In some occult way these four stages are linked to the four elements, fire, water, earth, and air, and the need for a "fifth element" for the dream society is indicated.

This tortured transcendentalism, requiring art to rest upon a basis of visionary ideology, seems utterly dated in 1939. In music it went out of fashion after the death of Scriabin in 1915, having run its course and having proved itself a deterrent to any sort of esthetic classicism.

The group is drilled to almost matchless precision and unanimity, and is composed of uncommonly gifted young dancers. In general, however, the choreography is boresome, relying too much on tableaux and completely symmetric groupings. C. S.

Looking at Hollywood

Water Under the Bridge.

BY HARRY BRAND.

Hollywood, Cal., March 12.—Quite many years have plodded by since, as a press agent freshly recruited from a newspaper sports department, I first looked out on the Hollywood scene and wondered what it was all about. . . . That was more than twenty years ago. I'm still wondering what it's all about.

Francis X. Bushman [upper] and J. Warren Kerrigan.

I've seen idols rise . . . Men such as Carlyle Blackwell, Francis X. Bushman, J. Warren Kerrigan, and Maurice Costello. . . . Women fighting each other in mobs to reach out and touch them as they passed. And those same men pass without even a glance as the same kinds of mobs mill around the path of today's newer idols. How bitterly those forgotten ones must have wondered what it was all about! I've seen the Mabel Normands, the Lew Codys, the William Desmond Taylors, all the gilded array of glamor-dazed playboys and girls in the lush-flush early days of easy money. Klondike days and Alnaschar nights that inevitably ended in tragedy. Poor departed souls! Have they found out yet what it was all about?

I've seen Mack Sennett coining dollars as fast as his prop department could manufacture custard pies for his comedians to throw at each other . . . and slapstick comedy stars driving their cars over the sidewalks into hotel lobbies to call on girls . . . and that same producer, the world having forgotten what was funny about his pictures, trying to get somebody to give him a chance to show he still knew what the business of laugh making was all about.

I saw D. W. Griffith triumphantly hailed as The Master when he made "Birth of a Nation" . . . But who knows even what his last picture in this country, "The Struggle," was about? . . . I was one of the millions who sat in charmed delight while Charles Ray was amassing a million dollars playing the part of a shoeless boy, and I suffered anguish when he tried to produce his own picture and play a character rôle in "Miles Standish" . . . In one night —the world première—we knew his fortune had been scuttled.

I saw Valentino when he was humbly grateful to accept the small compensation of a dancing partner to haughty ladies at hotel tea dansants . . . and I saw the same type of women humbling themselves to snatch souvenirs from his casket when his dance of life was ended. . . . I saw Nazimova and Mae Murray in the days of their exalted ego. . . . When their fame was so giddy that they glided across a stage as if walking on air.

I saw DeMille when he was so mighty a man that the great Swanson had to ask his permission about having a baby, an event which was decided by consulting the calendar so as not to interfere with the production schedule. . . . I saw Lon Chaney tortuously twist himself toward the grave for the sake of his unique art . . . a man whose exacting makeups made his life as pathetic as any of the freakish characters he portrayed.

I saw Goldwyn proclaim the abolition of the star system, the stars to be superseded by the famous authors who henceforth were to sit on the throne by his royal command. . . . Yes, and I heard the railing of those famous authors on their departure from the Hollywood they had failed to conquer with their descriptions of beautiful sunsets and other word magic. . . . I saw other men who had been sleeping in parked automobiles write the big screen plays that brought them the writing and directing fame of the abdicated authors.

I saw a Swedish beauty parlor girl become a world artist whose magnetic power has defied all the changes that time has wrought in the cinematic scheme—and the man who shared her starring triumphs, John Gilbert, fade ingloriously from view when the screen was electrified with talk. . . . I saw Joseph M. Schenck, Darryl Zanuck, and William Goetz start a film colony on a handshake and parlay it into the biggest merger in the film world.

I saw Baby Leroy finish his career at the age of 4, and Marie Dressler start hers at 55. . . . I saw before my very eyes a director rewrite Shakespeare. . . . I saw Shirley Temple at the age of 9 win for the fourth straight year the title of world's biggest box office star. . . . I saw Darryl Zanuck resign one of the biggest producing jobs in the industry to protect the salaries of his actors, and I've seen actors reward him by walking out on their contracts with him.

Yes, all these things and much more I have seen and, like those who have soared and fallen and those now basking in the spotlight of fortune and glory, I shall to the very end still wonder what it's all about.

Good Morning!

That cute Joan Blondell and that masterful Pat O'Brien take a boy to raise in this opus. Tough kid! Out of the reformatory.

Tch, tch, say you—whatever made 'em do it? Well, you see—it was like this:

Jane Morgan, bright, hard-boiled young newspaper woman, is responsible for a certain series of stories in her paper which results in sending to the penitentiary one Joe Fallon—a very wicked young man—and to the reformatory, Mickey Fallon, his brother.

Jane, thinking it over, feels her heart turn to water. Mickey shouldn't be where he is. . . . She makes up her mind to get him out and supervise his training. . . . She seeks his parole, but learns that a kid can get one only if he has a job—and a home with a married couple . . .

Nothing daunted, Jane suddenly and sweetly capitulates to the wooing of Newspaper Man Thomas [Breezy] Elliott and promises to marry him. The infatuated gentleman assures her she shall buy tickets for wherever she wants to go on her honeymoon—and Janie leads him up to the train that carries passengers to the reformatory . . .

Seeing through her plans at last, Breezy balks and Jane is forced to start off alone. Away she goes—and back she comes—with her little tough guy!

To make a long story short, Breezy relents and he and his bride unite in the job of saving Mickey. Nice work they do, too!

Miss Blondell, Mr. O'Brien, and Bobby Jordan handle the leads in fine fashion. Other players please. Action and dialog are quite crisp and convincing.

See you tomorrow.

The Blind Side

By Patricia Wentworth

(Copyright: 1939: By Patricia Wentworth Turnbull.)

SYNOPSIS.

Ross Craddock's father, now dead, turned Craddock house into flats and installed his old maid cousins, Mary and Lucy Craddock, in a flat apiece, on either side of the one occupied by Ross. After Mary's death Lucy prepares to leave for a change of scene. Their cousin, Peter Renshaw, is staying in Mary's flat while he settles her estate. Ross orders Lucy to vacate her flat because she objects to his attentions to her foolish young niece, Mavis Grey. Lucy tells Peter she wishes Ross were dead. He advises her to take the trip. Lucy gives her cousin, Lee Fenton, permission to use her flat while she is away. Lee, who is in love with Peter, has just escaped an unpleasant experience with a married man. Rush, the porter, admits Lee. He mutters belligerently against Ross. After Rush, Lee has a time dismissing Mrs. Green the charwoman, who says she is ill and needs a drink of brandy. That evening Peter prevents Bobby Foster, Mavis' suitor, from making a scene in a night-club where Mavis is with Ross. Peter is awakened in the night by a crash. He sees Mavis running from Ross' flat, and Ross cut and bleeding. Mavis had thrown a decanter at him. Peter lets Mavis stay the rest of the night and he sleeps on a couch. Later he is again awakened and sees Mavis again coming from Ross' flat. She says she went to retrieve her purse. Lee awakens from a nightmare to find herself covered with blood. Her bloody footprints lead from Ross' door. Lee knows she walks in her sleep. In terror she washes away the bloodstains and goes to tell Peter. Ross' valet arrives and finds Ross has been shot and killed. He summons the police. An old maid tenant tells how she saw Mavis coming from Ross' flat twice.

INSTALMENT XX.

TELLTALE EVIDENCE.

Mavis looked down at the gray and white muslin of her dress and the long white gloves she was holding. It was too hot to wear gloves. But her hands were not hot, they were deathly cold and damp.

She said, "O, yes," in a fluttering voice.

"You were at the Ducks and Drakes with Mr. Craddock?"

"Yes."

"What time did you leave?"

"I don't know."

"Would it be somewhere before 1 o'clock?"

"I think so. . . . O, yes, it was, because my uncle and aunt really don't like my being out late—not just in the ordinary way, you know. I haven't got a key. They're very strict and old-fashioned, so it means that some one has to sit up."

This was one of the bits she had thought about. She felt pleased with herself, because really she was doing it very well. She went on, hurrying to get it over.

"So, when I knew how late I was going to be, I rang up and said I would spend the night with Isabel Young—that is, Mrs. James Young, Upton Villa, Carrisbroke road, Hampstead Garden City."

"Hm!" said the inspector to himself. "Very pat with that address, aren't you?" Then aloud, "And then you came back here with Mr. Craddock?"

Mavis' hands tightened on the gloves.

"O, no—of course I didn't. I went to Isabel's."

He leaned forward.

"Miss Grey, I'm going to ask you to be careful. This is a murder case. Your friend Mrs. Young might say that you had stayed the night with her to get you out of a scrape with your uncle and aunt, but do you think she'll stand up and swear to it on her oath in a court of justice?"

Mavis looked at him in a perfectly terrified manner.

"I did go there."

"Not at 1 o'clock, Miss Grey. You came back here with Mr. Craddock. You were seen here."

Mavis said, "O!" and lost her head. "O, I wasn't—who saw me? There wasn't any one—Peter wouldn't—"

"It was not Mr. Peter Renshaw. He has referred me to you. Now Miss Grey—you were seen, and the best thing you can do is to tell the truth. Lies won't get you anywhere, and trying to cover things up won't get you anywhere. You can't cover things up in a murder case."

She leaned back, panting a little.

"It's all very stupid. Of course I'll tell you the truth. I really did mean to go to Isabel's. But it's such a long way, and when he—when Ross suggested that I should come back here and ask my cousin, Lucy Craddock, to put me up, I thought I would."

"Were you not aware that Miss Craddock was leaving for the continent yesterday?"

"Ross said she had put off going—he really did, or I wouldn't have come back here with him—I really wouldn't. And when I found she had gone I just came in here to have a drink. And Ross was rude to me, so I went over to Peter, and he took me in."

The inspector considered this a very economical description. It took him a good deal of questioning to fill in the details—the crash that waked Miss Bingham, and probably Mr. Peter Renshaw as well; the decanter that had smashed over Mr. Craddock's head—and he seemed to have asked for it proper; and the girl's headlong flight, clutching her torn dress—well, that fitted in all right with what Miss Bingham had seen.

She hadn't made any bones about it either, not once he got her going. He was left with no doubt in his mind that one cousin had been rude to her, and the other cousin had taken her in, and that except for a cut over the eye which he had richly deserved Mr. Ross Craddock was alive and hearty at 1 a. m. The question was, what had happened after that? Had Mr. Renshaw gone across to his cousin's flat and come to such terms with him over the girl that it had ended in a revolver shot?

The inspector studied Miss Mavis Grey with his chin in his hand. He thought she looked like a girl who had said her piece and got it over. She had let go of those gloves she had been wringing into knots and was sitting back. Color a bit more natural, too. He said:

"Did you notice what time the shot was fired?" and saw her flinch. She caught her breath and said all in a hurry:

"O, no—how could I? I never heard any shot."

"Not with your head right up against this wall? Mr. Renshaw gave you his bedroom, didn't he? I've had a look at the flat, and the head of the bed is not three yards from where you're sitting now, and not four from the place where Mr. Craddock was found. Come, come, Miss Grey, I think you must have heard that shot."

"O, but I didn't. I was so tired. I'd been dancing—it was so hot—I was dreadfully tired—I just slept."

"Did you undress?"

"I took my dress off."

"Then you must have put it on again, because you were wearing it when Miss Bingham saw you go back into Mr. Renshaw's flat at 3 o'clock in the morning."

"She couldn't—she didn't—I was asleep."

"She is prepared to swear that she did."

A bright angry glow suffused the artificial color in her cheeks and overflowed it. She clenched her hands over the gloves and said stubbornly:

"She saw me at 1 o'clock. She couldn't have seen me at 3—I was in bed and asleep."

"Are you going to swear to that at the inquest?"

She gave a sort of gasp and said, "Yes."

He went on looking at her hard for a moment, and then said in an easy conversational voice:

"What about that dress you were wearing last night? I'd like to have a look at it. Did Lintott bring it along?"

"I haven't got it. It was torn. I've thrown it away."

"Where?" said Inspector Lamb.

Mavis stared at him.

There was a knock on the door. He looked over his shoulder and said, "Come in."

Constable Lintott came into the room with a rolled up bundle in his hand. Mavis said, "O!" and the inspector said:

"Where did you find it, Lintott?"

"Chest of drawers in the bedroom—bottom drawer—pushed down under a lot of the old lady's things."

The inspector got up out of his chair and shook out the bundle, which resolved itself into a long silver dress, a good deal torn, a good deal crushed. A large circular piece had been cut out of the front. He looked at Mavis, and Mavis looked at the dress. She hadn't cut away quite enough. The stain had spread. As that dreadful fat man stood there holding it up, anybody—anybody could see why the piece had been cut out. It had been cut out because it had been soaked in blood.

Mavis burst into tears.

Be Faithful to Makeup Colors Best for You

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

It is confusing to hear of all the new makeup shades that are promoted each season, presumably on the basis of conforming to new dress shades.

But the point sometimes overlooked by women is that they do not adopt the new dress tones. They stick to what they have found to be their best colors, for reasons of taste or practicability.

"I think the advent of exotic shades of lip rouge, powder, and such items is endangering the beauty of non-professional women," says the Hollywood authority, Wally Westmore, who points to Madeleine Carroll as a lesson in restraint against all the high powered makeup sales pressure. A woman who knows her own type of coloring and sticks to colors, lines, and kind of clothes that set off her beauty to the best advantage is the wise woman. The correct basic set of colors in clothes and in makeup exists for every woman in the world.

In her latest picture Miss Carroll epitomizes the sophisticated social beauty of today. Against her pale skin she uses a deep rose lipstick, the faintest touch of rouge, and a cream colored powder. Her lashes are barely touched with dark brown mascara at the very tips, and a faint film of pale blue shade with a suggestion of silver for eyeshadow. She never changes this makeup, except to heighten it for the screen.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

The imports having landed and been duly inspected, the whole fashion picture for spring is beginning to take shape. And speaking of shapes, how's yours? Heaven help you if it's all wrong.

This year you can type yourself in at one of two fashions. If you go for the "little girl" stuff and can get away with it, you'll be doing very nicely. Our only fear is that too many lassies who simply can't get away with it will try it. The shorter skirts are exacting of shapely legs; the full skirt of schoolgirl length and swish should reveal a school-girlish leg, slim ankled and with a pretty line from ankle to knee.

The hats that fly back from the forehead are exacting, too. The complexion, the contour and the makeup must be youthful. Ruffles and fluttery touches are for the slim.

If you spurn the "romantic" fashions and go in for the classic, you must again consider your silhouette. The slim waist, the diaphragm flat as a pancake and the high bustline are essentials of the fashionable figure. The lowered waistline is going to be a holy terror for a lot of women.

About hair: It's off the neck, no doubt about it. One guess is that the shoulder length bob will fade out any minute now. Fashions are either perky or emphatically clean cut. In either case the cocker-spaniel effect, with hair straggling drearily down around the shoulder blades, is a wrong note.

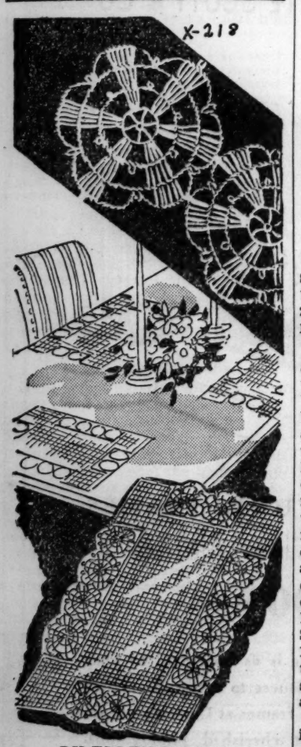
Filet Mesh and Medallions Unite in Luncheon Set



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

A combination of filet mesh and medallions fashion a new and unusual luncheon set, the more so because there are two types of mercerized crochet cotton used in its creation. These doilies may be made in monotone or a combination of colors to match the service and table decor. One medallion may be crocheted in five minutes, the doily proper in half an hour.

For instructions for crocheting the mesh and medallion luncheon set, No. X-218, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

First Aid for Old Dresses

WOMAN'S AND MISS' ACCESSORIES.

If you'd just about given up hope for that last season's dress, revive your drooping spirits! Here are some suggestions for giving that drab model a new lease on life. The pattern today offers two jackets and some collars and cuffs that will dress up your out of date frock and make it seem like something you'd shopped for in the smartest shops. These accessories are definitly new.

The boxy jacket sketched at the top has a simple round collar, puffed sleeves, and a trio of buttons. It hangs full from the shoulders and gives a new silhouette for spring. Striped silks and cottons make up most effectively.

The bolero with lapels, and with a novel belt to match, has puffed sleeves. It should be made in a bright color to give life to a dark frock.

The collar and cuff set may be tailored and edged with plaiting, braid, or ruffling, or it may be styled petal fashion.

Style No. 2564 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

Sometimes there are two [or more] distinct views of a situation—the conventional and the common sense. In 98 per cent of cases the conventional view also is the common sense view, which is merely to say that conventions are built on logic. Occasionally, however, the player must put convention aside because he has received some clew, some indication as to the right bid or the right play, that is far more important than so-called partnership understanding. Let us consider the following deal:

South, dealer.
East-West vulnerable.
Rubber bridge.

NORTH
♠ 10 7 5
♥ 8 5 2
♦ K J 10 9
♣ A 7 2

WEST
♠ J 9 6 4 3
♥ K J 7 6 4 3

♣ 8 3

EAST

♣ J 10 9 6

SOUTH
♥ A Q 10
♦ A 7 4 3
♣ K Q 5 4

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	1 heart	2 diamonds	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Double
Redouble	Pass	Pass	Pass

The recorded bidding does not give an absolutely accurate picture of what took place. As may be imagined West did not pass to South's redouble of three no trump with any great alacrity. In fact, he hesitated quite a while. He realized that his own one heart overcall, based as it had been on distribution alone, might well have misled East into expecting substantially greater honor strength. But finally, because of the vulnerability conditions and the fact that a runout at the four level might be extremely costly, West decided to let the redouble stand and hope for the best. Incidentally I might point out that South's redouble was based on about 10 per cent logic and 90 per cent optimism. His weak spade holding alone should have ruled out any such strong action.

When it came to selecting the opening lead West could think of nothing except the implication of his partner's double. A double of this sort, made after the other partner has bid or overcalled, usually calls for the opening lead of the suit bid. The general theory is that the doubler wants to assure his partner that it is safe and desirable to open the bid suit despite the fact that the opponents have gone to no trump over it. So, casting every other consideration aside and determined to be a "good soldier," West docilely opened his fourth highest heart and thereby blew up the defensive ship. Declarer won with the ten and led a low diamond to the king. The diamond situation being revealed by West's failure to follow suit, three more diamond tricks were easily made by finessing against East's queen, and three club tricks and the heart ace rounded out the contract.

It was all very well for West to be so "obedient" and to abide by a convention as it affects the opening lead, but it would have been a great deal shrewder for him to have put the proper interpretation on the bidding, particularly on South's redouble of the final contract. A player may "take a chance" and bid three no trump on a sketchy holding in the adversely bid suit, but when he has done so he certainly will not redouble on top of it. This is not just bridge; it is human nature. Thus, when East showed enough strength to double the three no trump contract, and South in the face of this double had the audacity to redouble, I think West could have relied on one thing, if on no other, and that was that South had a sure double heart stopper. That being so, it would have been the height of logic for West to have double-crossed the declarer by opening an unbid suit and, of course, that suit would have been spades. Obviously, on a low spade opening, East would have dropped declarer's queen and the defenders would have rattled off five spade tricks before the declarer could catch his breath.

Conventions are extremely valuable, but when followed religiously they can be a great burden. Surely no one can criticize East's double of three no trump after his partner had bid hearts. But if, by so doubling, East had to guarantee that a heart opening would suit him it is obvious that he would be deprived of doubling whenever he had the other three suits controled.

The answer is that it is well to know all the conventions, but it is better to "use one's head."

Tapioca, rennet powder, and gelatin are three favorite thickeners for chilled, light desserts. Tapioca must be cooked, but may be cooked in a very short time; rennet powder desserts coagulate by themselves if lukewarm milk is added; gelatin must be thoroughly dissolved in hot water or over it. But preparation is simple in all three cases.

The textures of desserts made with these three agents are very different. The one which may be least familiar to many cooks is the rennet dessert, which is very soft, fine, and slippery, like a perfect custard. Tapioca and gelatin, of course, have more body.

Peanut Brittle Tapioca

[Serves Four]

1 egg yolk
2 cups milk
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
¼ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 egg white, beaten until stiff
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup crushed peanut brittle

Mix egg yolk with a small amount of milk in the top of a double boiler. Add rest of milk and the tapioca, sugar, and salt. Place over rapidly boiling water and cook, stirring occasionally, for about 12 minutes. Remove from heat, fold in egg white, cool, and fold in flavoring and peanut brittle. The tapioca thickens as it cools. Chill. Serve with cream or whipped cream.

Toasted Almond Rennet Custard

[Serves Four]

⅓ cup blanched almonds, toasted
2 cups milk
1 package maple-flavored rennet powder

Toast the almonds by placing them in a pan with a small amount of butter and baking in a moderately hot oven until golden brown. It will be necessary to stir occasionally during browning. Chop or cut the nuts fine. Add to the milk and heat until barely lukewarm. Quickly stir in the rennet powder and pour immediately into dessert glasses. Let stand at room temperature until firm, about 10 minutes. Chill. Serve with crisp cookies.

Banana Snow

[Serves Six]

1 teaspoon plain, unflavored gelatin
¼ cup orange juice
2 egg whites
2 tablespoons sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup mashed or sieved bananas
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
½ cup cream, whipped

Soak gelatin in orange juice for five minutes and melt over hot water. Beat the egg whites until frothy. Add sugar, cooled gelatin, grated orange rind, and salt, and beat until stiff. Fold in the banana pulp and whipped cream. Chill. Pile in sherbet glasses and serve.

Pineapple Trifle

[Serves Eight]

1 package orange-flavored gelatin
1 cup warm water
1 cup fruit juice and water
1 cup drained, crushed pineapple [1 small can]
1 orange, free from membrane, cut in pieces
½ cup cream, whipped
¼ cup sugar

Dissolve gelatin in the 1 cup warm water and then add the cup of water and fruit juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Place in a bowl of cracked ice or ice water and whip until fluffy and thick as whipped cream. Fold in fruit and whipped cream, to which sugar has been added. Turn into a mold or individual molds and chill until firm.

The Housewife

If you've taken long motor rides or journeys by train you know what a boon it is to have a small pillow to tuck behind your shoulders or back. We've found some good loking, neat and practical travel pillows that just fill this need. They are the right size, they're equipped with handles of self-material so that you can carry them easily, and they are covered with a plain, solid color fabric that looks like a half-silk, half-cotton moire.

You can get this pillow in wine, gold, or turquoise. And it's not at all expensive.

EDITH WEIGLE.

Chicago Slated as M.E. Capital for Nine States

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Plans to merge the three branches of Methodism into a single, world-wide church were laid yesterday at a meeting of Chicago church leaders in the Stevens hotel. More than 3,200 pastors and lay officials representing 228 churches attended.

Merger of the northern and southern branches of the church with the Methodist Protestant church will be completed late in April or early in May at Kansas City.

Under plans for the united church Chicago probably will be named headquarters of the North Central jurisdiction—Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, and North Dakota and South Dakota. The district has a Methodist membership of 1,735,461 persons. The Kansas City uniting conference will set up six other jurisdictions, each having larger autonomy than is now accorded to the areas of various bishops. One of the jurisdictions will be for colored churchmen and will extend over virtually all other sections.

Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf, head of the church's Chicago area, outlined several matters to his local leaders which he said should get attention at the Kansas City meeting. He emphasized the national increase in Sunday school attendance of more than 30,000 pupils during the last nine months, and told of Illinois Methodism's plan for advancing the program of Wesley Foundation, Methodist student center at the University of Illinois.

First announcements for the 79th sessions of the famous Des Plaines camp meeting were made. Bishop Waldorf said a new feature of the meeting this year will be an institute of church publicity. Dr. Richard C. Raines of Minneapolis, Minn., will open the meeting July 9. It will continue for two weeks.

Plans were outlined for observing the 100th anniversary this fall of the founding of the Rock River [Northern Illinois] conference of the church—said by many to be the strongest and largest in Methodism. The anniversary will be focused on annual sessions of the conference at St. James' church, Ellis avenue and 46th street. Another of the dozen points stressed by Bishop Waldorf was that no local church had lost its property through inability to refinance its building debt.

Bishop Waldorf reported that the Chicago Home Missionary and Church Extension society during its history has contributed $1,500,000 to 300 churches and institutions of the city. He urged that the work of the society be extended to allow the development of new churches where population movements show they are needed.

More than 45,000 persons attended the forty-third annual exhibition by artists of Chicago and vicinity, which closed at the Art institute yesterday. Among the canvases attracting most attention were "Actresses," by Karl Priebe; "Arrangement No. 5," by Medard Klein; "Still Is the Night," by Glen Krause; "Still Life No. 14 with Chair," by William Schwartz, and "They March, They Halt, They Rest," an invective against war by George A. Short Jackets in Fur Smart for Springtime

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Seriously, choosing spring furs now isn't the inconsistent gesture it sounds. Chill winds have a way of penetrating, despite spring sunshine . . . so the answer is one of the stunning high fashion short fur jackets in light colors.

Pale gray and honey beige caracul jackets are not only slenderizing, because of the flat moire highlighted pelts, but irresistible in high fashion and low price mark. New models are made with exceedingly young streamlines, a dashing flare in the back, sharply high "pagoda" shoulders, and loose, easy to slide into bell sleeves.

Additional details of this spring stuff are the numerous pockets, the engaging short smart lengths, the necklines usually snugly fitted without a shadow of a collar, or, if collared, just a mere upstanding band like that on a coolie coat.

While the pale shades are newest and more seasonal, nothing can equal the swank of shiny black or the good looking deep spicy brown shades especially designed for street wear. Next are the slightly fluffier furs, such as light gray squirrel, white fox dyed as lynx, white fox dyed a flattering shade called azurea [the pet of all the blue-eyed clothes collectors] and, of course, the perennial favorites of fashion, gleaming, beautiful silver fox.

A breathtaking jacket is fashioned of luxurious deep brown skins of royal sable. The flawless dye jobs will puzzle an expert. See the smart short jackets of sable dyed fitch and sable dyed squirrel for proof. They will frost the top of your best dress-parade daytime outfit as well as provide the right dramatics for the most gala evening costume.

Spring price marks are easy on the budgets, especially the last arrivals, the flared, short, sharp shouldered caraculs in street and dress parade shades.

AMERICANS RALLY TO DEFEAT HAWKS, 3 TO 2

NEW YORK OPENS GOLDEN GLOVES FINALS TONIGHT

Pick Intercity Team Tomorrow.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 12.—New York's Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions, with sectional winners from seven states, opens tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden, where on Tuesday the boys who will invade Chicago March 29 in the twelfth tournament between the nation's largest cities will be chosen.

One hundred and twenty-eight amateurs, sixteen in each weight class, remain in the battle for eastern Golden Gloves championships. Tomorrow night, in two rings, starting at 7 o'clock, these contenders will fight the first and second rounds in the greatest tournament ever sponsored by the New York Daily News. Tuesday night, in one ring, the semi-finals and championships—twenty-four bouts—will be held.

32 Papers Help Out.

This show is identical to the matches Chicago witnessed last Friday when 22,132 saw the conclusion of the annual tournament sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. Thirty-two newspapers have coöperated with the New York Daily News Welfare association in selecting the amateur talent for this tournament. Buffalo and upstate New York, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Washington, Richmond, Raleigh, Charlotte, Miami, and Atlanta have sent these young men into New York City seeking the right to meet Chicago's team March 29 in the Chicago Stadium.

This is Manhattan's most pretentious tournament, and it is designed to end the supremacy of the west. Not since 1934, when New York whipped the Chicago Golden Gloves team in Madison Square Garden, 9 bouts to 7, has Father Knickerbocker been returned victorious in this annual battle of the amateurs. It is true, that in 1936, again in the Garden, New York tied the Chcago boys by winning three of the last four bouts, but Chicago more than made up for this deadlock by whipping New York last year. This victory was the first ever scored by a visiting team.

First Meet Ends in Tie.

The other tie in the team standings was registered in the opening engagement, when George Meyer Jr., Chicago heavyweight, won the last bout of the 1928 series in Chicago's Coliseum to even the intercity score. The complete tabulation of the intercity Golden Gloves tournament and site of each follow:

1928—Chicago, 8; New York, 8 [Chicago].
1929—New York, 11; Chicago, 5 [N. York].
1930—Chicago, 10; New York, 6 [Chicago].
1931—Chicago, 13; New York, 3 [Chicago].
1932—New York, 12; Chicago, 4 [N. York].
1933—Chicago 10; New York, 6 [Chicago].
1934—New York, 9; Chicago, 7 [N. York].
1935—Chicago, 11; New York, 5 [Chicago].
1936—Chicago, 8; New York, 8 [N. York].
1937—Chicago, 9; New York, 2 [Chicago].
1938—Chicago, 9; New York, 7 [N. York].

Chicago not only holds the most one sided victory in the rivalry, the 13 to 3 triumph in 1931, when the western Golden Glovers ran up seven consecutive victories after losing the opening match, but in 1935 Chicago won the last eight fights in the tournament after trailing, 5 to 3, at the halfway mark.

Chicago Boys Can Rally.

More imposing, perhaps, was Chicago's record last year, when the boys from the west, after losing the first four bouts, came through with a 9 to 7 victory. In that stirring uphill battle Chicago swept the light heavyweight bracket and Lloyd Montgomery of Memphis defeated New York's Abner Powell in the first of the heavyweight battles to insure victory.

Chicago's superiority has been grounded on the steady growth of the midwestern tournament. Forty-six teams competed with Chicago's qualifiers in the Tournament of Champions this year. More than 23,000 boxers were entered in the twenty-six states contributing to the tournament. And six midwestern cities—

BREWERS REACH WESTERN FINAL; SPARTA IS BEATEN

Manhattans Win, 3 to 2, Over Cleveland.

BY OFFSIDE.

The Manhattan Brewers qualified for the national soccer cup western finals yesterday by defeating the Batrunek Slavias of Cleveland, O., 3 to 2, in Sparta stadium. The Brewers now will meet the Morgan Sport club of Pittsburgh, which beat Sparta, for a place in the national finals.

The Manhattans dominated play during the first fifteen minutes, but missed several scoring chances and the Slavs took the lead when Schemp rounded Davidson to cross a high shot which Nagy trapped and drove past Griffith.

Manhattans Tie Score.

The Manhattans tied it up after twenty-three minutes on a fluke goal, the ball bounding off Conny and into the net after a shot by Salcedo. Although the Manhattans pressed hard the rest of the period, they were unable to score and the 1 to 1 tie prevailed at the intermission.

The Slavias went back into the lead after three minutes of the second half. Keirns took a pass, maneuvered past Henney and Davidson and beat Griffith with a high shot from fifteen yards. The goal keepers then featured play until the twelve minute mark, when Art Garcia scored from four yards to give the Brewers a 2 to 2 tie.

Gonsalves' Goal Wins.

Fifteen minutes later Gonsalves drove a high shot past Tenglier from twenty-five yards out for the Manhattans' winning goal. Lineups:

Sverre Freidheim Wins Class A Ski Jump Title

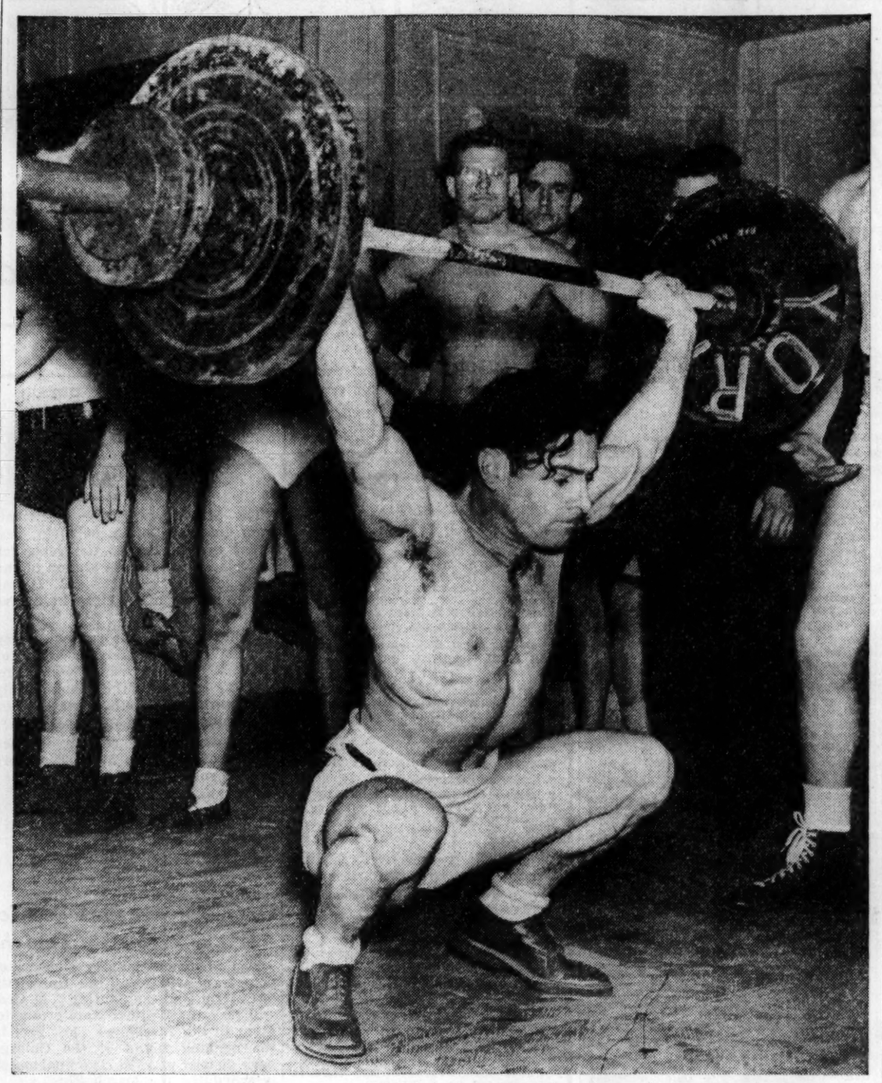
"Nnyumph" and "Waah" and There Goes a Record



Ray Garcia of the German-American Athletic club team setting a new state A. A. U. record of 190 pounds for the snatch in the annual weight lifting championship meet yesterday. Garcia set new marks in every event as his team won the state title.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

They Grunt, Groan as They Smash Records

In the little meeting hall adjacent to "Al's Place" at 1746 Larrabee street, a group of young men with mighty muscles gathered yesterday and proved that grunts and groans are not confined to wrestling. These men were competing in the state A. A. U. championship weight lifting contest.

There was little Art Schmudde, of the Englewood Y. M. C. A., who holds several state championships. As the announcer called for him to take his turn, he emitted a soft "Aaah." He grasped the iron bar to which were appended steel discs of varied weights and out came "Mmm."

Then, with an off key "Eeeh" he snapped the bar quickly to his chest, lifted it above his head, and brought it to the floor again with a satisfied "Waah."

Officials announced Schmudde had broken the former press record for the 147 pound division by 10 pounds, lifting 200 pounds.

Another champion, Ray Garcia, of the German-American athletic club, a husky with huge muscles, sounded a musical "Nnyumph" as he broke all Central A. A. U. records in the lightweight division. He pressed 190 pounds, snatched 190, and clean and jerked 250 pounds to exceed each of his own marks by ten pounds, and his record total of 630 by twenty pounds.

Frank Kay of the Chicago Weight Lifting club totaled 705 pounds, high for the meet.

The German-American A. C. broke the existing mark of 3,090 by totaling 3,130 pounds to win the team championship. The Chicago Weight Lifting Club No. 1 scored 3,060 for second place, and in third place was the Northwest Weight Lifting club with a total of 2,975.

In the Wake of the News

WHILE a two year batting average of .356 should be proof enough that Charley Keller, the Yankees' rookie outfielder from Newark, is destined to stick with the world champions, the best tipoff is the fact that he has been allotted uniform No. 9. No single digit is awarded a rookie unless he is to be a permanent member of the cast. . . . Joe Choynski, the old time boxer, is an antique collector in Cincinnati. . . . When Kentucky met Tennessee last week in the Southeastern conference basketball final it marked the third time in four years the rivals battled for the title. . . . Manager Bill Terry of the Giants has ordered a daily defensive drill on bunts for Zeke Bonura, the ex-White Sox, ex-Senator. . . . Tod Morgan, lightweight champion of Australia, is the former world junior lightweight champion who was considered all through years ago. . . . Winston D. Anderson, former Colgate star recently appointed assistant coach at Temple university, played end for the football Giants for two seasons. . . . Don Meade is turning down mediocre mounts since his sensational winning streak at Hialeah Park. . . . The Jacob Ruppert estate has given the Bronx zoo fifteen rare monkeys and fifteen tropical birds from the late Yankee owner's menagerie. . . . Sonja Henie has agreed to act as hostess at Norway's exhibit at the San Francisco fair during June. . . . Although the Bees won more games than they lost last year, their three best pitchers—Danny MacFayden, Lou Fette, and Jim Turner—had more defeats than victories.

Before returning to his home in California recently Bud Taylor, the old bantamweight champion, purchased a punching bag and a pair of bag gloves in the hope of taking off fifty pounds. Bud, once one of the trimmest athletes in the ring, is tired of being called "Blimp." . . . Indiana, which finished second in the Western conference basketball race, compiled an unusual record. The Hoosiers scored the second largest number of field goals, 198, and the largest number of free throws, 112, for the highest point total, 508. On the other hand, they missed the largest number of free throws, 83; committed the most personal fouls, 187, and, by yielding their opponents 446 points, ranked ninth defensively. . . . Sid Luckman, Columbia senior and half back drafted by the Bears, will play the part of Grover Whalen [mustache and all] in the university's varsity show, "Fair Enough."

CUBS' REGULARS TAKE ANOTHER WHIPPING, 6 TO 1

Root, Russell Allow Only Four Hits.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 12.—Jack Russell and Charley Root, two fine old pitching gentlemen of the Cub staf, today squelched Cub regulars as the yannigans won the second game of the intraclub series, 6 to 1. Newell Kimball held the yannigans to one hit and one run in three innings, but the victors made hay off Al Epperly in the next three sessions of the six inning contest.

Stanley Hack, with a triple, double, and single supplied three of the regulars' four hits.

Triples figured in the early scoring by each team. Hack led off the regulars' first inning with a triple to center off Russell, paused while Mesner tossed out Herman, then scored on Galan's sacrifice fly to Collins. Collins made a great circus catch of Augie's effort, but had no chance to head off Hack at the plate. Leiber was tossed out by J. Russell to end the inning.

Yannigans Bounce Back.

The yannigans went out in order in their first two innings, but tied the score in the third. Zydowski drew a pass from Kimball, after which Baker flied to Marty and J. Russell forced Zydowski. Merullo tripled to left center, scoring J. Russell with the tying run.

The yannigans took the lead in the fourth inning after Hack had wasted a double in the regular third. Reynolds opened against Epperly with a triple to center and trotted home on G. Russell's single through short. Mesner lined a single to left, G. Russell reaching third. Collins singled to right, scoring G. Russell, but Mesner was out, Marty to Hack, trying to reach third. Zydowski struck out and Collins was doubled at second.

Hack, the One Man Attack.

Root made short work of the regulars in the first inning he worked, the fourth. Galan popped to Mesner, Leiber fouled to G. Russell, and Mesner threw out Marty.

Baker tripled off Epperly to start the fifth inning and promptly scored on Root's single to center. Merullo rolled a potential double play ball to Bartell. Root was forced at second, but Cavarretta dropped Herman's throw and Merullo was safe on the error. Gleeson followed with an in-the-park homer, scoring behind Merullo. Reynolds fouled to Garbark, but G. Russell knocked his second single. Mesner forced G. Russell.

Until one was out in the fifth all the Regulars' hitting consisted of Hack's triple and double. At this juncture Garback singled, but promptly went down in a double play on Bartell's tap to Mesner.

Following are items of training camp news which do not show in the box score:

Fred Page, father of Vance, Cub pitcher, died this morning in Elm City, N. C. The son set out for home by plane an hour after he received the news.

Hack repaired to the local hospital after the game due to an infection on the right hand. He will be out for a few days.

Woody English, Rip Collins, Gus Mancuso, Stan Hack and Bill Lee won $10 in a bowling sweepstakes last night.

Sox Conquer Semi-Pros in Opener, 9 to 7

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 12.—The White Sox, some of whom will be seen in big league competition this season, made a success of their maiden exhibition effort of 1939 today. Despite the presence of numerous unknowns in their ranks, the Chicagoan's knocked over the Pasadena Merchants team, 9 to 7, before 3,000 spectators, who thought it was swell amusement at the bargain price of two bits.

Manager James Dykes had planned to show off his first stringers, pitchers excepted, for only an inning or two, but developments necessitated an alteration in this scheme. The local lads got a bit tough after the major leaguers had started off with a five run lead, so the boss decided to retain the services of his best hitters and fielders until a fairly safe edge had been attained. The regulars had to put in four innings of work before Dykes felt safe in calling on his assorted rookies.

Pitching Wasn't So Good.

The Pasadena boys did fairly well with their bats, but this is easily explained. For three innings they faced nothing more formidable than Jack Osborne, the Long Beach high school boy who has ambitions. The net result of his work was four hits, three runs, and six passes. Jim Scott, son of the old Sox pitcher, came next and almost let the decision get away by blowing up in the sixth when only rookies, barring Rip Radcliff and Larry Rosenthal, were present to give him assistance. Scott was pounded for a cluster of four runs, but for the last three innings, Jess Dobernic served and Dykes was able to breathe easily.

The Sox runs, all scored by the regulars, were collected off a fellow named McElroy. Some of the troubles he experienced in four innings were a double by Radcliff, a homer by Henry Steinbacher, a homer and double by Mike Kreevich, and various singles. In the last five innings, however, it was different, mainly because many freshmen were in action and partly because of a curve ball dispensed by one Ole Hansen.

Radcliff Starts It.

It didn't take Radcliff long to prove he can hit, winter or summer. He opened the first inning with a double to right and his fellow workers didn't let this chance get away until five had scored. Owen walked but was forced by Steinbacher. Kuhel whacked a single into right, sending Radcliff home. Steinbacher counted when Robinson permitted Kreevich's roller to seep through short. A single by Appling moved Kreevich over the plate.

Osborne was able to hold his Pasadena foes to three runs in their first attempt, but only with the help of a double play. The first two batters singled and the next sacrificed. The Long Beach youngster immediately went wild, walking the next three men and forcing in two runs. Another scored and the bases remained loaded when Williams beat out a scratch hit. Happily for Osborne, Owen picked up Gudel's roller and converted it into a double play.

The Sox didn't annoy McElroy in the second and in the third inning limited their torment to Kreevich's homer over the left field hedge. But they were less considerate of their semi-pro pitching opponent in the fourth, scoring three runs to make the count 9 to 3.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago Stadium is ordinarily the scene of such carefree entertainments as circuses, ice skating carnivals and such, but last night it became the locale of a wake for the playoff hopes of the Chicago Blackhawks as they lost their final home game of the regulation schedule to the New York Americans, 3 to 2.

No embalmers have been called in to make it final, but as a result of the contest, attended by 7,000 faithful mourners, the Hawks' dreams of gaining the world series which they won last year have narrowed down to a teaspoonful of the skate shavings off the Stadium rink last night.

The Outlook Is Bleak.

The league standings as of this morning find the Chicagoans in seventh and last place, two and one-half games back of the Montreal Canadiens. If you work it out in calculus you probably can find a way to get our lads into the main event of professional hocky. Otherwise, you simply have to consider that this afternoon the Hawks leave on a three game road trip which will take them to Boston tomorrow night, Montreal Thursday evening, and Detroit Sunday.

Doubtless one member of the Hawk party today will be Lawrence [Baldy] Northcott, one of Chicago's most expensive purchases of the current season. Baldy was a member of the defunct Montreal Maroons when he was acquired by our side. He has done little, if anything, to uphold his former reputation as a sharpshooter, but last night he decided to earn the trip that presumably was to be denied him. He scored the game's first goal to give the Chicagoans a 1 to 0 lead, which they maintained until the second period, when old Johnny Sorrell tied it up for the Americans.

Northcott Scores Again.

Northcott, having more or less earned a berth on the Boston bound train by that first goal, decided he would ride in a drawing room by scoring what appeared to be the winning goal in the second period. This, incidentally, was the session in which able John Gottselig of the Hawks did not appear, having pulled a muscle in his left leg during the first period. His absence forced Boss Paul Thompson, himself still ailing from a sore back, onto the ice.

Everything looked dandy for a Hawk victory until the eleventh minute of the third period, when the aged Nels Stewart, greatest lifetime scorer in league history, decided to cut himself out the goal which tied the score at 2 to 2. This was annoying enough, but with less than five minutes to go, Leroy Goldsworthy, one time Hawk rookie, batted in the puck for the goal which won the game for the Americans.

VON CRAMM MAY, COMPETE IN U. S. NET TOURNAMENT

CAIRO, Egypt, March 12.—(AP)—Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany, former Davis cup star and one of the world's best amateur players, said today he intended to enter the American and the Australian championship tournaments this year if those countries would grant him visas.

Von Cramm has been out of tennis for a year because of his imprisonment in Germany on a morals charge. He is trying to regain his old form and said he intended to remain in amateur competition for another year unless he received a "good professional offer."

"I do not intend to compete at Wimbledon [the British championships] this summer and I do not think I shall play in Europe. I shall play as an individual and not as a representative of Germany in the Davis cup matches, but I have no intention of giving up my German nationality."

New York, March 12.—(AP)—Boston defeated the New York Rangers, 4 to 2, tonight in Madison Square Garden in a preview of the Stanley cup playoff series between the first and second teams of the National Hocky league. They will meet in the first playoff game here March 21.

Porky Dumart put the Bruins in the lead after 1½ minutes of play. Cecil Dillon tied it up late in the first period. The Bruins regained their lead on Roy Conacher's goal in the second period and held in until Clint Smith tied the count again early in the final period.

Charlie Sands scored the Bruins' third goal and 17 seconds from the end of the game when Manager Lester Patrick had removed Goalie Dave Kerr in favor of a sixth forward, Dit Clapper golfed the puck up the ice from just in front of his own goal and it rolled into the Ranger net before the Rangers could catch it.

Spaniel Club Will Sponsor Training Class

BY BOB BECKER.

The only training school for springer spaniel owners in the state will be conducted again this season by the English Springer Spaniel Field Trial Club of Illinois, according to an announcement made last week by officers of the organization. This school will be directed by Arthur P. Moecher of Aurora, Ill., one of the best known authorities on the working of springer spaniels in the middle west and the originator of the idea of teaching owners of spaniels how to train dogs for field trials and hunting.

Meets April 2.

The first meeting of the 1939 class for springer spaniel owners is scheduled for 3 p. m. April 2, in the city hall of Aurora. A trained spaniel will be used to demonstrate obedience in the trained hunting dog, retrieving and other points which will be illustrated in the first lesson.

C. S. Goodall, secretary and treasurer of the English Springer Spaniel Field Trial Club of Illinois, which is sponsoring the movement to help springer owners train their own hunting dogs, invites all springer enthusiasts to attend the meeting April 2. Any one wishing further details about the training class plan may write Mr. Goodall at 745 Chicago avenue, Downers Grove, Ill., or A. P. Moecher, North Farnsworth, Aurora, Ill.

More Spaniel Owners.

Judging by the preparations for the coming fall field trial and hunting season there will be more well trained springers in field trials and in the hunting fields during 1939 than in any previous year.

16 PREP TEAMS WIN PLACES IN STATE TOURNEY

Pairings Made for First Games Thursday.

Champaign, Ill., March 12.—(AP)—Sixteen teams, survivors of three weeks of intensive competition, will gather here Thursday to compete for the state high school basketball championship.

The field of competitors was determined last night in fifteen sectional tournament finals and in the last game of the Chicago City league battle.

Lane Tech defeated Hirsch, 30 to 25, to win the Chicago title, thereby qualifying for the state meet. Final competition in the sectional meets saw the elimination, among others, of Dundee, high scoring team which won the championship last year. Dundee lost to Morton High of Cicero, 35 to 28, in Elgin.

Dundee's loss was the team's second defeat in sixty-two games. The star of Morton's smooth attack was Center Ed Parker, who contributed 16 points toward the title holders' downfall. Dundee's high scorer was Ken Menke, whose total was 14 points.

First round games, starting Thursday morning, will be completed that day, reducing the field to eight teams.

First round pairings:

THURSDAY MORNING—Moline vs. Wood River; Morton vs. Lane Tech.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON—Rockford vs. Canton; Zeigler vs. Roodhouse; Dwight vs. Champaign.

THURSDAY NIGHT—Bradley vs. Centralia; Flora vs. Paris; Peoria Woodruff vs. Gillespie.

Bolden Meets Simmons in Marigold Ring

Marty Simmons, former McKeesport, Pa., middleweight, now making his home in Saginaw, Mich., will meet Nate Bolden of the south side in a ten round bout tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street.

Simmons fought a ten round draw with Champion Solly Krieger in Milwaukee Jan. 2. He is a busy little fellow and is expected to give Bolden a lesson.

In his last appearance Simmons defeated Eddie Saxon in Cleveland last Tuesday. He also scored a nine round technical knockout over Johnny [Bandit] Romero in Cleveland Jan. 16.

Between these performances Marty journeyed to Minneapolis and, posing as a masked marvel, lost a ten round verdict to Saxon Feb. 24. He said the masquerade was responsible for this setback.

Bolden conquered Tony Zale of Gary in his last start Jan. 2. On that occasion he weighed 154 pounds. The weight for this evening's contest is 165 pounds, a mark which is expected to find Simmons at his best. Marty carried 166¾ against Champion Krieger. He was at 168½ when he whipped Tony Bruno and at 170 when he held Dave Clark to a draw.

Bolden, 1937 Chicago intercity Golden Gloves winner, appears to be overmatched. Supporting contests:

Joe Lubin vs. Clarence Brown [5], heavyweights.

George Kontopolous vs. Fernie Bacca [4], 144.

Al Globe vs. Pete Atkins [4], 172.

Larry Cisneros vs. Jimmy Santora [4], 135.

Olaf Olson, Milwaukee heavyweight wrestler, will be Wladyslaw Talun's opponent in the windup bout of the show tonight in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Other matches:

King Kong vs. Paul [Frenchy] Amnotte, Jack Hagen vs. Winnett Wallingford Watson, Lefty Pacer vs. Kid Chapman, Babe Kasaboski vs. Gorilla Fozzi.

BROOKLYN GETS A HIT, BUT IT DOESN'T COUNT

Failure to Tag Base Gives Reds No-Hit Victory.

Tampa, Fla., March 12.—(AP)—Stamping themselves the same old daffiness boys, the Brooklyn Dodgers gave two Cincinnati hurlers a no hit game today because Pete Coscarart neglected to touch first. The Reds won 5 to 0 on nine hits off Bill Posedel, Russ Evans and Ira Hutchinson.

Johnny [Double No-Hit] Vander Meer was scheduled to pitch for the Reds but suffered an attack of influenza and his specialty was displayed to some 3,000 fans by Whitey Moore and Rookie Gene Thompson.

Moore pitched the first six innings and Coscarart hit a hot liner to right field in the first, pulling up at second only to be called out for missing first. The Dodgers never came close to a hit after that, and just two men reached first on passes.

Last week General Manager Leland MacPhail expressed the hope that the Dodgers would lose one or both of their week-end exhibitions "to shut off their cockiness." But in his fondest dreams he probably never visualized today's outcome. Manager Leo Durocher did everything he could think of, even to substituting an entire lineup of lefthanders, to break the Cincinnati spell.

GIANTS WIN AGAIN.

Lake Charles, La., March 12.—(AP)—The New York Giants defeated the Philadelphia Athletics today, 14 to 8, bringing their total of runs scored against the Athletics in two days to twenty-nine. The hapless American leaguers committed six errors and surrendered six runs in the fifth inning when Harry Danning hit a home run with two on.

Philadelphia [A.]	010	002	122	8	12	6

Batteries—Melton, Vanderberg, Wittig and Danning, Padden; Thomas, Reninger, Beckman, E. Smith and Hayes, Brucker.

INDIANS LOSE, 10-8.

New Orleans, La., March 12.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians suffered their second defeat in three exhibitions here today, losing to Jersey City of the International league in ten innings, 10 to 8. Both teams made fourteen hits, but nine of the Indians' came in the first three innings. Al Milnar, Cleveland's first veteran to pitch this season, surrendered seven hits in three innings, and issued six passes.

Jersey City [I.L.]	104	101	010	2	10	14	0
Cleveland [A.]	116	000	000	0	8	14	3

Batteries—Anderson, Joiner, Carpenter and Sheehan; Milnar, Conner, Dobson and Hemsley, Hegan.

TIGER YANNIGANS WIN.

Lakeland, Fla., March 12.—(AP)—A home run with the bases full off Vernon Kennedy by Rookie Shortstop Frankie Croucher wasn't enough to prevent the Detroit Tiger Yannigans from beating the regulars, 9 to 6, in seven innings. Fred Hutchinson, rookie right hander, pitched three innings for the regulars and allowed six hits, three for extra bases.

RED SOX TAKE IT EASY.

Sarasota, Fla., March 12.—(AP)—A short, brisk batting practice left most of the Boston Red Sox free today to watch Harry Cooper and Sam Snead play an exhibition golf match in the afternoon. An interclub game is scheduled for tomorrow. The Sox open their exhibition schedule in Clearwater Tuesday with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

BROWNS BEAT PHILS.

San Antonio, Tex., March 12.—(AP)—Routing Southpaw Jennings Poindexter with a seven run attack in the fifth inning, the St. Louis Browns made it two straight over the Phillies today, 11 to 6. The Browns made three runs in the fourth to take the lead, then sent Poindexter to the showers before a man was retired in the fifth.

YANKS HELD TO 2 HITS.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 12.—(AP)—The New York Yankees were held to two hits and whipped, 9 to 3, today by the St. Louis Cardinals, evening up the series for the city championship.

The Cardinals teed off on Rookie Marvin Breuer, up from Kansas City, for six runs in the first inning, three on a home run by Johnny Mize. New York's hits were singles by Joe Gallagher in the first and Babe Dahlgren in the seventh.

PLANERTS UPSET C. Y. O. IN HOCKY TOURNEY, 3 TO 1

The Planerts handed the C. Y. O. Shamrocks a surprise defeat, 3 to 1, in the Illinois senior amateur hocky championship tournament yesterday afternoon in the Arena.

The Shamrocks, the defending champions, got a goal after seventeen minutes of play. At this stage it seemed that they would go into the final round without much trouble, but the Planerts pressed and their efforts were rewarded in the eighteenth minute of the first period when Steve Kormylo scored on a double pass from Les Topshee and Frank Karger.

The goal that assured the Planerts a place in the finals next Sunday came in the sixth minute of the second period, Spence Crane scoring on a pass from Charley March.

With less than five minutes remaining in the final period, John Foreman broke away and passed to Murn Howard for the final score.

The Pepsi-Colas defeated the Hornets in an overtime game, 1 to 0, and won the right to meet the Planerts Sunday. In the ninth minute of overtime, George Brass of the Pepsi-Colas broke away, passing to Jeff Dorffi. The latter fired a long angle shot which Jock Riddell saved, but the puck glanced off his pads into the net for the only score of the game.

Golden Gloves in New York Reach Finals

Detroit, Kansas City, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, and Cleveland—are represented in the list of eight 1939 Golden Gloves champions.

These eight boys will meet New York's champions. Eight other bouts complete the intercity program March 29. New York's squad of at least thirty-two boxers will start training immediately for the intercity tournament. They will leave for Chicago March 24 and will complete their preparations in the Medinah Athletic club.

Speary Is Back.

William Speary of Philadelphia, a member of the championship team sent here by the Philadelphia Inquirer, is an outstanding favorite in the group of sixteen bantamweights. Bill twice won the National A. A. U. title and he has won two intercity Golden Gloves titles. In 1937 he defeated Jimmy Urso of Detroit, in Chicago, and last year he whipped Capt. Frankie Kainrath of Chicago's Catholic Youth Organization. He fought as a 112 pounder in 1937 and advanced to the 118 pound class last year.

Manhattan is more enthused over Harlem's latest heavyweight star, Buddy Moore. Writers have referred to him as a second Joe Louis, and if Moore only approaches Louis in ability he must be good. Moore is a two fisted puncher who packs a knockout punch. In this respect he matches Tony Novak of Kansas City, who won Chicago's heavyweight title last Friday by whipping John Washington of Wilberforce university in the semifinals, and then knocking out Mike Zampini of Cleveland in the championship round.

Novak is worthy successor to such knockout artists as Lem Franklin of Cleveland, Lorenzo Pack of Detroit, and John Pacek and Max Marek of Chicago. Moore's opponents tomorrow include Cowboy Coleman Jones of Richmond, Va.; John Jares, Newburgh, N. Y.; Vince Pellegreni, Westchester county, N. Y.; Bernie Greene, Montclair, N. J.; Don Davis, Miami, Fla.; Jim Dechard, Washington, D. C.; Emery Brookly, Fort Benning, Ga., and Joe Golombeck, Portsmouth, Va.

Philadelphia won five of the eight New York titles last year and consequently is favorite again in the battle for team honors. A capacity throng of nearly 19,000 saw New York's own metropolitan championships last Monday night. Another sellout is predicted for the finals Tuesday night.

CHICAGOANS OPEN DRILL

Chicago's intercity Golden Gloves squad of 32 boxers will gather in the Illinois Athletic club today to begin training for the bouts with New York in the Stadium March 29.

The fighters will be drilled by Head Coach Johnny Behr and his assistants, Paddy Kane, Izzy Kline, and Fred Caserio. For two weeks the boys will go through a rigorous routine including road work in Grant park and sparring in the I. A. C. gymnasium.

The squad includes the eight boys who won Golden Gloves championships in last Friday night's finals, together with 24 others selected on the basis of their performance in the tournament. At the end of the training period, the coaches will select the team of sixteen which will fight New York.

This loveliness, enthralled, before 'tis swept away.
Leave my mind's eye free to seek and capture

I'll take for my own the sun and the flowers.
Thief would I be, unrepentant of crime—
'Tis an attainment rare—a theft out of Time.

California and Louisiana Fives A.A.U. Victors

Denver, Colo., March 12.—(AP)—Basketball teams from sections as far apart as Louisiana and California scored first round triumphs as the National A. A. U. tournament opened today.

Salina, Kas., and the St. Louis Underwoods played the outstanding contest of the afternoon before the Kansans rallied in the second half to win, 50 to 47.

The Oakland, Cal., Golden States, with such experienced veterans as Melvin Miller, Bob Weir, and Bill Wheatley, defeated Wichita, Kas., 37 to 21. Teams from Wyoming, Montana, Louisiana, and Colorado triumphed in earlier contests.

The National Business College of Roanoke, Va., the Minneapolis Young Americans, and the experienced Colorado Springs Antlers won in the night session. The Roanoke team, Virginia A. A. U. champion the last two years, routed Regis College of Denver, 52 to 44. Minneapolis had a terrific battle all the way with the Denver Furniture team before triumphing, 39 to 36. Scores:

N. U. Calls Out Its Football Forces Today

Spring football practice will open at Northwestern university today when forty freshmen players and others without varsity experience report to Coach Lynn Waldorf. The newcomers will work out for a week before the upper classmen report.

Coach Waldorf's plans call for five weeks of drill which will be concluded with a game between two picked squads. A number of varsity letter men will not be available for practice because of participation in other sports. Among those competing in track are Jack Ryan, Dick Richards, John Haman, and Jim Smith. John Goldak, Nick Conteas, and Erwin Madsen are out for baseball.

The coaching staf is awaiting with interest the performances of the freshmen who will be called upon to fill vacancies on next fall's team. "We do not have much opportunity in the fall to watch the freshmen," Coach Waldorf said. "For that reason we have asked them to report a week early in order to receive advance instruction."

The freshman squad is expected to produce a number of candidates who will be contenders for varsity positions. Among the newcomers are Sonny Skor, Chicago, quarter back; Bill De Correvont and Don Kruger, Chicago; Dick Erdlitz, Oshkosh, Wis., and Ira Kepford, Muskegon, Mich., half backs; Don Clawson, Kankakee, full back; Don Johnson, Chicago, center; Al Bauman, Chicago; Fred Dahlkamp, Calumet City, and Dave Ringwalt, Oakley, Kas., tackles; Merrill Heagy, Aurora, and Charles Feingarten, Chicago, guards.

M'HUGH INSISTS BORICAN BEAT GUN IN RECORD RACE

1,000 Yd. Mark May Not Be Recognized.

New York, March 12.—(AP)—A track controversy raged today over John Borican's 1,000 yards last night in 2:08.8, the fastest time ever run by man at the distance but one which probably never will enter the record books.

The debate threatened to obscure other features of the night's indoor competition. These were:

[1] Glenn Cunningham's double defeat, by Borican in the 1,000 and by Chuck Fenske and two others in the Columbian mile in the K. of C. meet in Madison Square Garden.

[2] Michigan's extension of its Big Ten supremacy with 41½ points at Chicago for its sixth straight championship. It may be the last. Chuck Hoyt, the coach, is on his way to Yale.

Munski Claims Record.

[3] The mile run by Missouri's John Munski [4:13.5] at Baltimore, claimed a world record for a flat track.

[4] The return to action in the central intercollegiate conference meet at Notre Dame of John Woodruff of Pittsburgh, the premiere half miler of the day.

[5] Don Lash's 9:02.4 in the two mile at the K. of C. games, indicating he is in shape to better the world record at Dartmouth Wednesday night. It was the fastest two miles of the year.

The turmoil and the shouting over Borican's 1,000 temporarily blacks out these. There are two points argued. One is that Borican beat the gun. To this Johnny McHugh, the veteran starter, agrees. Why McHugh didn't call the field back he does not know. He has been starting races for thirty years and knew he was wrong—and admitted it.

To be forwarded to the higher courts a record must be certified by the starter. When the time, which bettered Cunningham's 2:10.1, the old indoor mark, and Elroy Robinson's 2:09.7, the outdoor mark, was announced McHugh shook his head. On the record blank he crossed out a line and wrote, "I hereby certify I was the starter . . . and that it was a false start [Borican, the winner, beat the gun by a yard]."

Borican Denies All.

McHugh will be censured for not calling back the field with a second shot from his gun. The ironical part of it is, Borican did not need to beat the gun, if indeed he did. He would have broken the record, anyhow.

Borican, who runs for the Shore A. C. of Elberon, N. J., doesn't think he beat it. "Why should I?" he asked. "I was running 1,000, not 100 yards. I think I got a good start, that's all."

The second point argued is that Cunningham might have beaten Borican had not the Negro swerved out twice during the running of the race and apparently prevented the Kansan from passing him.

FOR THE 1 MAN IN 7 WHO SHAVES EVERY DAY
A SPECIAL SHAVE CREAM
IT'S NOT A SOAP
NEEDS NO SHAVING BRUSH
Not Greasy . . . Leaves Skin Soft

Daily shaving leaves many men's faces raw and sensitive. This is especially true of the man who, because of his business and social status, must shave every day.

To meet this condition, Williams has now developed a special cream for daily shavers. It's called Glider. With no soap base, it's a complete departure from ordinary shave creams. After washing face thoroughly with soap and warm water to remove razor-dulling grit, spread on Glider quickly and easily with your fingers. No brush. No lather. Not sticky or greasy.

A superabundance of moisture is contained in this rich, smooth cream. It softens each whisker right down to the skin, yet forms a protective layer over your face to keep blade from scraping. Swiftly and gently your razor glides over your skin without tearing or irritating. Like a cold cream, Glider helps smooth and soften your skin and prevent chapping and roughness. Glider is the result of nearly 100 years' experience in making fine shaving preparations.

FEDERAL HOUSING TENANTS CALLED POLITICAL PAWNS

Forum Speaker Says U.S. Condones Rackets.

When the government becomes the landlord the tenant becomes a political football, Herbert Nelson, vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said yesterday. He spoke at a forum meeting on housing in Thorne hall, on the Chicago campus of Northwestern university.

Allen Williams, secretary of the Illinois state housing board, took issue with this view. He defended federal activities in the housing field.

Rackets Condoned, Says Nelson.

Nelson asserted that government housing is more costly than private housing because the government pays without question top prices for everything needed in constructing its projects. He said that by doing this the government recognizes and condones rackets and collusions which boost prices in the building industry.

Nelson said that other evils of government housing are unsound financing, poor planning of projects, and a tendency to create huge apartment buildings which have developed a type of institutionalized family.

He advocated the spending of public money on the demolition of slum areas and reassembling the land therein for building purposes. He said that private companies, however, should be organized to do the actual building. These companies might be federally supervised, but they should not be under the direct control of Washington, he said.

Projects Called Experiments.

Williams said the projects which have been completed are experiments to show what can be done toward providing decent homes for lower class workers. He said that at present the experiments are along the line of public ownership and operation but that there is no reason to believe that future government activity in the field will be along this line.

D. E. Mackelmann, executive director of the Metropolitan Housing council, said that there are forty or fifty square miles in Chicago which may be considered as blighted areas. He said that more than 35,000 of the city's families are living in overcrowded quarters and that 65,000 families have no private toilet facilities.

BRITISH SOLDIERS AND 24 PLANES FIGHT ARAB BAND

JERUSALEM, March 12.—(AP)—A battle raged today between British forces and an Arab band near Zemal in neighboring Trans-Jordan.

Forty-five casualties were counted among the Arabs. They were reported to have entered Trans-Jordan several days ago from Syria, which borders the state on the north. Aiding the British ground forces were twenty-four air force planes, including heavy bombers.

Lieut. Col. J. Chrystall, commander of the Trans-Jordan frontier force, directed the British operations from a plane. He had a narrow escape when ten bullets struck his craft. His pilot was wounded, but brought the plane down without mishap.

FRENCH GUARDS TURN BACK JEWS WHO FLEE ITALY

Many Exiles Feared Lost in Alps.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NICE, France, March 12.—Several hundred Jews who attempted today to escape from Italy following expiration of the time limit set by the Italian government's expulsion order were turned back at the frontier by French police and frontier guards.

According to the terms laid down by the Italian government, all Jews less than 65 years of age who entered the country after 1919 must leave, unless married to Italian subjects. From tomorrow on, those remaining will be subject to imprisonment and heavy fines.

Establish Temporary Posts.

To stop the expected last minute rush of refugees over the border regular French frontier guards were reënforced by mobile police. Several temporary frontier posts were established.

Late Saturday night French authorities learned that 300 Jews in groups of twenty and thirty, headed by Italian mountain guides, left San Remo for unguarded points. Some managed to get through, but the great majority were turned back at the border. Those who slipped through will be held in the Riviera region until the French decide what to do with them.

Many Believed Lost.

Many, especially women and children, suffered from exposure in the Alpine passes. Most of the Jews paid their last money to the Italian guides who took them to the mountain passes and left them to make their own way over the dangerous back roads to France. Many among those who took the risk were believed lost while wandering half starved in the snowy Alps.

A civilian committee, which is functioning by private donations, is feeding 250 refugees a day in Nice, but the funds are running out. French officials estimate that about 5,000 Jews still are on the Italian side of the border waiting for a chance to slip across at some unguarded point.

ERRANT MOTHER ALLOWED TO KEEP HER 2 CHILDREN

Los Angeles, Cal., March 12.—[Special.]—A divorced wife's confession of an illicit love affair is no reason for depriving her of the custody of her children when the affair was not carried on in her home nor in the presence of the children.

This ruling was announced today by Judge George A. Dockweiler in the case of Mrs. Arline L. Herbert, who was divorced two years ago by Frederick Hugh Herbert, novelist. In the present action he demanded that the children be taken from the mother because of her misconduct with John Cohoe.

Judge Dockweiler ruled that the children—Diana, 10 years old, and Pamela, 8—shall continue to live with Mrs. Herbert and that Herbert, who is remarried, may take them to his home for week-ends and during school vacation periods, as provided in the original agreement. Judge Dockweiler, however, admonished Mrs. Herbert to mend her ways to some extent so that she will not lose the respect of her children.

GANDHI WINS NEW VICTORY IN VOTE OF INDIAN PARTY

BOMBAY, India, March 12.—(AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi gained another victory today when the all India Congress, meeting at Tripuri, passed overwhelmingly a motion of no confidence in the Congress party president, Subhas Chandra Bose, whom Gandhi is opposing.

Meanwhile the frail leader of India's millions scored on another front when British authorities ordered the rajah of Dhenkanal, whom Gandhi charged with oppression, to take a year's holiday. A British official was designated to straighten out the affairs of the rajah's state, from which hundreds of subjects fled.

This action followed closely Gandhi's success in winning a promise of reforms in the state of Rajkot through a four day fast.

U. S. STEEL HEAD CALLS OUTLOOK BETTER FOR '39

Recent Upturn Cited by Stettinius.

Conditions in the iron and steel industry are improving, Edward R. Stettinius Jr., chairman of the United States Steel corporation, said in an annual report to stockholders yesterday.

Edward R. Stettinius Jr.

After surveying results for 1938, which, he said, "takes rank as one of the major depression years in the steel industry during the last two decades," Stettinius asserted:

"It is gratifying to observe that conditions in the industry indicate an improving tendency. During the first two months of 1939 orders for steel products, as well as production and shipments, have shown some improvement over the December average, and were substantially better than during the corresponding period in 1938."

Production Lower in 1938.

Production of rolled and finished steel products for sale amounted to 6,562,948 tons in 1938, a decline of 48.6 per cent from the 1937 level, he said, asserting:

"Only in the three more recent depression years of 1932, 1933, and 1934 was the production of subsidiary manufacturing companies lower than in 1938, and except for these three years the 1938 volume was lower than in any year since 1908."

This was Stettinius' first annual report as chairman of the corporation.

"Big Steel's" revised net loss for 1938 was shown at $7,717,454, or slightly larger than preliminary reports had indicated. This compared with 1937 net profit of $94,944,358, or $8.01 a share. Last year's loss, however, was described as "less than might reasonably have been expected."

Tax Bill Is Analyzed.

The corporation's tax bill decreased $39,206,106 for the year, but this resulted from lower earnings and actually constituted a "somewhat greater burden per unit of output and gross income" than in 1937, the report said.

Average production of rolled and finished steel products for sale in 1938 was only 36.2 per cent of capacity, compared with 71.2 per cent in 1937. Stettinius added:

"The full significance of this sharply reduced level of industrial activity becomes more apparent by a comparison with the corporation's average annual production in the five year period from 1926 to 1930 inclusive, which shows that the 1938 production dropped approximately 7,000,000 tons below the five year average referred to. This represents a tonnage shrinkage for 1938 of nearly 52 per cent."

Hopes for Better Demand.

The report referred only briefly to the year's price cuts to meet competitive conditions—"with the hope that such reductions would stimulate a demand for steel products."

Inventories during the year decreased 7 per cent to $307,479,018 at the year end. Satisfactory absorption of the carryover accumulations of stocks caused by the sudden recession in 1937 was effected despite curtailed operations, it was said.

Employment picked up toward the year-end, the report said, and employé relations continued satisfactory.

The company's program of plant modernization has been substantially carried out, the report said. Gross property expenditures incurred on capital account for the year totaled $70,782,544; unexpended balances at the beginning of the year for work approved and in progress totaled about $22,000,000.

STEEL SCRAP PRICES FIRM

The effect of improved steel demand has been apparent in firmer scrap markets, but ingot production has been influenced only slightly, the trade journal Steel asserted yesterday in its weekly review.

Scrap prices were stronger last week in most sections. Steel's scrap composite price was steady at $14.96 a ton.

The industry's ingot operating rate last week rose only 0.5 point to 56.5 per cent of mill capacity, Steel said. Last year at this time the output was at 30 per cent.

Seasonal awakening of activity in steel consuming industries presents a prospect of continued improvement in operations, the journal said.

Spring track repairs on railroads will start with the coming of dry weather. Demand for tin plate from canneries has increased slightly. Farm equipment makers have expanded operations moderately.

SEC in Review: Trade Finds It Good, Also Bad

Cordial relations exist between Chairman Douglas and President Martin. Stock brokers and bond men generally like the hard hitting, practical minded Douglas better than his predecessor, the unpredictable and radical James M. Landis, now dean of Harvard law school.

Step in Right Direction.

Easing of the short selling rules of the commission last week is regarded as a step in the right direction.

While the stock exchange conferees here this week will discuss the hamstringing provisions of the SEC statutes in technical detail, their concern in general will be to offer modifications which will permit a freer and easier flow of capital.

The borrowing of new money—that is, capital to be used for expansion, as distinguished from refunding issues—is shrinking so far this year over comparable periods in 1938. In February of this year 15 million dollars in new money was raised and in January only 5½ million. This contrasted with 45 millions in January and 42 millions in February of last year.

A table showing how new capital issues have dwindled follows:

Year.	*Domestic corporate capital issues [excl. refunding].
1926	$3,754,000,000
1927	4,657,000,000

Investment bankers are viewing another tendency in the capital market through jaundiced eyes. That is the increasing volume of private placements.

By selling an issue directly to an insurance company, a corporation can duck the costly registration mill at the SEC because the paper is not being offered to the public. By so doing, the corporation not only ducks the SEC but dodges the underwriter as well.

During 1938, more than 650 million dollars in corporate securities, comprising more than 100 separate issues—nearly a third of the volume of new money raised during the year—were sold privately or semi-privately. This compares with 450 millions the previous year.

Created to Halt Frauds.

Spawned by the depression, the inception of the SEC was the securities act of 1933, which declared its purpose "to provide full and fair disclosure of the character of securities sold in interstate and foreign commerce and through the mails, and to prevent frauds in the sale thereof . . ."

Under this act, which was administered by the federal trade commission for a year, the issuer of a security to be sold to the public has to file a registration statement with the SEC. The information required is voluminous and costs a great deal to prepare. In addition, the issuer must furnish the purchaser with a prospectus which in large measure duplicates the information contained in the registration statement.

There are many liabilities and heavy penalties attached to the act, some of which the financial community believes places unnecessary restraints on legitimate business.

Police Powers Voted.

One section provides that the purchaser of a stock may sue if the registration statement omitted essential information.

The securities exchange act was passed in 1934. This was for the policing of the stock exchanges and twenty-two of them have registered.

In 1935 came the utility holding company "death sentence" clause which gave the commission a club over the utility companies and subsequently the commission obtained legislation permitting it to intervene in certain corporate reorganizations.

[This is the first of a series of stories on the SEC by Mr. Fulton.]

Standard Oil to Increase Prices to Normal Basis

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana announced yesterday it will increase subnormal prices on some products, effective Thursday. It will advance by one-half cent a gallon all subnormal prices to dealers and all subnormal tank wagon prices to consumers on all grades of motor gasoline, kerosene, tractor fuel, and furnace oil in Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri (except St. Louis county), Kansas, North Dakota, and South Dakota. Where prices are less than one-half a cent below normal, the advance will be whatever is necessary to put them on a normal basis.

SLOAN'S 'ABUNDANCE' FORMULA: BUY BETTER TOOLS, REDUCE COSTS

New York, March 12.—(AP)—Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the General Motors corporation, presented today a formula for an "economy of abundance." He urged more investment in better tools to make new and useful things at lower cost for sale at lower prices.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr.

America's production plants, he told shareholders in a message, has become "largely obsolete" as a result of subnormal output of new equipment in recent years.

Even ignoring the accumulated deficit in producers' goods, Sloan contended, a return to normal in the heavy tool making industries would provide "billions of dollars" of productivity and absorb a large part of the unemployed.

"The probabilities of such an extensive recovery," he added, "depend upon the attitude of mind of the constructive forces of the country toward the possibilities of profit and the safety of the capital employed. They depend to a large degree upon the attitude of government as evidenced by its national economic policies, affecting as they do industry's opportunity to perform."

WAIVE RULES SO CRUISERS CAN BE PRIVATELY BUILT

Washington, D. C., March 12.—[Special.]—The navy department said it will waive this week the clause in the law which provides that naval construction contracts shall be awarded on a fifty-fifty basis, half to naval and half to privately owned yards. The action was decided upon because the navy yards are jammed with construction of combatant ships.

Congress left a loophole in the law which gives the President authority under certain conditions to disregard the fifty-fifty provision.

The navy department called for bids on Jan. 26 for construction of four light cruisers of a new type. It was found that time and money would be saved if contracts for all four ships were awarded to private yards.

Milwaukee Road to Mark 55 Years on One Mail Run

The Milwaukee railroad today will celebrate fifty-five years of continuous service as official line for carrying United States mail between Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis. The first train carrying mail on the run set out on the trip at 2 a. m., March 13, 1884.

NET OF UNITED AIRCRAFT IN '38 SETS A RECORD

Year's Earnings Up to $5,426,275.

The United Aircraft corporation, one of the leading aeronautical manufacturing enterprises in the United States, reported yesterday that its 1938 profit reached the highest level in the history of the company.

L. N. Selig, who reports his company has entered aviation field.

The annual report showed consolidated net earnings were $5,426,275, equal to $2.12 a share, topping the former peak, set in 1937, of $3,856,272, or $1.52 a share. Indicated earnings for the fourth quarter of 1938 were $1,861,870, against $1,135,574 in the last three months of 1937.

Year-end unfilled orders were down to $17,463,968 compared with $23,810,231 at the close of 1937.

Donald L. Brown, president, got $57,490 remuneration last year, it was disclosed in a notice of the annual shareholders' meeting, March 28, accompanying the report.

Transport Firm Earns Less.

General American Transportation corporation, Chicago, reported consolidated net income of $3,004,899 for 1938, compared with $4,542,656 in 1937. The company makes freight cars and furnishes railroad rolling stock and storage facilities for transportation and storage of food. In addition, the report said, the company recently further diversified its activity by acquiring controling interest in an airplane manufacturing company.

In the company's annual report Lester N. Selig, president, said there was practically no freight car buying on the part of railroads last year. However, he said, rolling stock leasing operations and the tank storage and terminal business "continued consistently successful."

The annual report of the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary corporation for 1938 showed a consolidated net loss of $424,076. For 1937 the company reported a net income of $7,205,511.

Utility Earns More.

The Central Illinois Public Service company reported 1938 net income of $1,661,714, compared with $1,518,687 in 1937. The 1938 income was equal to $5.84 a share of outstanding preferred stock, compared with $5.33 in 1937.

New York Central's Loss for January Is $735,529

Grain Trading Dull; Argentine Plans Awaited

The wheat and corn markets are almost at a standstill, and speculators have practically withdrawn to wait until the trading situation clears up. The oldest members of the grain trade say they cannot remember a time in the past when the markets were so dull.

One of the chief influences in the wheat market is the uncertainty surrounding Argentina's future marketing policy. Some brokers believe it is simply a question of a short time until Argentina will have to dump a large amount of grain in European markets to make storage room for additional wheat. The necessity of finding storage room for the new corn harvest, which is near, complicates Argentina's problems.

Subsidies Lower Export Prices.

American, Canadian, Argentine, and Australian wheat is being sold in Liverpool and in European continental markets now at a lower price than prevails in the selling countries. Export subsidy programs make this possible.

The stalemate in the corn market is caused to a large extent by the fact that farmers who are eligible for federal loans can pledge their grain at 57 cents a bushel. This is materially above the open market price.

Grains Lower Last Week.

Grain prices averaged somewhat lower last week. March wheat in Liverpool came within about 1 penny per 100 pounds of equaling the all time record low in the English market.

The range of prices last week on the Chicago Board of Trade, with comparisons, follows:

Investors' Guide

Monday, March 13, 1939.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

FIRST OF NEW YORK.

Investors' Guide: I saw in your column the other day that the First National Bank of New York pays yearly dividends of $100 a share on its stock. Has it paid this rate very long? A banker friend of mine told me that this is a very unusual bank specializing in big deals. He said its overhead costs are relatively small. I am thinking of buying one share, but first want to see your report on the bank.—M. H. D.

Answer: The First National Bank of New York is indeed an unusual bank. With a staf of only 196 employés and 14 officers, the bank last year ranked fifth in profits among the nation's banks. Total income amounted to $14,624,000, of which only $1,452,000 went for operating expenses. Net income was $10,865,000 or $108.65 a share.

This bank carries on a general banking business, but deals almost entirely with wealthier corporations and individuals. It was founded in 1863 and had a capital then of $200,000. Its capital is now $10,000,000, represented by 100,000 shares, and surplus is $100,000,000.

Net income was equal to $112 a share in 1937, $114 in 1936, and $114 in 1935. Substantial writedowns and dividend payments ate away more than $40,000,000 from surplus and undivided profits during the depression, but the regular dividend rate of $100 a share has been maintained from 1932 to the present.

The stock is now selling for a little more than $1,700 a share. it is high grade—as well as high priced.

WHAT ABOUT GIFT TAXES?

Investors' Guide: I am confused about gift taxes. Are they levied by the state or federal government, or both? Who pays them, the giver, the receiver, or both? When are they due? What are the rates? It's all very vague to me so I hope you can give me a lift.—R. M.

Answer: Gift taxes are levied by the federal government. They are also levied by some states, including Wisconsin, but are not levied by Illinois, Nebraska, Indiana, Iowa or Michigan.

The federal gift tax is paid by the giver, not the receiver. It is computed on the fair market value of the property at the time of the gift.

Present gift tax laws provide:

A tax on each gift of more than $4,000, except that a specific exemption of $40,000 may be taken. This exemption may be spread over a period of years, but after it is used up no further exemption is allowed.

Payment of the tax must be made by March 15 of the year following the gift.

Rates on "net gifts"—gifts after exemptions—range from 1.5 per cent on a $10,000 net gift to 52.5 per cent on net gifts of more than $50,000,000.

RESERVE BOARD FIGHTS MOVE TO MANAGE PRICES

Declares Scheme Will Not Work.

Washington, D. C., March 12.—(AP)—The federal reserve board advised congress today that it disapproves legislative proposals which would empower the board to manage price levels through control of the volume of money and credit.

The board expressed its views in a statement given to the press and sent to congressional committees considering price management bills.

Senator Thomas [D., Okla.] has introduced a bill to give the reserve board power to act as a monetary authority to return prices to the 1926 level. Similar legislation has been proposed by Senator Logan [D., Ky.]. The board, however, did not specifically mention these bills.

Warns Against Attempt.

"The board believes that an order by congress to the board or to any other agency of congress to bring about and maintain a given average of prices would not assist but would hinder efforts to stabilize business conditions," the board said.

Declaring itself "in sympathy" with the desire to prevent booms and depressions, the board said:

"Experience has shown, however, that [1] prices cannot be controled by changes in the amount and cost of money; [2] the board's control of the amount of money is not complete and cannot be made complete; [3] a steady average of prices does not necessarily result in lasting prosperity; and [4] a steady level of average prices is not nearly as important to the people as a fair relationship between the prices of the commodities which they produce and buy."

Stresses Rôle of Checks.

In explaining "why the amount of currency does not control prices," the board said currency is "the small change of business." It said more than nine-tenths of the bills in this country are paid by check.

"Whether prices and the volume of money do or do not move together depends on many other conditions, such as weather and the size of harvests, inventions, foreign trade, government spending, taxes, wages, and the general attitude of business," the board added.

New York Central to Add 81 Air Conditioned Cars

In expectation that trafic to and from the New York World Fair will be heavy, the New York Central railroad is preparing to put fifty additional coaches and thirty-one diners into service, L. W. Landman, general passenger trafic manager, announced yesterday. The eighty-one cars have been newly air conditioned.
